LEWIS' VICTORY MOUNTS ABOVE 720,000 MARK

Blair Tops Democrat in State Race.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Illinois' Democratic landslide on the issue of prohibition and "Hoover prosperity" grew yesterday as incoming figures on the senatorship pushed the plurality of James Hamilton Lewis over Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican, above the 720,000 mark.

One apparent Republican survivor of the earthquake appeared in the person of Francis G. Blair, who took a lead over Mrs. Eva B. Batterton, his Democratic opponent for superintendent of public instruction. When 5,924 precincts out of 7,109 in Illinois were in Mr. Blair, who has held the position for a quarter of a century, had a lead of about 22,000.

Blair Leading Downstate.

In Cook county, with 29 precincts missing, the vote stood: Blair, 453,-362; Batterton, 508,807. The Batterton majority in Cook was 55,545.

Downstate 2,493 precincts out of 2,529 gave Blair 375,651, Batterton 281,035. It is a downstate lead for Blair of 77,626, or a net lead in the territory reporting of some 22,000.

For state treasurer, Clarence F. Buck, Republican, reduced the indicated plurality of his Democratic opponent, Edward J. Barrett, but Barrett still has a lead of 117,758. If the present ratio is kept up, it would give Barrett an indicated plurality in Illinois of 165,000.

In Cook county, with 39 precincts missing, Barrett has a plurality of [illegible] the vote standing: Barrett, [illegible] Buck, 411,162.

Barrett Victor by 165,000.

Downstate in 2,741 precincts out of 2,800 the vote stands: Barrett, 345,-[illegible]; Buck, 339,341. The projected vote on the basis of these returns would give a final indicated tally of Barrett, 1,050,000; Buck, 931,000; provided the present rate is maintained.

On university trustees, George A. Barr, Republican, is only 24,000 votes behind M. C. Zacharias, Democrat, with more than 2,000 precincts still to hear from. The vote in 4,975 precincts out of 7,109 in Illinois is Barr, 618,703; Zacharias, 663,444. In the April primaries Zacharias, who was the Democratic organization candidate for state treasurer, was defeated by Mr. Barrett, the political novice who tossed in his hat on a chance and broke the slate.

Figures on Senatorship.

The latest figures on the senatorship show that Lewis carried Chicago by 53,943 and the country towns of Cook county by 56,672, giving him Cook county by 464,715. The vote stands:

	Cook Chicago.	Towns.	county.	Total.
Lewis	650,086	165,588	750,574
McCormick	540,943	49,216	290,159

With 3,177 downstate precincts out of 3,229 tabulated and 29 missing in Cook, the figures stand:

	McCor- Lewis.	mick.	O'Neill.	Totals.
Illinois	571,077	377,487	49,838	958,402
Cook	786,874	290,159	23,485	1,070,518
Totals	1,357,951	667,646	73,323	2,028,920

Mr. Lewis has a plurality of 700,305 in the bag now. If the present rate keeps up it would give him Illinois by more than 720,000.

As the fuller returns came in they served to throw into still higher relief the view of the politicians that in the closing weeks the contest evolved out of a mere battle between Mr. Lewis and Mrs. McCormick into a popular manifestation against prohibition, the Hoover administration, unemployment, business conditions and the general hard times phase.

47 Wards Go to Lewis.

In Chicago the complete ward tables show Mr. Lewis carried forty-seven wards out of fifty. Mrs. McCormick carried the Second, Third, and Fourth with a vote indicating that the efforts of Mayor Thompson to swing the negro vote against her proved negligible in result.

Downstate the incoming figures served to increase the Democratic margin in traditional Republican territory, where the liquor issue and the Hoover administration were emphasized in the platform activities of both sides.

Lewis Ahead in 85 Counties.

The county tabulations, still incomplete, show Mr. Lewis leading in 85 downstate counties and Mrs. McCormick in 18.

With the Democratic landslide interpreted a wet vote on the referendum in many sections, industrial centers, where "Hoover prosperity" and national prohibition had been hammered home in the campaign, went wet and continued on page 8, column 5.)

MAJORITIES CUT TO ZERO MARK IN BOTH BRANCHES

Wets Gain 70 Seats in House.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

The latest advices of the casualties of the Democratic landslide in the national election on Tuesday disclose the control of the Seventy-second congress hanging by a hair.

Not until the returns are complete in Minnesota, where Einar Holdale, Democrat, has a lead of only 6,000 over Senator Thomas D. Schall, Republican, will it be determined whether the Republicans or the Democrats are to have one more seat than the other in the senate.

If Holdale wins there will be 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans, and 1 Farmer-Labor members. If Schall wins there will be 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats, and 1 Farmer-Labor member.

House Control in Doubt.

Control of the house is in doubt, though on the basis of the incomplete returns the Republicans appear to have two more seats than the Democrats. The lineup of the parties in the house, unless overturned by the complete returns, will be:

Republicans	218
Democrats	216
Farmer-Labor	1

Still in doubt is the outcome of the contest for representative at large in Illinois between Richard Yates, Republican, and Walter Nesbit, Democrat. Incomplete returns disclosed James V. Heidinger, Republican, and Claude V. Parsons, Democrat, only a few votes apart in the Twenty-fourth Illinois district. Also in doubt is the fate of Representative Katherine Langley [Rep., Ky.]. The Louisville Courier Journal asserts she has been defeated.

House Wets Gain 70 Votes.

With five new wet senators elected and a gain of 70 wet votes in the house recorded, the impetus given the movement for repeal of the eighteenth amendment has attracted universal attention as one of the most significant results of the election. It has caused the anti-prohibitionist leaders to assert that nothing now can stop the eventual repeal of national prohibition.

With the gain achieved on Tuesday as a starter, the wets are now squaring away for a stupendous effort to elect an administration and a congress in 1932 committed to prohibition repeal. In the meantime they will press for a modification of the Volstead act by congress to permit light wines and beer.

"Leaky Trunks" Packed Off.

One of the interesting prohibition sidelights of the election was the retirement to private life of all the dry "leaky trunk" congressmen. Representative M. A. Michaelson [Rep., Ill.], whose trunk leaked liquor when he and his party returned from the West Indies through Key West, was defeated for renomination. Representative Edward E. Denison [Rep., Ill.], a trunk in whose office was found oozing liquor, was defeated for reelection Tuesday. William M. Morgan [Rep., O.], who was accused by customs officers of smuggling liquor into New York but exonerated by a grand jury, was defeated for reelection. Denison and Morgan were favorites of the Anti-Saloon league. Michaelson once had the league indorsement, but he backslid.

Democratic leaders interpreted the results of the election as a vote of want of confidence in President Hoover and an omen of the election of a Democratic President in 1932. Republican leaders expressed the view that the Democratic landslide was the result of discontent due to hard times and unemployment and that with the return of prosperity, which they look for within the next year, the pendulum will swing the other way and the G. O. P. will have no difficulty in carrying the 1932 elections.

A Tangle in the Senate.

Whether the Republicans or the Democrats will be able to organize the senate will depend upon the attitude of Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, the Farmer-Labor member, who will hold the balance of power in the senate of the Seventy-second as he did in the Seventieth congress.

If Senator Shipstead should line up with the Democrats they would have 49 votes to the Republicans' 47, and would be enabled to elect the president pro tempore and other officers of the senate and organize its commit-

O. G. WILLIAMS KILLED IN OHIO AUTO ACCIDENT

Word was received here last night that Orva G. Williams, formerly active in Chicago Democratic politics, had been killed in an automobile accident near Cleveland. Details were lacking.

O. G. WILLIAMS. [Moffett Photo.]

Mr. Williams, who made his home at the Hyde Park hotel, had been visiting relatives in Akron. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Josephine Williams; two daughters, Mrs. V. E. Adland of Oak Park and Miss Elsie Williams of Terre Haute, and a son, Orva G. Williams Jr.

Mr. Williams, who was 65 years old, was the founder and first president of the Ohio Society of Chicago, a former president of the Iroquois club, and a member of the Executives' club.

Whitney Will Disposes of 200 Million

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—The estate of Harry Payne Whitney, sportsman, multimillionaire, and patron of the arts, will be divided among his widow, his children, other members of the family, and employés, according to the terms of a will filed with the surrogate of New York county this afternoon, by Frank L. Crocker, one of the executors.

The will fails to specify the value of the estate, but it has been estimated at approximately 200 million.

Although there were no specific bequests to charity, Mr. Whitney, in one of the provisions of his will, requested his wife and children to continue the support he gave to public institutions and other projects during his lifetime.

Home Given to Widow.

The Whitney home at 871 5th avenue, according to the terms of the will, becomes the property of Mrs. Whitney, with the provision that upon her death it will be demolished and the property sold.

Among the bequests are the following:

To Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, a son, $2,000,000.

To Mrs. G. MacCulloch Miller, a daughter, $1,000,000.

To G. MacCulloch Miller, a son-in-law, $500,000.

To Barklie McKee Henry, a son-in-law, $500,000.

Mrs. Whitney, according to the terms of the will, will receive all the real estate and personal effects, including jewelry. The real estate, in addition to the 5th avenue home, includes the Whitney estate at Old Westbury, L. I.

No specification is made in the will of Mr. Whitney's racing horses, which would, presumably, come under the classification of personal property. It is assumed these, too, go to Mrs. Whitney.

The residuary estate, after various bequests to employés, will be divided into four parts. One part will remain under the control of the trustees until Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, a son, becomes the age of 25.

The other three parts will be divided equally among Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Henry during their lifetime, and during the lifetime of the oldest child of each.

The following bequests are made to employés:

Thomas J. Regan, $200,000; James M. Frank, $25,000; Charles Jones, $20,000; Lawrence Fitzpatrick, $10,000; and William Stewart, $10,000.

The will points out that many other faithful employés are not remembered because of the understanding between Mr. Whitney and his wife.

BREAK LEG, WALK NEXT DAY! TELLS HOW IT IS DONE

A plaster cast and supporting iron frame, recently developed by Dr. C. R. G. Forrester, Chicago surgeon, making it possible for a person with a broken leg to walk the day following the setting of the bone, was described yesterday at the joint meeting of the American Association of Railway Surgeons and the Surgical Association of the Chicago and North Western railway at the Hotel Sherman.

After setting the bone, either in the leg or arm, the limb is placed in the cast, and then the new "walking iron" is placed around it. The following day the patient can walk about and even return to his work. The cast is removed four to six weeks later.

Steady Buying, Not 'Hysteria,' Seen as Need

Normal buying as distinguished from the current "buy now" hysteria is the only doctrine which will lead to a revival of steady business, in the opinion of thirty-five important Chicago sectional trade organizations.

Adopting the alternative slogan of "steady buying steadies business," the group conferred yesterday afternoon in the office of Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. It met at Randolph's call and its report to the public consisted of this paragraph of advice:

"Normal buying by those with a steady income will steady business and cut unemployment. Hoarding of idle money does no one any good. Commodity prices are down. The cost of living is less. Normal buying now for normal needs should be the deliberate program of all but the unemployed."

Plan to Speed Campaign.

The steady buying campaign will gain impetus tomorrow or Saturday in a second meeting of the group which will hear, at that time, specific suggestions for promoting spending on the part of those whose incomes have not been impaired by depression.

The statement was the only formal utterance made at the conclusion of the meeting. That there was considerable plain speaking of the heterogeneous ballyhoo proposed by various agencies and individuals in the last few weeks for the promotion of mammoth sales in the Chicago area was not denied.

It was reported that the business men showed ire at the mention of what they termed a "political pageant of progress" which is in the making but has not yet been brought into the light for public consideration.

Plan Could Not Endure.

This plan, according to sources close to the individual promoting it, would use artificial means to stimulate a buying campaign which, of sporadic growth, could endure only as long as rewards were held out to buyers. "It would emphatically not restore normalcy and would serve only to create a false demand," one spokesman for an important retail concern was reported to have told the meeting.

The organizations represented at the meeting are scattered throughout the entire metropolitan area, including neighborhood chambers of commerce, district associations and business men's groups. Craig B. Hazelwood, former president of the American Bankers association and now vice president of the First National bank, was named chairman of the metropolitan district committee which will meet to make plans for the campaign tomorrow or Saturday.

BANDIT GETS 45 CENTS; TRAPPED, KILLS HIMSELF

An unidentified bandit, about 22 years old, early this morning, after being cornered under the steps of a building and facing three police revolvers, turned his pistol on himself and sent a bullet through his heart.

Miss Viola Olson, 18 years old, had awakened in her room at 1035 North Dearborn street to see a man peering through a window. Menacing her with a revolver, the intruder demanded money. Miss Olson screamed but tossed the robber 45 cents, the contents of her handbag. Two other girl lodgers, Edna Ellis, 18, and Helen Olson, 20, attracted by the screams, ran into the room. The robber leaped to the ground and disappeared.

A few moments later three Chicago avenue policemen—John Dodds, Charles Carney, and William Gillespie—spied the robber under the steps of the building. As they approached he threatened to shoot them. They called to him to surrender, but instead he turned his gun on himself. A card in his pocket bore the name "L. Stock, 2014 Silver street, New Albany, Ind." He had the initial "E" upon his belt buckle.

COAL COMPANY OFFICERS DIE WITH WORKERS

Fire Rages in Wake of Explosions.

BULLETIN.

Millfield, O., Nov. 6 (Thursday).—(AP)—E. W. Smith, chief of the mine division of the Ohio department of industrial relations, early today estimated the number of dead in the Millfield mine disaster at 85. Nineteen persons were found alive and 23 bodies brought to the surface, Smith said.

Millfield, O., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Between 85 and 90 persons were killed by gas explosions and fire in the No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company here today. Andrew Ginnan, state mine inspector, said after traversing the entire mine tonight.

Ginnan reported seeing bodies everywhere. He added that there might be a remote possibility that some of the men had taken refuge in side tunnels off the main shaft and escaped death.

Officials Are Victims.

At least eight of a party of officials of the company and their guests are known to be dead, officials said. The known dead are:

W. R. Tytus, Columbia, president of the Sunday Creek Coal company.

P. A. Coen, Columbus, vice president of the company.

H. H. Upson, assistant to Tytus.

H. E. Lancaster, Athens, chief engineer of the mine.

Walter Hayden, Athens, mine superintendent.

Joseph Bergen, Zanesville, superintendent of the Ohio Power company at Philo, O.

Robert Parsons, Zanesville, superintendent of the Columbia Cement company, division of the Pittsburgh Glass company.

Thomas Trainer, official of the glass company.

Four Employés Identified.

Emerson Lefev, Floyd Crabtree, Andy Keish, and a man named Cunningham, employés of the mine.

P. H. McKinley, first assistant to President Tytus of the mine company, was late for the inspection trip. McKinley arrived just as the others started down the shaft.

"Don't wait for me," he said. "I'll change my clothes and join you below." Before he could do so the explosion occured.

George Maurer, member of the rescue force, who explored the shaft, said that all of the men in the mine were apparently dead. He said he counted 65 bodies.

No bodies have been brought out. Four ponies were taken down into the workings to haul bodies out, as the explosion had wrecked the rails upon which the mine cars traversed the tunnels. Most of the bodies were about 1½ miles from the elevator in the main shaft, Maurer said.

Ten Die Near Air Shaft.

Positions of some of the bodies seen by Maurer showed that the victims had made desperate attempts to flee the gases and reach fresh air. Ten men succumbed in the entrance of a ventilating shaft not far from the apparent center of the explosion, while six others had fallen lifeless just outside the air shaft.

Many others lay scattered about the floor of the tunnel, some seemingly having dropped as they dashed for safety, others apparently killed or rendered helpless by the force of the explosions.

Rescue work was proceeding in an orderly manner tonight with troops of the Ohio National Guard doing patrol duty. Frantic relatives of the trapped miners, who gathered about the mine mouth soon after the first explosion, were quieted, and those needing medical attention were treated at an impromptu first aid station set up in an engine room of the mine.

Rescuers Find Bodies.

Rescue workers who finally penetrated the gas-filled tunnels found nothing but death on all sides. Most of the dead were far back in the mine where the explosion and fire were most terrific. Even though some of the men escaped the first blast, they must certainly have met death when a second explosion, which endangered rescue workers, occurred.

Temporary hospitals established near the mine entrance in the hope that some of the trapped men would be brought out alive, were immediately prepared to serve as temporary morgues. A corps of embalmers was on hand and ambulances stood by.

Red Cross workers from several cities in Ohio established headquarters. State agencies were represented, and

You Get a Lot of Car for Your Money These Days

Thirty years ago an automobile cost a lot of money to buy and a lot to run. You didn't get very much car for your money. What they delivered to you was simply a glorified buggy which housed a wheezy engine that chose to run every now and then.

Nobody kicked at the fancy prices because the industry was new. Standards of value had yet to be established. There were no past prices for comparison and nobody could peer into the future and see the immense values that some day would be offered.

Today it's different. Nearly everybody can look at a car and make a good guess at its retail price. But even today, unless you have kept close check on what the auto makers have been doing, your guess is likely to hit wide of the mark and on the up side of the target. The price of automobiles has come down.

Now is a good time to buy an automobile. Probably never before have the manufacturers offered so much car for so few dollars.

Chicago Tribune

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Col. Wade C. Christy, assistant adjutant general of Ohio, was present, commissioned by Gov. Cooper to determine to what extent the state could aid in the work. The governor sent assurances that money would be made available immediately from emergency state funds to care for the needs of the miners' families.

Rescue crews worked in relays, each detachment remaining in the mine so long as the gas, smoke and fire would permit. As each group was forced to leave the shaft, a fresh crew entered.

The hope still was held tonight that some of the trapped men had escaped death by bratticing themselves within tunnels and workings leading from the main shaft, though inspectors said this was improbable.

Plan to Bring Out Bodies.

Workers announced that the work of bringing out the bodies would be started as soon as possible.

Several theories were advanced as to the cause of the original blast. Some said the first blast was from gas and that it had its origin near a new air shaft in which a fan was being installed.

Others expressed the opinion the explosion was caused by a "squeeze" which, they explained, was the collapse of the roof and walls in an old section of the workings. This section had been bratticed off from the main mine to keep out gases. When the squeeze occurred the deadly gases were released into the mine proper, and in some undetermined manner, exploded. The mine had been registered as nongaseous.

The quiet of a cold, damp early winter day in the little mining town was shattered this afternoon as the gas let loose far down in the earth. With the instinct of those who live near coal mines, the residents of the surrounding countryside knew that a disaster had visited them. Coatless and hatless women and children, some of whom had relatives in the mine, ran to the shaft mouth.

COUNTY G. O. P. IS SWEPT OUT OF PLUM TREE

Voters Give Patronage to Democrats.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Tuesday's election almost completely stripped the Republican county leaders of that most highly cherished political asset, patronage. When the victors are seated the Republicans won't have enough jobs at their disposal outside of the city hall to take care of an infantry company. The Democrats will have enough new places for a brigade.

The Democratic sweep of local offices was so nearly absolute that the Republicans have left in the county field only two of the three places on the board of review, two of the five places on the board of assessors, and the office of Circuit Court Clerk Wallace.

Their opponents' gains included the big pay rolls of the sanitary district, the county board, and the forest preserve, of which the Democrats have had only a share up to this time. Other Democratic conquests were the offices of county treasurer, clerk and bailiff of the Municipal court, and clerk of the Criminal court, with one place on the board of review and two more places on the board of assessors.

Democrats See a Danger.

Jobs are considered essential to the continued existence of a big city machine, but, while the G. O. P. may see hundreds of its pay rollers deserting to the enemy in this crisis and may envision a dissolution of some of its ward organizations, there are Democrats who say that from now on they will face the opposite danger of having too many jobs.

The fact that hundreds and even thousands of new party workers may be put on the pay roll soon after the first of the year started a lively bit of feeling among celebrating Democrats as to the mayoralty campaign. The leaders were said to be trying to shut it off in order to avoid the danger of a family row of serious proportions.

They recalled that nobody on Tuesday approached the total of 1,083,895 received by Coroner Bundesen two years ago, or his majority of 724,154 two years ago when Hoover carried the county.

Talk of Mayoralty Campaign.

Word also was spread that the leaders recognized that the public might not like to see one of Tuesday's victors starting out on a mayoralty campaign almost the minute he is seated in the seat just won. This left most of the talk centered on Coroner Bundesen, Michael L. Igoe, national committeeman; Clayton F. Smith, county recorder, and Col. A. A. Sprague.

Trying to console themselves with a crumb, Republicans pointed out that Commissioner William Busse and George A. Miller, a former commissioner, apparently had nosed out Michael J. Flynn and W. Frank Walkowiak for country town places on the county board. But the party leaders admitted that this gain over the early returns was an empty one so far as patronage is concerned.

Even such gloomy thoughts as this did not check mayoralty talk in the G. O. P. camp. Circulation of reports that Charles V. Barrett of the board of review will announce himself soon continued, with the companion threat that if Barrett announces and Mayor Thompson does not run, Ald. Oscar Nelson, Thompson floor leader, will proclaim himself a candidate against Barrett.

Horner Heads County Victors.

As forecast by the early returns, Probate Judge Horner headed the county Democratic victors both in total vote in the county and in the margin of victory. According to returns from all except a few city precincts Lewis polled 650,986 in the city, 756,874 in the county, and carried the county by 466,715. Judge Horner ran next to him with 577,732 in the city, 683,514 in the county, and a majority of 382,706.

But greater attention was attracted by the outcome of the race put up by Sheriff Elect William D. Meyering against Mayor Thompson's favorite, Maj. Carlos Ames.

Meyering ran third among the Democratic leaders in the city with a vote of 569,565, and landed in second place in the county list with 677,518. He ran ahead of Lewis in the country towns with 107,953. His majority in the country towns was 59,261, and in the county it was 338,899.

CHICAGO AND COOK COUNTY VOTE

The following table shows Tuesday's election results on the state, county and municipal tickets. There are 3,009 precincts in Chicago and 461 in the county outside the city, the total being 3,470. The figures shown are complete with the exception of 29 missing precincts from Chicago. Note—The pluralities and majorities shown for state offices are Cook county figures.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does and yet as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets never curse with a black-brown tongue, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "all in" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face, etc. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

LEWIS SPEAKS OF WORK, BUT NOT OF VICTORY

Urges Nonpartisan Dry Settlement.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

An earnest speaking Senator Elect Lewis yesterday stepped out of the dazzling glare of victory and faced realities.

His mind was much more occupied with the perils and responsibilities of Tuesday's victory than with its brilliance. Its brilliance he dismissed with the words, "I am deeply gratified." Its perils he summed up in the phrase, "The rivalry of aspirations," which he repeated half a dozen times in the course of an hour's talk.

"I can," he said, "see three or four men who will try to use Tuesday's verdict in maneuvering for a presidential nomination. If that is permitted the result will be a hodge podge of promises and half baked measures growing out of the rivalry of aspirations."

Dry Law Program.

"What man in this country," the senator elect was asked, "would you rather sit with today—now, this afternoon—to discuss a sincere program and specific measures for the correction of the evils of prohibition?"

"George W. Wickersham."

"Why Wickersham?"

"Because he now has a vast background of information on the subject and because he is a good lawyer. He knows what can be done that will be constitutional."

"With whom would you wish next to talk?"

"Franklin Roosevelt—and I will anticipate your next question, old fellow, by saying, because he is honest, because he is trustworthy, and because Tuesday's result in New York is a most impressive vindication of him as man and statesman."

"What would be the burden of your discussion with Wickersham and Roosevelt?"

A Significant Majority.

"You are not comprehensive enough. You must add, 'and with other men who have at heart first of all the well being of the republic and not their own political futures.'

"In short, sir, it is an arrogant thing for a man who has been elected to office by a majority which must be regarded as significant to announce without conference with others what he can do and what measures he will take. In that way rancors and contention are sure to be created during the work of formulating great public measures and as a result the work often comes to nothing.

"It was so with the league of nations. More than once—more than once—I went to Wilson when I was senate whip and said, 'Boss, let me talk to you a minute. You want these votes. Well, let me bring these senators to you so that they may be thoroughly informed as to what measures you want. Let them be wise with you.'

Wilson Attitude Brings Failure.

"And more than once Woodrow Wilson's reply was, 'You want me to be Abraham Lincoln's experience with Stanton. What came out of that? Nothing but quarrels which culminated at last in the impeachment and trial of Andrew Johnson.'

"Then the President would mention the name of Thaddeus Stevens and say, 'I want no Thaddeus Stevens rising up to plague me,' and he would conclude with the words, 'As I've got to assume the responsibility I must exercise the authority.'

"That was well put. I suppose it was statesmanship. But I know that it was not diplomacy and the world knows that it was not fruitful.

"So I say that in the handling of the problem of prohibition there must be diplomacy and by diplomacy I mean honest consideration. It is the largest question we have to face today and it is so understood to be in the remotest village. On it hangs the election of a President. But patriotic leaders of whatever political affiliation must not be made a clique for some one who may assume authority to formulate measures and by such assumption try to ride into the presidency.

"If that happens—if solution of a grave question lapses into political maneuvering—then we will have the old story of the contest for acclaim which delayed at a fearful price in blood and treasure the ending of the world war.

Sees Personal Rivalry as Peril.

"This contest for acclaim, this rivalry of aspirations, are our peril now—the craving for acclaim for a method of solution as coming from this or that individual.

"We have reached a point where we know that crime has become a business and a thoroughly organized business.

"On that we are agreed. We are further agreed that the maladministration of prohibition is the cause of the organization of crime into a business. We are agreed as to the blighting effects on the republic of that business. We have reached the roots of the matter so far as causes and effects are concerned. There exists now the great fact of agreement about them.

"Remedies, to be effective, must be the result of equal agreement. Leaders of both parties ought to be able to say, 'We are joining together to remove the blight of organized crime, for that is a matter of equal moment to wets and drys, to Democrats and Republicans.'

Two Tests for Solutions.

"In this crisis we have to find the rational method and in helping to arrive at it the patriotic man will ask himself two questions. Both are vital. The first is, 'Is this a method I can accept?' The second is, 'Is this a method I can get other men to accept?'

"That is why I do not wish, in the glow of natural gratification—and gratitude—over Tuesday's result, to declare myself today for this or that specific method of correction.

"Many plans must be harmonized in sincere conference.

"And there must, first of all, be the firm determination that, if we are going to repress the business of organized crime, we must repress the thing that nourishes and compensates it."

"Meanwhile, senator, what will President Hoover do?"

Expects Special Session Bid.

Mr. Lewis replied:

"I think his friends will insist that he call the new congress in special session next March to consider unemployment. That will be their idea of one way to arouse confidence in the administration. Otherwise there will be no session of the new congress until December, 1931, a stupidity in our scheme of government.

"Meanwhile I hope the new congress is lost to the Democrats, for the party now in power would like nothing better than to have us in a nominal but limited control of congress during the last two years of the present administration, for then they would turn to the country and say, 'There they are and there they have been for two years—and what have they done?'

"Will the struggle to eradicate the evils of prohibition last long?"

"The struggle will be short in one way and long in another. I think that before the close of another administration we can assemble enough patriotic and thoughtful statesmanship to turn the question of righteous and rational liquor control back to the states for settlement in accordance with methods agreed upon by the people of each state.

"But the question of what part the federal government shall still have in state control is intricate and difficult and the just settlement of it will take a long time."

MERCHANT KILLED BY GAS.

Willis Gordon, 55 years old, a merchant, was found dead of asphyxiation yesterday afternoon in the kitchen of his home at 3215 North Cicero avenue. Two burners of the gas stove were open.

WHAT THEY SAID THE MORNING AFTER

Views of political leaders and candidates throughout the United States on results of the election yesterday were compiled by the Associated Press as follows:

ALFRED E. SMITH—Our great victory in New York state is an indication of the present trend. The minority has asserted itself in no uncertain terms and the people of the country have responded to a truthful and direct presentation of the issues.

WILLIAM M. BUTLER, Republican, Massachusetts, defeated for the senate—The people have decided what they want and by this we abide. Time will tell.

DWIGHT W. MORROW—The voters were looking for a new heaven and a new earth two years ago. Not finding it, they looked again.

GIFFORD PINCHOT, Republican, elected governor of Pennsylvania—I promise to put behind bars every election thief in the city [of Philadelphia].

JOHN M. HEMPHILL, Democrat, whom he defeated—I haven't characterized my campaign by any bombastic statements and I don't intend to now.

SENATOR HENRY J. ALLEN, Republican, of Kansas—There is nothing more pointless than the effort of a defeated candidate to explain his defeat.

GILBERT M. HITCHCOCK, Democrat, defeated for the senate in Nebraska—I became a candidate less by reason of a desire to reënter public life than for the purpose of strengthening the Democratic ticket and for the purpose of maintaining the integrity of the Democratic party in Nebraska.

WILBUR L. CROSS, former Yale dean, Democrat, elected governor of Connecticut—I shall return the political control of the state to the people to whom it belongs.

JAMES HAMILTON LEWIS, Democrat, elected United States senator in Illinois—Mrs. McCormick fought as valiant a fight as any man ever did.

MRS. RUTH HANNA McCORMICK, his defeated Republican opponent—O my lord, we're just swamped!

DR. ROBERT PARIS CARROLL, Syracuse university, defeated dry candidate for governor of New York—I am rather of the opinion that both old parties are disintegrating. No party should live more than 50 years.

SENATOR GEORGE W. NORRIS, Republican, Nebraska—The victory is more than a personal one. It is a great victory for political progress and independence as against monopoly and machine politics.

SENATOR W. H. McMASTER, Republican, South Dakota, defeated for reëlection—South Dakota people have been wonderfully fine to me, and I cheerfully abide by their decision in all things.

FLOYD B. OLSON, Farmer-Labor, elected governor of Minnesota—I read in the returns an expression of the earnest desire of the people to have th affairs of our state administered independent of political considerations.

SENATOR DANIEL F. STECK, Democrat, Iowa, defeated for reëlection—I am not surprised but disappointed in the outcome of the election yesterday. I am proud of the fine vote given me and the unselfish support of my friends over the state.

MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY of Boston—The American people have served notice upon the Republican machine at Washington that bread and beer are more potent than proclamations and promises.

J. THOMAS HEFLIN, defeated for reëlection to the senate in Alabama—This was one of the most fraudulent and corrupt elections ever held in Alabama.

JAMES ROLPH JR., Republican, elected governor of California—California demands new life. Its prosperity must be revived. Its people must be the happiest known to mankind. I shall be a human governor.

PHILIP F. LA FOLLETTE, elected governor of Wisconsin—My heart is filled with appreciation of the valiant work done by supporters of the progressive cause in this campaign.

MRS. RUTH BAKER PRATT, Republican reëlected to congress from New York—I'd take on anybody now; I'd take on two or three Brouns.

HEYWOOD BROUN, columnist and Socialist, whom Mrs. Pratt defeated along with her Democratic opponent—I am still in the fight. I need a machine and tomorrow will start building it.

BAUR BUTLER'S WILL INVOLVED IN CONTROVERSY

Following the filing in Probate court yesterday of the will of Mrs. Bertha Baur's butler, George Brown, under terms of which a $16,000 estate is left to Miss Rosemary Baur, Mrs. Baur's daughter, announcement was made by Jack Rubins, assistant to the public administrator, that his office considers the will inoperative.

The instrument provides that Miss Baur receive the estate "in the event my wife dies before me." Brown, who was 80 years old, died last Sept. 21. Two hours later his widow killed herself by leaping from the fire escape outside their rooms at 1449 North La Salle street. The will is thus considered invalid, Rubins said, since Mrs. Brown died after her husband.

Mrs. Emma Hein of Streator, a cousin of Mrs. Brown, will inherit the estate as heir at law if the will is of no effect, Mr. Rubins said.

LONG URGED TO RESIGN AT ONCE FOR SENATE JOB

New Orleans, La., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Advices were received today that Democratic leaders in Washington planned to bring pressure to bear on Gov. Huey P. Long to resign the governorship and take his seat in the United States senate on March 4 to break a possible even division between Republicans and Democrats as a result of the elections. Before this word was received, Gov. Long announced he would adhere to his previous decision to compete his term as governor, ending in the spring of 1932, before going to Washington as the successor to Senator Joseph E. Ransdell.

SONSTEBY WANTS CITY COURT PUT ON HIGHER PLANE

Chief Justice Elect Will Institute Reforms.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

John J. Sonsteby, the chief justice elect of the Municipal court, will step into that office prepared to institute several reforms.

At his law office at 19 South La Salle street, where he has been in private practice for 24 years, he received the congratulations of friends yesterday and outlined some of the changes he has in mind.

He intends, first of all, to organize the court and control it.

"The Municipal court," he said, "should coöperate wherever possible with the other courts. It should be possible to organize it so that it would not take two years or so to reach a jury trial. That should be possible in a few weeks, three months at the outside.

Wants Standard Procedure.

"I want the judges to elect an executive committee and have a standard of procedure. I want to establish a new esprit de corps. The court is to be run on a businesslike, efficient basis.

"The department of psychiatry is to be made an important adjunct. I want to put this court on a higher plane and I can do it."

Mr. Sonsteby is a forceful man and looks as though he meant every word he said. He is a big man physically, only 51 years old, and apparently in perfect health.

His father came to Chicago in 1866 from Norway and he was born in Milwaukee, Jan. 15, 1879. He has been a lifelong Democrat, and served as a member of the board of education under the Dunne and Harrison administrations. He has never run for public office before.

Attorney for Unions.

Mr. Sonsteby was graduated from the John Marshall Law school, and upon his admission to the bar he became attorney for the United Garment Workers of America and has represented that group ever since in litigation and in the National Conference of Social work and in the annual meetings of the American Prison congress. He is an expert on the subject of convict labor. He has been the attorney for various unions and has kept in touch with psychiatry.

As to this part of the court's work he said:

"The finding of a psychiatrist that a person accused of crime is mentally deficient does not excuse that person from taking the consequences, but is merely an explanation in some measure as to why he committed the crime."

Embezzling is Man's Offense; Gunplay Wife's; Meet in Jail

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—George W. Griffin, assistant treasurer for the L. C. Smith-Corona Typewriting company, sat in a police cell tonight, held on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The police said he had confessed that he had embezzled between $200,000 and $250,000 of his firm's money within the last year.

In another cell was Mrs. Bessie Griffin, of Syracuse, his wife, held on a charge of attempted felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan law. The desk lieutentant had told Griffin when he was brought in by postoffice inspectors that his wife had been arrested in the Paramount hotel threatening two detectives with a revolver.

No Connection Between Arrests.

There was no connection between the two arrests. Mrs. Griffin lives in Syracuse although her husband is employed here. The typewriter firm recently switched its main offices from the upstate city to New York. She was in town for a visit, staying at the Paramount hotel. This afternoon she ordered a meal sent to her room. When the waiter carried in the tray she was in bed, and Nettie Kressitvitch, hotel manicurist was doing her nails.

Mrs. Griffin sniffed at the food and found fault with it. When the waiter protested that she was mistaken she darted one hand beneath her pillow and out flashed a revolver. The waiter turned and fled. When the hotel manager learned what had happened he telephoned the police. Two detectives were sent to Mrs. Griffin's room.

Flashes Gun at Detectives.

"On, detectives?" said the woman in a shrill voice. "Well, I have something for you."

She pulled out the revolver, according to the police, and pointed it at the plain clothes men. They wrested the gun from her.

Mrs. Griffin was then taken to the police station. It was about six hours later that postoffice inspectors walked into the station with Griffin. He told Griffin of her arrest.

"How is she?" asked Griffin.

"All right now," said the desk man. "She was hysterical, but she's calmed down."

Find Shortage in Books.

The postoffice inspectors said a shortage was found a week ago in Griffin's books and that it amounts to betwetn $200,000 and $250,000. The private operatives maintain that for a year or more Griffin manipulated and forged checks without the knowledge of any of his superiors.

Griffin insisted to the postoffice inspectors that he had not wasted the money on women or the races; that he does not gamble, drink, or smoke.

G.O.P. CONTROL IN NEXT CONGRESS HANGS BY A HAIR

Democrats Seem to Have Senate Majority.

tees with a Democratic chairman and majority of each. If the Minnesota senator should throw in his lot with the Republicans, as he did in the Seventieth congress, the two parties would be tied with 48 votes each, but the Republicans would be able to organize by virtue of the casting vote of the Republican Vice President, Charles Curtis, who is the president of the senate, resolving the tie.

Shipstead No Hoover Man.

There are certain circumstances which would tend to influence Senator Shipstead to join the Democrats this time. He is a radical and affiliated with the Norris-La Follette group of Republican radicals which formed a coalition with the Democrats that has dominated the senate at will in the present congress. With the radicals taking advantage of every opportunity to make trouble for the Hoover administration, it would not be surprising if Senator Shipstead should help the Democrats wrest the organization of the senate from the Republicans.

If the complete returns should confirm present indications that the Republicans will be slightly more numerous than the Democrats in the next house, the Republicans would be able to organize the body with Representative Nicholas Longworth, speaker, unless the La Follette radicals should combine with the Democrats to give them the organization, with Representative John Garner of Texas as speaker. Hitherto, however, when the La Follette radicals have held the balance of power in the house, as in 1923, they have voted with the Republicans to organize.

Whether the Republicans or the Democrats organize either or both houses of the seventy-second congress makes little difference under the circumstances, for the radical Republicans will hold the balance of power in both chambers and by combining with the Democrats will be able at will to block legislation recommended by President Hoover, and to originate proposed legislation designed to embarrass the President and put his administration in a hole on the eve of the presidential election of 1932.

The net result of the Democratic landslide of Tuesday, therefore, was to sweep into power a congress which will be antagonistic to the Hoover administration.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said last night that on the assumption that the Democrats have gained senators in South Dakota, Minnesota, and Kentucky "it would appear that the Democrats will probably organize the next senate."

The additional returns received last night only made the results of the Democratic landslide more impressive. The only Democratic members of either house of congress who were defeated were Senator Daniel F. Steck in Iowa, and Representative Stanley Kuns in Chicago.

The Democrats made their most successful raids on Republican seats in the house in the middle west. In Illinois they picked up seven additional seats, and six each in Indiana and Ohio. They also recovered five each in Kentucky and Missouri which they lost in the Hoover landslide two years ago.

Where Democrats Gained.

The nine gains of senate seats which the Democrats are sure of in the light of the returns received so far were made in Massachusetts, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and South Dakota.

The only gain made by the Republicans was in Iowa, where Representative L. J. Dickinson defeated Senator Steck. The Democrats therefore made a net gain of nine seats.

One of the unexpected results of the election, and one widely regarded as highly significant, was the defeat of Senator Henry J. Allen, Republican, in Kansas. Senator Allen is a close personal friend and political adviser of President Hoover.

Whether or not, as some uncharitable Democrats are suggesting, the Kansas farmers deliberately set out to swat Senator Allen because he is the friend and spokesman of President Hoover, it is apparent that the Democratic avalanche was no respecter of persons.

In addition to Senator Allen two other administration senators were beaten. They were Robsion of Kentucky and Roscoe C. McCulloch of Ohio. On the other hand, two anti-administration Republican senators—William B. Pine of Oklahoma and W. H. McMaster of South Dakota—were carried to defeat by the same Democratic landslide that is generally supposed to have been loosed by popular dissatisfaction with the administration. A third anti-administration Republican senator will be added to this list of victims if the complete returns show the defeat of Schall in Minnesota.

Administration senators who survived the fights made on them were Jesse H. Metcalf in Rhode Island and Daniel O. Hastings in Delaware. The reelection of Senator Hastings was the only victory won by the drys in the senatorial contests. Mr. Hastings is a dry and ran on the dry platform adopted by the Delaware Republicans. All the influence of the Association Against Prohibition and of the Du-Ponts and John J. Raskob, Del vare millionaires who finance that organization, together with a huge campaign fund, was brought to bear to elect Senator Thomas F. Bayard, wet Democrat, over Mr. Hastings, but to no avail.

Bomb Wrecks Garage of Newspaper Circulator

Several chauffeurs received severe shocks and a Negro washer, Isaiah Nettles, was stunned last night when a dynamite bomb was exploded on the roof of the Charles Levy Newspaper Circulation company's garage at 1632 West Lake street. The bomb shattered windows of the garage and surrounding buildings, causing an estimated property damage of $1,500. Charles Levy, head of the company, told police he had had no trouble and could not account for the bombing.

WETS CAPTURE STRONGHOLDS OF DRYS IN ILLINOIS

Evanston, Oak Park Vote to Repeal Law.

Illinois' overwhelming repudiation of prohibition in Tuesday's election was further emphasized yesterday when unofficial returns disclosed that Oak Park and Evanston, hitherto considered invincibly dry, voted wet by comfortable majorities.

Evanston, national headquarters of the Women's Christian Temperance union, has been dry for 75 years through a special legislative enactment. In 28 out of 46 precincts in Evanston the vote stood nearly 2 to 1 for repeal of the 18th amendment. The figures: Yes, 4,841; No, 2,639.

Oak Park, which under local option prior to 1918 had always been wet without saloons, indicated its dissatisfaction with existing conditions as emphatically as Evanston. Complete unofficial returns were: Repeal of the 18th amendment: Yes, 9,796; No, 6,268; modification of Volstead act, Yes, 10,-; No, 5,136; repeal of state prohibition law; Yes, 9,213; No, 5,987.

Will Push Repeal Fight.

Plans were being made by the wets to call upon the congressmen of the state to fulfill their pledges to obey the mandate of the people expressed in the referendum on prohibition questions and to work for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and for immediate modification of the Volstead act to permit the states to allow the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines.

At the same time the members of the legislature will be urged to adhere to their promises to support the will of the voters and to bring about the repeal of the Illinois prohibition and search and seizure acts.

Indications last night, on the basis of returns which were still incomplete, were that the wet majority on the prohibition propositions would be in the neighborhood of 650,000, and that more than a million votes were cast in the state for repeal of the present dry laws.

Vote on Wet Proposals.

Returns from 4,974 precincts out of a total of 7,109 in the state gave the following vote on the propositions:

	For.	Against.
Repeal 18th amendment	755,068	313,602
Modify Volstead act	750,255	277,281
Repeal state act	796,410	301,080

Cook county with 29 precincts missing:

Repeal 18th amendment	610,943	176,554
Modify Volstead act	600,286	152,406
Repeal state act	621,631	169,939

J. Russell Forgan, executive commander of the Crusaders, an association espousing the wet cause, declared in a statement yesterday that Illinois should send a delegation to the 72d congress which is 100 per cent anti-prohibition.

VOTE BY WARDS ON PROHIBITION QUESTION

The following table shows the complete vote by wards on the three prohibition tables with the exception of 29 missing precincts:

Merchant Wins Oregon Governorship as Legacy

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Julius L. Meier won the governorship of Oregon. Meier, owner of one of the largest department stores on the Pacific coast, ran as independent and his vote exceeded by about 50,000 the combined votes of his three opponents.

Meier entered the campaign in June after Senator G. M. Joseph, Republican nominee and his life long friend, died suddenly.

Reno's Divorcing Judge Defeated for Re-election

Reno, Nev., Nov. 5.—(AP)—District Judge George Bartlett, who in the last decade has severed the matrimonial ties of scores of prominent persons attracted to Reno by Nevada's easy divorce law, was defeated for re-election yesterday.

WET GAINS FROM ELECTIONS POINT TO FINAL REPEAL

Congress Still Dry, but Trend Is Sure.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Wet victories even more far reaching than indicated on the basis of early returns were shown as more complete information became available on Tuesday's election result.

Besides electing five new wet senators the forces opposed to prohibition claimed success for upwards of 70 new wet members of the house. While the drys will continue to control both houses by heavy majorities, the gains by the wets were regarded by leaders in the movement for the repeal or modification of prohibition laws as pointing to an eventual upsetting of the present condition.

Carry Three Referendums.

Heavy wet majorities were shown in each of the three states, Illinois, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, where there were referendum votes on various phases of the prohibition question.

The five new wet senators are James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, Marcus A. Coolidge of Massachusetts, Einar Holdale of Minnesota, and Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma, all Democrats. Mr. Gore did not take a definite stand against prohibition, but has been regarded as wet. In addition the wets claim a new senator in Senator J. H. Metcalf [Rep., R. I.], who was re-elected after coming out for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The net gain of the wets in the senate is somewhat less than this number, inasmuch as Representative L. J. Dickinson, the successful Republican nominee in Iowa, a dry, replaces Senator Daniel Steck, Democrat, a wet. Gov. Huey Long, the Democratic winner in Louisiana, a dry, takes the place of Senator J. E. Ransdell, a wet, and the new Maine senator elected in September, Representative Wallace H. White, a Republican and dry, takes the place of Senator Arthur Gould, Republican wet.

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in a statement claimed remarkable progress for the wet movement.

Mr. Curran said that eleven states containing forty-five per cent of the country's population voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, either by direct referenda or by their vote for senator or governor with the prohibition issue clearly in the campaign. He listed among them states "with such heavy electoral votes" as Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois, together with Rhode Island, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. He warned party leaders to take notice of the sentiment thus expressed.

ITALY'S WINE TRADE EYES WET VICTORY IN U. S. ELECTIONS

ROME, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Leaders in the Italian wine producing industry today displayed great interest in the results of the American elections, particularly as they affected the question of prohibition.

Experts estimated there are 645,000,000 gallons of Italian wine in storage, and some of the leaders of the industry were making extravagant plans to take advantage of any change in the situation.

French Winemen Hopeful.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 5.—All French papers are giving prominent front page space to the elections in the United States, but editorial comment has been reserved until final results are known.

Interest here is naturally centered on the wet victory, with glimmerings of hope that French wine producers may recover one of their principal markets. French political observers emphasize the elections as a personal defeat suffered by President Hoover.

JEWELER BEATEN, TELLS POLICE OF $40,000 HOLDUP

Says He Was Kidnaped in Auto by Gunmen.

Abraham Rothblum, a wholesale jeweler at 5 South Wabash avenue, was kidnaped last night near his home at 4632 Drake avenue and robbed of $40,000 in diamonds by three men in a small sedan, who threw him out in a lonely part of River Forest after beating him with fists and the butts of their revolvers, according to a report he made to the River Forest police.

Rothblum, bleeding from several wounds on his head, staggered up to State Highway Policemen Victor Edgren and Hugh Donnelly at a barbecue stand in the suburb and told his story. He was taken to the River Forest police station and questioned.

He said he was leaving home for a selling trip to Cincinnati with the uncut stones in his pockets. A half block away, as he was looking for a taxicab to take him to the 12th street station, he said a blanket was thrown over his head from behind and he was struck on the head.

When he regained his senses he was in an automobile with three men. They demanded the jewels, and when he told them he had none two of the men beat him until he admitted the stones were in his pockets. After taking them, he said, he was driven about for an hour, then dumped out in River Forest.

Under questioning by Chief of Police C. William Soderlin, Rothblum changed his story, the police said. His second version was that after he left his house to go to a street car he was stopped by a man with a revolver who called him by name. A second man approached from behind and struck him over the head with a revolver.

Rothblum said he was driven around Chicago for an hour. He knew he was in the city because he heard the driver call the names of the streets.

Rothblum told the police he had the diamonds on consignment from a New York house, which had insured them.

Rothblum was held in technical custody until his report could be investigated.

Rob Hotel Manager and Give Him Elevator Ride

Three robbers armed with sawed-off shotguns invaded the lobby of the Kenmore apartments, 6320 Kenmore avenue, last night and forced Ira Lilies, 57 West Ontario street, the manager, to turn over $246 from the cash register. After taking the money the robbers put Lilies in an automatic elevator and sent him up to the top floor.

Help 35 to Street as Smoke Fills Building

Thirty persons living in apartments above a furniture store at 1204-12 South Oakley boulevard were assisted to the street by firemen with ladders last night when a fire starting from rubbish in the basement filled the building with smoke.

LYLE LEADS FOUR G. O. P. VICTORS IN CITY COURT RACE

Four Republicans survived Tuesday's barrage of Democratic votes and won places on the Municipal court bench. Democratic candidates took eleven of the fifteen city court seats, including the chief justiceship, and carried all the five vacancies in the Superior court and the one in the Circuit court.

Judge John H. Lyle headed the group of Republican victors to rank fifth of the twelve elected for the full six year term.

"I greatly appreciate the vote I received," Judge Lyle said. "I do not attribute it to an indorsement of me personally but a public expression of approval at forcible dealing with gangsters and racketeers. I hope that I shall justify this expression of approval."

Judges John J. Lupe and Edgar A. Jonas, Republican candidates for the full term, and Alfar M. Eberhardt, Republican candidate for the Schwaba vacancy, also escaped the landslide, which carried Chief Justice Harry Olson down to defeat. Justice Olson was defeated by John J. Sonsteby by more than 16,500 votes.

Flames in Flat Building Drive Out Eight Families

Flames caused by an overheated boiler in the basement of a flat building at 810-12 South Hermitage avenue last night routed eight families from their homes and caused a loss of $3,500. Frank Marrabelli, living on the first floor, was awakened by the crackle of the flames and roused the other occupants of the flats, including more than a dozen children, in time for them to escape.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

2 CONGRESSIONAL SEATS IN ILLINOIS STILL IN DOUBT

Republicans Have Chance for Victory.

Some doubt existed late last night concerning the winners of two Illinois congressional races. With the control of the next national house of representatives depending on two or three changes, the Twenty-fourth Illinois district furnished an unusual situation; apparently it had elected a Republican for an unexpired term and defeated him for the term beginning next March 4.

On the basis of midnight figures the Illinois count of congressman for the next term is Democrats, 13; Republicans, 14. Congressman Stanley H. Kunz [Dem., 8th], was defeated, according to complete returns yesterday. Congressman Carl R. Chindblom [Rep., 10th], was elected; and Richard Yates, congressman at large, had a bare chance to be reelected, although he was 32,736 votes behind, with 1,143 precincts unreported.

Both Claim Victory.

In the 24th district James V. Heidinger, Republican, furnished unofficial figures showing his election by 24 votes, although he admitted that the complete returns might show him to have been defeated. His Democratic opponent, Claude V. Parsons, furnished figures showing his election by 90 votes.

A newspaper tabulation, admittedly with a few estimates, showed Parsons' election by 158 votes and the correspondent explained:

"Many careless voters marked for Heidinger for the short term only and others voted for him for the short term and Parsons for the full term. Parsons is defeated for the short term, but is elected to go to the next session of congress."

If both Yates and Heidinger are defeated the Democrats of Illinois will gain seven seats in congress.

Congressman Ed M. Irwin of Belleville, Republican, in the Twenty-second district lost to his Democratic opponent, Charles A. Karch of East St. Louis, by 640 votes, according to unofficial returns. Congressman Edward E. Denison of Marion, Republican and dry, was 3,000 votes behind Kent Keller, Democrat and dry, with returns not complete in the 25th district.

Figures for Chicago.

Figures in the Chicago districts are:

FIRST—Baker [D.], 16,422; De Priest [R.], 23,805.
SECOND—Walsh [D.], 63,905; Hull [R.], 30,127.
THIRD—Kelly [D.], 31,370; Sproul [R.], 61,761.
FOURTH—Beam [D.], 36,125; Zelesinski [R.], 16,970.
FIFTH—Sabath [D.], 20,693; Kare [R.], 10,374.
SIXTH—Iroe [D.], 119,396; Lundblad [R.], 31,213.
SEVENTH—Schuetz [D.], 109,647; Moreland [R.], 92,053.
EIGHTH—Kunz [D.], 14,787; Granata [R.], 16,201.
NINTH—Britten [R.], unopposed.
TENTH—Hesse [D.], 57,421; Chindblom [R.], 55,083 [21 precincts missing].

Lake county reports a plurality of 4,630 for Chindblom, which would give him the election byp 2,282.

The downstate winners on the face of present returns are:

11th district—Frank R. Reid [R.]
12th district—John T. Buckbee [R.].
13th district—William R. Johnson [R.].
14th district—John C. Allen [R.].
15th district—B. M. Chiperfield [R.].
16th district—W. R. Hull [R.].
17th district—Homer W. Hall [R.].
18th district—William P. Holaday [R.].
19th district—Charles Adkins [R.].
20th district—Henry T. Rainey [D.].
21st district—I. E. Major [D.].
22d district—Charles A. Karch [D.].
23d district—W. W. Arnold [D.].
24th district—Claude V. Parsons [D.].
25th district—Kent E. Keller [D.].

Figures for 5,966 precincts out of 7,109 for congressman at large follow:

Dieterich [D.]	603,467
Nesbit [D.]	822,267
Yates [R.]	780,551
Smith [R.]	711,468

Unreported downstate precincts may give Yates a victory.

DO-X ENDS FIRST LEG OF U. S. HOP; LISBON NEXT STOP

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The great bulk of the German flying boat Do-X, largest seaplane in the world, floated tonight in the Schellingwoude basin at the end of the first lap of her trans-Atlantic voyage to New York.

A full moon picked out the figures of mechanics tinkering with the twelve twin screw engines which had borne her from Lake Constance, Switzerland, in less than five and a half hours, and thousands watched them at work from the locks which protect the port of Amsterdam against the Zuider Zee.

Nobody knew for certain when she would roar off again toward Lisbon, Portugal, where the ocean flight is to begin about Nov. 12, but it was thought likely that only bad weather would cause further postponement of the flight which already had been delayed so long.

STATE TURNS DOWN TAX AMENDMENT BY OVERWHELMING VOTE

The tax amendment to the state constitution was defeated overwhelmingly at Tuesday's election. Fairly complete returns indicate that less than 800,000 voted on the amendment proposal out of the 2,000,000 who went to the polls in the state, and a majority of all votes cast was required for its adoption. Of the 790,000 who voted on the amendment 440,000 were against it.

Toss-Toss-Toss All Night Long

Sleepless Nights a Penalty of Acidity

When you go to bed at night tired and exhausted and still can't sleep and you toss fitfully on your bed all night long, trying first one position and then another, it's almost a sure sign that you are "acid." Acidity, the curse of our modern existence, not only causes acid-indigestion with sourness, burning and gassy fullness, but it plays havoc with our nervous systems, making us jumpy, fidgety and so restless at night that we can't sleep even though we be dog-tired.

Acidity may be due to a number of things, but usually unnatural eating habits, irregular hours, overwork and excessive smoking are factors. Any person with any symptoms of acidity should know about a remarkable new corrective of acidity that has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany.

This new acid corrective comes in the form of small white tablets, called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, as any doctor will tell you, active oxygen when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity.

It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If, after taking contents of one bottle you don't get more than amazing results, return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will refund the purchase price promptly and in full.—A-13.—Adv.

We Must Move

No landlord can dictate our policies. The public's faith that founded this business must be protected. After years in the same location, our landlord decided to raise our rent. We cannot meet the rent increase without reflecting the fact in our selling prices or in the quality of our clothing. We will not permit that. Our customers' confidence must be safeguarded. We must get out. But before we go—we've got to clear out our stocks. We're taking a cut of 20% on every garment in the store. Every garment must be sold. Dealers and jobbers would pay premium prices for such quality clothing. However, if we must take a loss—only our customers will benefit. Thrifty men will take advantage of this opportunity—our first, last and only sale in Chicago.

EVERY garment goes, nothing has been added, nothing left out. This sweeping reduction includes each and every piece of merchandise in our present stocks. There's been no advance "mark-up"—no "hold-overs" from the past season. The entire offering was produced this season for this season's wear. Fashioned and tailored in our five giant factories. Designed at our own Fifth Avenue style studios. Made from ten-time tested all-wool fabrics. In every way up to the well known high Foreman & Clark standards of style, workmanship, and woolens. We prove this by backing every last garment with our $10,000,000 Written Guarantee.

M'GOORTY CALLS CAPONE MENACE TO GOVERNMENT

Blames Much of Crime on Dry Law.

Al Capone is a standing menace to good government in this community, Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court said in an address yesterday at the monthly meeting of the Chicago Credit Men's forum in the Hotel La Salle. The judge, who has been directing the grand jury war on crime and racketeering, also placed the blame for much of the crime situation on the prohibition law.

"I believe in a vigorous and persistent policy against organized crime," he said. "The gradual concentration of criminal activities under one directing head is apparent. I do not like to dignify Al Capone by naming him, but his influence in this community is a standing menace to good government.

"I do not say that Capone's apprehension and conviction would end the reign of organized crime. It would, however, be a serious blow to the morale of his associates, and a decided triumph for the law.

Judge McGoorty next told his audience that the huge profits obtained through the liquor business in the first instance allowed the criminal forces to spread their activities to other fields, such as extortion and labor union racketeering.

"So long as huge profits are to be had in illicit booze traffic, the task of those seeking for the betterment of Chicago is rendered most difficult," said the judge. "Prohibition, however, is only one of the contributing causes of crime. Those who have grown wealthy and powerful through its violation have extended the scope of their criminal activities."

Bell Confession on Lingle Murder Held to Be False

The "confession" of Frank H. Bell, in which he declared he had participated in the murder of Alfred Lingle, was under discussion yesterday at a conference held at the offices of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Although no announcement of the purpose or result of the meeting was made, it was learned that evidence is in the hands of the authorities which would indicate that Bell's story is false, and that he told it to save himself from the vengeance of the law in other crimes he committed.

Will Seek Death Penalty.

The trial of Bell for another murder, that of Christ Patras, manager of the Villa Rica café in North Clark street, will proceed this morning, it was announced, and Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler, who will prosecute Bell, said he would seek the death penalty.

The whole matter was complicated yesterday by the offer of Bell's accomplice in the Patras murder, Richard Sullivan, to plead guilty to the crime, even though he is sentenced to death in the electric chair.

But Sullivan, through his attorney, David Riskind, insisted that Bell must pay the same penalty as is imposed on Sullivan. Bell's attorney, Benjamin Bachrach, the public defender, told Judge Sabath, before whom the case is to be tried, that Bell would plead not guilty.

Officials Attend Meeting.

The officials and others in attendance at yesterday's conference at the Association of Commerce were Col. A. A. Sprague and Col. Robert Isham Randolph, leaders of the association's war on crime and rackets; State's Attorney Swanson, Coroner Bundesen, Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun, and Pat Roache, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, and the officers in charge of the Lingle murder investigation; and Assistant State's Attorney Butler.

The purpose of the meeting, it was learned, was to bring together the results of the various officials' efforts in their investigation of Bell's story.

Bell had asserted, in his confession to Coroner Bundesen, that he had been hired, at a price of $1,000, to drive the car in which two other men, named by Bell as Sullivan and Joseph Traum, Indiana gang leader, were taken to the scene of the Lingle killing.

There, according to Bell's story, Traum and Sullivan were joined by a fourth conspirator, and Traum ordered Bell to drive to an agreed place to await them. About an hour later, Bell said, Traum and Sullivan appeared, and in the interim, Lingle had been murdered.

Sullivan, according to Bell's story, had been wounded in the leg, and this was the hitch which caused the officials to doubt that Bell was truthful.

Contradicted by Witnesses.

Prosecutor Rathbun is reported to have informed the others at the meeting yesterday that he has three witnesses who definitely disprove Bell's story, and who have furnished proof that Bell was not near the scene of the crime when it was committed.

Sullivan has protested his innocence of the Lingle murder, while confessing his guilt in the Patras killing. When his trial for the latter crime was called before Judge Sabath yesterday he insisted on pleading guilty, despite warnings from the court that the death penalty might be inflicted. Judge Sabath refused to enter the plea, continuing the case until today.

"My client is willing to take the same punishment that Bell will get, even to the electric chair," Attorney Riskind said.

"But Bell cannot plead guilty to a crime he has not committed," argued Mr. Bachrach.

The public defender said Bell would plead guilty to many robberies he has confessed, and that the penalty for these crimes would be equivalent to life imprisonment.

Floyd, Long Congressman from Arkansas, Is Dead

Yellville, Ark., Nov. 5.—(AP)—J. C. Floyd, 73, representative of the Third Arkansas district in congress from 1906 to 1915, died suddenly here early today.

All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

VOTE CANVASS IS BEGUN UNDER JUDGE JARECKI

The official canvass of all votes cast at polls under the jurisdiction of the board of election commissioners was begun yesterday by the canvassing board, headed by County Judge Jarecki. An examination of the ballots from the first precinct of the First ward gave James Hamilton Lewis, 160; Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, 87, and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neil, 2.

The tally sheets were then locked up in the vault until Monday morning when the canvass will be resumed by 25 teams of workers. It is estimated the count will require nearly two weeks.

Judge Jarecki said that Francis X. Busch, attorney for the election commissioners, has been instructed to investigate the charges that repeaters were being paid 50 cents a vote in the First ward, which—in the words of Michael (Hinky Dink) Kenna—"is the cleanest ward in the city."

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

DEMOCRATS ADD 6 CONGRESSMEN TO INDIANA ROLL

Also Capture Most of the State Offices.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Indiana will have a delegation of nine Democrats and four Republicans in the congress that meets next March 4 complete but unofficial returns from yesterday's elections tabulated tonight showed that the Democrats elected their three incumbents and captured six additional congressional districts.

In addition to retaining the Second, Fourth and Seventh districts, the Democrats won the First, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Eleventh, and Thirteenth.

Samuel B. Pettengill of South Bend, the Democrat elected in the Thirteenth district, conducted his campaign on a platform advocating modification of the eighteenth amendment. Congressman Andrew J. Hickey, veteran Republican solon, was his opponent.

Two other Democratic congressional contenders who favored modification of the liquor law—Charles J. Murphy in the Tenth and Thomas P. Riddle in the Twelfth—were beaten. Congressman Will R. Wood, Republican, whom the Tenth district has returned to the national house for many years, defeated Murphy by a comfortable margin.

Congressman Albert H. Vestal, Eighth district, barely defeated Claude Ball, Democrat, his lead being nine votes on complete unofficial returns.

Practically all the state offices went to Democrats, who gained control of the lower house of the legislature.

CURTIS HERE; HAS NOTHING TO SAY ABOUT ELECTION

Vice President Charles Curtis spent an hour in Chicago yesterday on his way to Washington after having voted at his home in Topeka. The Vice President went directly from the Dearborn street station to Grand Central station, where he was to board a train for the east.

Reporters found him sitting in the station waiting room. He did not greet them with his customary smile. He was asked to comment on the election.

"I have nothing to say," he said, curtly. "It is not in the province of the Vice President to express himself on the subject. The President's views should be sought."

When he was asked whether he foresaw repeal of the eighteenth amendment, Mr. Curtis answered: "I cannot say, nor can any one."

BROTHER WILL SUCCEED TIFFANY AS POLICE CHIEF

Frank Tiffany, now police chief of North Chicago, on Dec. 1 will become chief of police of Lake Forest, succeeding his brother, Lester, who on Tuesday was elected sheriff of Lake county. The appointment of Frank Tiffany was confirmed by a unanimous vote of Lake Forest village council last Monday night, but announcement was withheld pending the outcome of the election.

FRANK TIFFANY.

A resolution read at the council meeting by Ald. James A. Griffin, chairman of the police committee, praised Frank Tiffany for his record at North Chicago and hailed him as a worthy successor of his brother.

A third brother, Clayton, is chief of police at Mundelein.

LEAD OF LEWIS MOUNTS ABOVE 720,000 MARK

Democratic. In the coal fields of southern Illinois, the majorities went to Mr. Lewis.

Madison and St. Clair counties, with 300,000 population, the largest outside the Chicago region, where liquor and unemployment were the issue, went to Lewis. Peoria, home of the distilleries of pre-Volstead days, where business conditions and unemployment played a strong part in the election, registered a majority of 8,901 for Lewis.

All the Peoria precincts except three went Democratic. Peoria county gave a 10,000 Lewis majority, the largest ever given a Democratic candidate for any office in that county.

Northern Counties Turn.

In the northern tier of counties, strongly Republican normally, Lewis carried some, while in others Mrs. McCormick had reduced pluralities. Winnebago, the old G. O. P. standby, which Hoover carried by 25,000, went Republican by a comparatively small majority.

Kane, Kendall, Du Page, Lake, La Salle, Lee, and Will were among counties where farm relief, jobs, economic depression and prohibition were stressed and which went Democratic.

On the east side of the state, where prohibition and Hoover farm relief were hammered on by the Democrats, Edgar and Vermilion counties, which voted dry in 1926, gave a lead to Lewis on a dripping wet plank.

In central Illinois counties like Livingston, Logan, Macon and Piatt went Democratic—here farm conditions and prohibition were pounded upon as issues. In the incomplete tables, McLean county, largest of the counties, and one of the three birthplaces of the Republican party [at Bloomington], gives a Lewis lead.

Down in Egypt, where Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Lewis each spent two weeks of strenuous campaigning, farm conditions and the wet and dry issue were the main themes. This part of Illinois was the hardest struck by the drought. The Democrats kept talking to farm audiences of "Hoover relief," and on Tuesday most of the counties went Democratic.

VICTORY MEANS 1932 ADVANTAGE FOR ROOSEVELT

New York Astonished at His Strength.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned to Albany today as one of the outstanding figures of the Democratic party and New York continued to rub its eyes in amazement at the unprecedented plurality of 725,109 votes he piled up to defeat his Republican rival, Charles N. Tuttle, in yesterday's gubernatorial race.

The flood of votes which swept the entire Democratic state ticket into office by undreamed of majorities, however, failed to turn the legislature over to Democratic control. The Republicans will retain their power in both houses, but by reduced majorities. In the state senate they will have only one vote to spare.

Makes Political History.

Gov. Roosevelt's boom for President became tonight a concrete reality as he stepped far out in front of rivals for the 1932 nomination. New York's new "happy warrior" left the city this afternoon "eager to get to work" and frankly admitting his surprise at the size of his victory.

Rock-ribbed Republican counties—districts that never before gave a Democrat a plurality—voted for Gov. Roosevelt. Never before in the history of the state has a Democratic governor won so decisively and never has a Republican candidate for governor received such a crushing defeat.

How New York Voted.

A tabulation of the vote for governor, four upstate precincts missing, follows:

Borough.	Roosevelt. [D.]	Tuttle. [R.]
Manhattan	348,191	96,334
Bronx	177,316	50,876
Brooklyn	373,628	139,906
Queens	160,963	77,034
Richmond	27,570	12,557
City totals compl.	936,665	369,707
City plurality	536,958	.....
*Outside N. Y. City	843,535	674,294
*Upstate plurality	168,241	.....
*Grand total	1,709,190	1,044,001
*Total plurality	725,109	.....

*Four upstate precincts missing.

Until yesterday former Gov. Alfred E. Smith held the record as a Democratic vote getter but now Roosevelt has demonstrated a stronger and more uniform grip upon New York state, rural and metropolitan.

Not only was the election a great personal victory for Gov. Roosevelt but it was a Tammany tidal wave in New York City.

Mr. Tuttle's sole issue of judicial corruption apparently fell on deaf ears, demonstrating that graft is not always a compelling issue unless sustained by convictions.

Dr. Robert Paris Carroll, dry candidate for governor and professor at Syracuse university, cut into the Tuttle vote upstate and received approximately 180,000 ballots, which was at least 50,000 more than any of the Republicans had expected.

Out of the huge Roosevelt victory there emerged today several paradoxical exceptions. Mrs. Ruth B. Pratt, Republican, was reelected to congress by 621 votes, defeating her Tammany rival, Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky, and Heywood Broun, Socialist, who polled 6,862 votes. Representative Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican, was reelected by 1,400 votes, and in Westchester Charles D. Millard won his fight.

ROOSEVELT WINS NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES AS WELL AS ELECTION

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Victory at the polls was not the only triumph Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was enjoying today.

He won the press pool, made up by more than 20 newspaper men who accompanied him on his campaign, the winner to be the man who guessed nearest to what his plurality would be.

His guess was the highest of them all. It was 437,000.

"And the prize," he said today with a broad grin, "is a new suit of clothes—from London."

Cronson Is Chosen Head of Council Committee

Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] was named yesterday by the city council as chairman of the committee on efficiency, economy and rehabilitation to fill the vacancy created last year by the death of Ald. Max Adamowski. The appointment was made on the recommendation of the committee on committees and forestalled action by members of the efficiency committee to elect their own chairman."

ROB EIGHT IN HOTEL RAID.

Three thieves early yesterday morning entered the Charlevoix hotel, 6313 University avenue, herded eight persons into an elevator cage and robbed them of $300. The victims included R. V. Welty, assistant manager, and Ben Gold, part owner.

13 LOCAL BOND ISSUES WIN BY VOTE OF 2 TO 1

$14,000,000 Game and Fish Fund Also O. K.'d.

All of the 13 local bond issues, totaling $28,520,000, which were submitted to the voters on Tuesday, were approved by larger majorities than any bond issues have received in Chicago in the last five years. Most of the bond issues won by about two to one—some running at a higher ratio and some at a lower.

Even the state bond issue for $14,000,000 to provide state game, fish and forest preserves, appears to have won in the entire state by a majority of about 48,000. Chicago voted for it vigorously, although the country towns in Cook and the counties downstate generally registered against it.

Lincoln Park Bonds Win.

The Lincoln park bond issue of $3,000,000 for the extension of the filled-in land north of Montrose avenue also won, by a vote of 78,116 to 27,555.

The annexation of the village of Beverly was given unstinted approval in Chicago, with 384,969 for it and only 121,505 against it. The village of less than 300 residents desired admission.

The public policy question of whether the city council shall pass an ordinance providing for filtration of the water supply was carried by a vote of more than two to one. The figures are 423,942 for the filtration and 194,889 against it.

The amendments adopted by the last legislature to the state banking laws were approved by a large margin in Cook county, but downstate the incomplete returns showed them running behind. However, they were expected to win by a margin of about 120,000.

ROBSION 30,000 VOTES BEHIND IN KENTUCKY SENATORIAL CONTEST

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP)—With all indications that eight out of eleven of the Kentucky congressional delegation in the next house would be Democratic, the fate of the senatorial race hung in the balance tonight pending more complete returns from three Republican strongholds.

Judge M. M. Logan, Democrat, piled up a 30,000 lead over Senator John M. Robsion for the long term on reports from 2,394 out of 4,155 precincts, and Ben Williamson, on 2,310 precincts, had 137,261 to 149,606 for Robsion in the short term contest.

There were still to come returns from 946 of the 1,499 precincts in the Fifth, Tenth and Eleventh districts, all normally Republican by big majorities.

STATES VOTE 300 MILLION BONDS; BEAT 37 MILLION

Ballots Show Citizenry Inclined to Spend.

[By the Associated Press.]

The expenditure of more than 300 million dollars in state and municipal construction programs appears to have been approved at Tuesday's election. But while some of the voters were thus endorsing bond issues for that sum, others defeated proposals to assume $37,000,000 indebtedness for similar work.

The largest issue which apparently carried was in New Jersey, where $53,000,000 is to be spent on highways, $7,000,000 for water district improvements and $10,000,000 on public institutions.

Louisiana Plunges.

Louisiana approved constitutional amendments including issuance of $75,000,000 bonds by the state against anticipated gasoline taxes for 25 years for road building; $5,000,000 for a new state house, and a $4,000,000 issue with which New Orleans will refinance itself.

County and city issues at Cleveland for about $40,000,000 worth of street, sewer and river betterments were reported to have substantial majorities.

Other Successful Issues.

Other issues which seem to have passed are: New York state, $50,000,000, some for public institutions; Chicago and Cook county, $38,250,000, street work, playgrounds and water filtration; Baltimore, $16,000,000, paving and other improvements; San Francisco, $850,000, jail; Wyoming, $2,500,000, roads; Oregon, $155,000, bridge.

Voters seemed to have rejected $19,300,000 for power projects and sewers in Los Angeles; also $16,000,000 for an Arizona highways, $5,200,000 for an airport and an incinerator at San Francisco; $1,675,000 for public improvements in Washington and $1,250,000 for Oregon water front improvements.

Three large bond issues were approved by the voters in California. They voted for an issue of $35,000,000 to finance the construction of a bridge across the Golden Gate; $20,000,000 to finance the purchase of farms by world war veterans, and $10,000,000 for improvement of San Francisco harbor.

Beaten G. O. P. Candidate Turns Democrat and Wins

Shenandoah, Ia., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Unsuccessful in his attempt to amble across the finish line in the primary astride the Republican elephant, Frank Coykendall, "dirt farmer," clambered aboard the Democratic donkey and won a race.

Coykendall, running for the state senate from the Page-Fremont county district, was defeated in the Republican primary. Switching to the Democratic ticket, he was elected yesterday over D. L. Wilson, Republican nominee, by 1,300 votes.

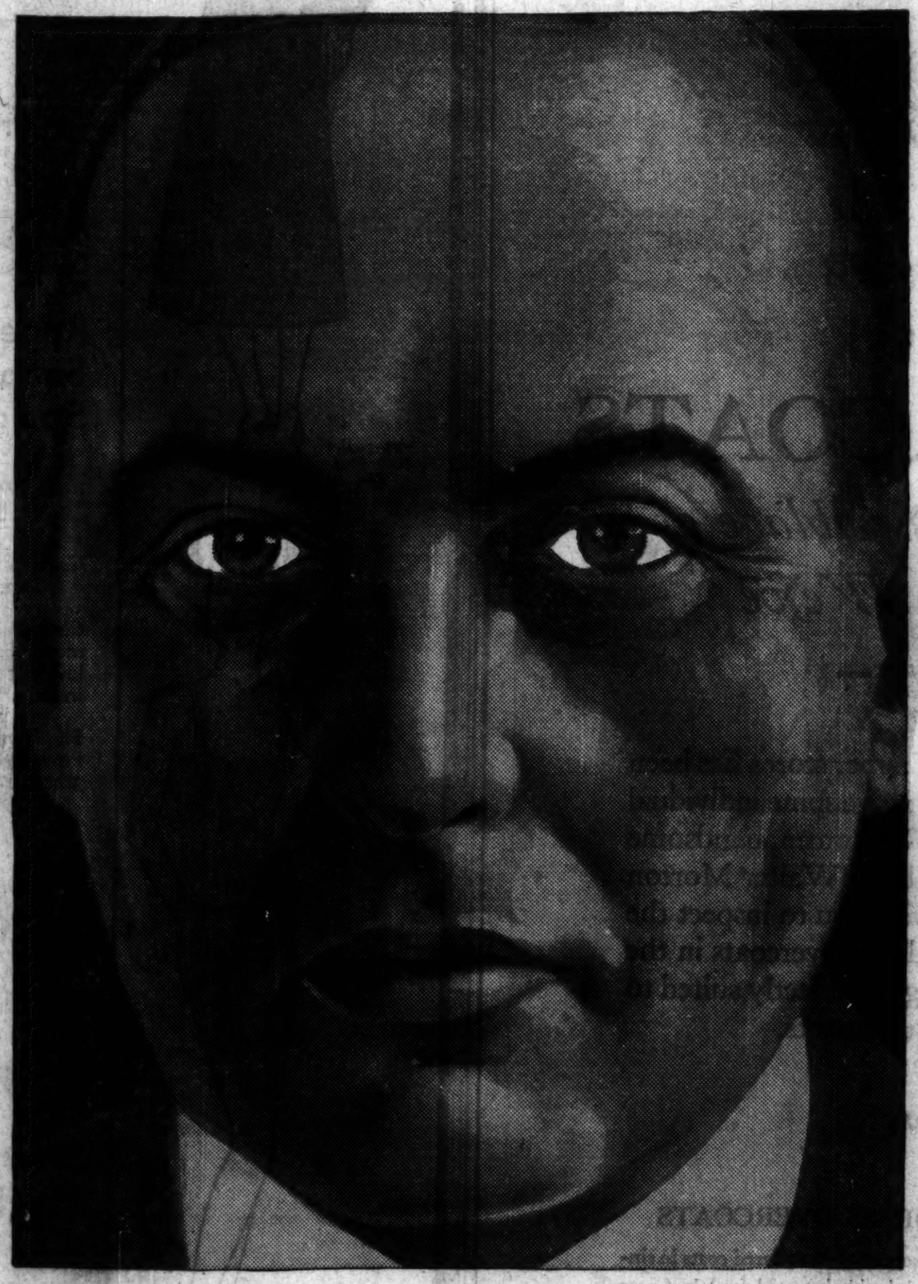
"A GREAT PROJECT"



Says

Dr. CHARLES EDGAR ALBRIGHT

Outstanding insurance man of the Middle West, and a leader in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.; member of Executive Committee and Board of Directors, Allis Chalmers Co.

"While I am not a smoker and have never used tobacco in any form, I am willing to venture an opinion that, in my humble judgment, one of the most vital factors in personal as well as industrial success is enthusiasm. That implies a firm belief in the merits of your commodity. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobacco is a splendid example of enthusiasm directed towards a great project."

Dr. Charles E. Albright

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

"It's toasted"

PINCHOT WINS BY 68,000 VOTES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Republicans Lose Four Congress Seats.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Gifford Pinchot, dry radical Republican, was elected governor of Pennsylvania by a majority of approximately 68,000 votes over his Democrat-liberal opponent, John M. Hemphill, according to tonight's tabulation. Sweeping the upstate counties in yesterday's election, he overcame a majority of 217,460 which Philadelphia gave his wet opponent.

James J. Davis, secretary of labor in the Hoover cabinet, was elected to the United States senate by a plurality of more than 700,000 votes over Sedgwick Kistler, Democrat.

All other Republican state candidates were elected.

Late returns, still incomplete early tonight, indicated the solid Republican delegation which Pennsylvania has sent to Washington for many years was broken, four Democrats being elected to the house.

It was Joseph R. Grundy who stepped into the breach and saved Mr. Pinchot from defeat. Mr. Grundy, whose prestige as a state leader suffered severely by his defeat for the nomination for senator in the spring primary, saw in Mr. Pinchot the instrument by which he could rehabilitate himself in the leadership. So he backed the Pinchot cause and with his state-wide organization became the backbone of the Pinchot campaign.

G. O. P. Swamped in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—General economic conditions resulting from the business depression and the drought were held responsible today by United States Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch and Gov. Myers Y. Cooper for the Democratic landslide which carried them to defeat yesterday.

The wave of votes that swept Robert J. Bulkley, a Democrat, into the senatorial seat and George White, Democrat, into the governor's chair, apparently carried with it the lieutenant governorship, probably both branches of the state legislature and numerous county offices which now are held by Republicans.

The vote on senator and governor in 8,431 precincts out of 8,985 in the state, was: Senator, Bulkley [Dem.], 969,604; McCulloch [Rep.], 821,848; governor, White [Dem.], 971,605; Cooper [Rep.], 865,776.

Nicholas Longworth had a narrow squeak, the unofficial count giving the speaker of the house of representatives a majority of only 3,101, compared to majorities that ran into five figures in previous contests.

Morrow's Lead Grows.

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—With a plurality which climbed slowly but steadily toward the 200,000 mark as the final returns were computed today, Dwight W. Morrow, wet and avowed champion of the administration of President Hoover, was elected New Jersey's junior United States senator.

Mr. Morrow had a plurality of 188,354 votes, with thirty-six of the 3,325 election districts still to be counted. His vote at that time was 578,781, while Alexander Simpson, his Democratic opponent, had polled 390,427 votes. Every county in the state save two gave Mr. Morrow a lead.

The Republicans were facing a possible loss of two congress seats tonight. In the state's twelve districts eight Republicans and two Democrats had been selected, but the result was in doubt in two districts. New Jersey's present congressional delegation consists of ten Republicans and two Democrats.

Butler Badly Beaten.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—With only 100 precincts out of the state's total of 1,649 missing, Marcus A. Coolidge, wet Democrat, was leading his dry Republican opponent, William M. Butler, by the comfortable margin of 114,862 votes tonight. Returns from 1,549 precincts gave Coolidge 605,118 and Butler 490,255 votes.

The same precincts gave Joseph B. Ely, Democratic candidate for governor, also committed to dry law repeal, 565,298 votes to the 537,986 recorded for Gov. Frank G. Allen, Republican. Ely's lead thus far stood at 27,312.

Returns from 1,533 precincts on the referendum for repeal of the so-called "baby Volstead act," officially known as the state enforcement law, gave 591,004 votes for repeal and 333,991 against—a wet majority of 258,013.

PLEAS FOR PAROLE OF THREE ATTACKERS OF GIRL ARE FILED

Petitions for parole for Leonard Rich, Stanley Hurt, and Emmerson Wilson, serving terms at Pontiac reformatory for criminally attacking Miss Dorothy Westervelt, a student at the Northern Illinois Teachers' college at DeKalb in 1926, were filed before a sectional meeting of the board of pardons and paroles at Pontiac yesterday. The board will pass on the petitions after a hearing in Springfield on Nov. 17.

The three have served one-third of their imposed sentences of 13 years. The petitions were supported by the personal appearance of the parents of the youths. The meeting of the board in the reformatory was attended by Col. W. E. Buehler and Mrs. Agnes McCarthy, both of Chicago, and Andrew Russell of Jacksonville.

On two previous occasions petitions have been filed in behalf of the three prisoners. The application was denied each time when Miss Westervelt and the law enforcement committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs protested against their release. The federation is opposing the present move for clemency.

FOUR WOMEN ON COUNTY BOARD SET PRECEDENT

The election made political history in the affairs of women when four of them were elected to the county board, three as city commissioners and one from the country towns. This number on the board sets a precedent. All are considered experts on social questions and have had long experience in humanitarian work.

They are: Miss Amelia Sears, in social work for 30 years and an official of the United Charities; Miss Mary McEnerney, leader in women's labor union affairs and a member of various governmental commissions; Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, a social worker interested in legislation affecting working conditions and Mrs. Edward J. Flemming of Evanston, long a student of social and humanitarian problems.

A committee of women from all parties supported them and declared their experience fitted them for participation in the humanitarian work of the board.

PLAIN DRINKING WATER FINE TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Add a spoonful Jad Salts to first glass before breakfast to clear intestines of poisons that may pass from intestinal tract to kidneys and invite trouble.

If you have miserable pains in your back, or strained feeling, don't jump to the conclusion you have a bad kidney ailment and start dosing yourself with a lot of medicine. Plain water is the best diuretic—the best flusher of the kidneys you can find.

Drink a full glass one-half hour before breakfast to which you've added a spoonful of ordinary Jad Salts. The water will flush the kidneys. The Jad Salts will cleanse the intestines of the dangerous toxins of Systemic Poisoning which are probably the real cause of those back pains.

According to recent discoveries of able men of science, these toxins frequently pass from the lower intestines to the kidneys, causing pus formations and pain—and inviting trouble. Get them out of your system and chances are those pains you've diagnosed as "kidney pains" will go like magic. You'll feel a general easing up, less of that horribly tired and strained feeling at your back. You'll feel more snappy and alert than perhaps for years.

You can get the Jad Salts at any sober drug store. Just ask for ordinary Jad Salts. Take as suggested above. Also drink two glasses of plain water between every two meals and at bedtime. Then if your "kidney pains" are not completely gone in six days or less, see a good doctor. Try this simple way today. You'll be glad that you did.

SCHALL GAINS AND MAY WIN OUT IN MINNESOTA

Democrats Gain Congress Seats in Middle West.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Belated country returns tonight whittled away the lead of Einar Holdale, Democrat, over Senator Thomas D. Schall and bore out today's indication that "Blind Tom" would be returned to his seat in the United States senate.

The lead of Holdale, which at one time today was 26,000 ahead of Senator Schall, tonight had fallen back to 6,737 votes, this with 2,968 of the state's 3,705 precincts in.

For the 2,968 precincts the vote stood Holdale, 235,235, and Schall, 231,498. Ernest Lundeen had fallen back to 138,675.

The remaining 737 precincts, mostly in the northern part of the state, were expected to go strongly to Schall.

Representatives in congress remained undetermined in the ninth and tenth districts as slow returns from rural sections were delayed. In the tenth, Erling Swenson, incumbent, in 280 of 315 precincts had 32,973, and Godfrey Goodwin, 32,454. C. G. Selvig, Republican incumbent, held a lead in the Tenth district, but missing precincts were regarded as the stronghold of Knud Wefald, Farmer-Laborite. Returns from 463 of 549 precincts gave Selvig 33,363, and Wefald, 28,476. Minnesota's other eight representatives, seven Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite, were reëlected.

Steck Beaten Decisively.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Senator Dan F. Steck, Ottumwa, Democrat, who six years ago won his seat in a contest with Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, was defeated in Tuesday's election by L. J. Dickinson, by a majority passing 75,000.

F. D. Letts, Davenport, went down before Ben M. Jacobson, Democrat, who amassed a lead of 6,000.

Gov. Elect Dan W. Turner and a staff of Republican state officials swept into their positions two to one.

Kansas Race Close.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 5.—(AP)—The fluctuating lead in the Kansas governorship race tonight became a margin of 285 for Frank Haucke, Republican, on the basis of returns from 2,636 of 2,674 precincts. Haucke had 213,000 votes; Harry Woodring, Democrat, 212,015.

Gain Two in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Four Democrats and two Republicans will represent Nebraska in congress.

In the senatorial contest 1,915 precincts of 2,040 in the state gave Senator Norris, Republican, a lead of nearly 70,000 over Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Democrat. The same precincts gave for governor: Bryan, 207,572; Weaver, 200,222.

Democratic in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Colorado has given an emphatic plurality to Edward P. Costigan, Democratic senatorial candidate, and a third term to Gov. William H. Adams, also a Democrat.

Costigan, former member of the federal tariff commission, defeated George H. Shaw, Republican. The count, 1,520 precincts out of 1,582 in the state, gave: Costigan, 172,243; Shaw, 132,155.

Gov. Adams smothered Robert F. Rockwell, Republican, by a plurality of more than 69,000 votes out of 309,000 cast for the office. All congressional incumbents were reëlected.

Gain Six Congressmen in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Missouri contributed a gain of six seats to the Democratic ranks in the national house of representatives in yesterday's election, unofficial returns today disclosed.

8 ALDERMEN WIN NEW JOBS; CAN THEY KEEP BOTH?

Eight members of the city council yesterday were pondering their legal status as aldermen following their election on Tuesday to state, county, and sanitary district offices. Seven of them take office early in December and, it was pointed out, if they are compelled to abandon their aldermanic standing seven wards will be left without representation and five council committee chairmanships will become vacant.

The aldermen and the offices to which they were elected are William D. Myering [8th], sheriff; Thomas F. Byrne [18th], sanitary trustee; Dennis A. Horan [21st], sanitary trustee; A. J. Horan [29th], bailiff Municipal court; Joseph B. McDonough [13th], county treasurer; T. J. Bowler [4th], sanitary trustee; George M. Maypole [28th], state senator, and George Seif [35th], clerk Criminal court.

Ald. McDonough, chairman of the local transportation committee, is also chairman of the committee on committees and rules which is responsible for the organization of the council.

All of the aldermen expressed a willingness to remain in the council until their successors are elected in February. They mentioned that they would be willing to forego pay or to give their checks to charity.

1928 AND 1930.

The results of Tuesday's elections were predetermined by the character and consequences of the election two years ago. Then Mr. Hoover won over an opposition which proved to be astonishingly weak. The Democratic party went to pieces, ripped and fragmented by sectarian bitterness and sectional prejudices. Strange states came into the Republican column and in the Republican ranks the radicals and nonconformists were accepted in leadership.

The legend of Mr. Hoover's uniqueness in American political life was enhanced by the prodigy of his great vote, and a nation which was in the full swing of what it considered an assured prosperity settled back to watch this prosperity grow under a great executive.

Mr. Hoover and his advisers looked at the election returns and came to some conclusions. They decided to reorganize the party under the tutelage of Bishop Cannon for the further conquest and occupation of the Democratic south; to make it the party of Georgia and South Carolina, of the hills and the swamps, the Klux, the fundamentalists, the primitives, and the holy rollers. Bishop Cannon, for this purpose, was invested with authority and sat at the right hand. Further it was decided to make the Republican party the party of Bryan, dry with all the teeth of prohibition in it, pacifist and internationalist and economically satisfactory to the radicals who are elected as Republicans and conduct themselves as Bryanistic Democrats. Mr. Borah was allowed to call an extra session for farm relief, including the tariff. Mr. Cannon was given a commission to think up more ways of making the Volstead act obnoxious to the citizens. The reorganization of the party was under way and the country was just ready to step into its big stock market smashup.

Mr. Hoover was not responsible for the disillusionment of American business men as to the new era and its permanence, but when the illusion cracked he had nothing in his medicine chest for it. Another man might not have had, but another man would not have had the handicap of a reputation for miracles. And another man might not have had his party so far away from its home.

When economic grief came down upon the administration it was carrying the banner of Bryan and following his lead into pacifism, prohibition, internationalism, and economic folly. Bryan himself had carried that banner three times in a national election and had been defeated, but Mr. Hoover, elected by the votes which always had defeated Bryan, seized the fallen standard and raised it over the astonished Republican states to attract their natural political enemies, the southern Democrats. It was an early and a true prophecy that, whatever Mr. Hoover and Bishop Cannon did to make the south Republican, they would certainly make the north Democratic.

The administration pursued its policies. The naval conference, which under Coolidge had refused to subordinate the American navy to a British program of sea power, under Hoover made the surrender and suppressed naval protests, while the moralists whipped the treaty through the senate.

Mr. Wickersham's prohibition commission, confronted by criminal conditions under the Volstead act disturbing to the entire country and naturally derived from the character of the law itself, gave its blessing to the noble experiment and proposed more ways of putting more citizens in the penitentiaries already with cracked walls from the pressure within.

Mr. Borah had engineered the special session which immediately ran wild, with Mr. Borah himself prodding it into wider capers. The farmers who were to get tariff relief, with other assistance, looked at the legislative and administrative acts and got madder. The administration, reaching into the air for ideas, did what Bryan would have put away from him, sent the government into speculation on the board of trade, and it had just the luck which could be expected of a government operation which never had a chance.

With the recession from the phenomenon of prosperity and confidence in full ebb, the administration suffered from a reinflation of the legend that it was peculiarly equipped for the emergency. It was soon found that bureaucracy is never fitted for any emergency.

By this time all confidence in the great Republican states had been withdrawn from an administration of pacifism and prohibition harried by southern zealots and northern radicals. It was not likely that these states would follow Bishop Cannon and the shade of Bryan into the desert with an appetite for the barbed wire of bigotry and the empty shells of economic futility.

Disappointed and angered, the Republican states turned on the Republican party. Illinois is wet and Democratic. New York is wet and Democratic. Massachusetts is wet and Democratic. Ohio, home of the Anti-Saloon league and mother of Republican Presidents, is wet and Democratic. Rhode Island is wet and Republican. New Jersey is Republican because Dwight Morrow is wet.

These are the consequences prepared by the election two years ago and the administration can observe the facts and take stock of the causes and consequences.

MODIFY THE VOLSTEAD ACT—NOW.

If there ever was any doubt of the strength of the sentiment in this country against prohibition, that doubt may be dismissed. The referenda in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, as in Illinois, went overwhelmingly against Volsteadism. Ohio elected a wet senator, and Ohio is the home of the Anti-Saloon league. The rural districts in Illinois, long presumed to be securely dry, were only less wet than the cities. Of the eight or nine Democrats believed at this writing to have been elected to the United States senate six are wet and they will replace dry Republicans. In the lower house of congress the wets have gained 40 seats. In Illinois the Anti-Saloon league has been proved to be of negligible significance politically.

We do not assume for a moment that the only issue in the election was prohibition, but it cannot be denied that prohibition was a leading issue, and that the only conspicuous dry success was that of Gov. Pinchot in Pennsylvania. And in Pennsylvania the election of a Democrat approaches the unthinkable.

The record stands to reinforce the poll of public opinion taken last spring by the Literary Digest. The national Republican party is doomed if it continues to be dry. Sentiment is running strong in the opposite direction. In the more populous states—New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Ohio, and even Pennsylvania—Republicans can win if at all only in spite of the dryness of their party leaders, not because of it. A national party cannot rule for long without support in these states.

It follows that the Republican party is on the skids unless its national leaders grasp the significance of the vote and act accordingly. If the Republican administration will take steps at once to modify the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine in states which want beer and wine, the party can avoid disintegration and recover the ground it has held by constructive Republican policies. Four or five per cent beer in fact is not intoxicating in any sensible interpretation of the eighteenth amendment. If sale is permitted, a market will be opened for some of the farmers' surplus grain, the public irritation at governmental intrusion in personal affairs will be reduced, employment will be increased, and a new source of revenue to the national and local governments will be created. Bootlegging as a huge industry, with all the corruption it has entailed, will tend to disappear. The Republican party can be rehabilitated if it will grasp this opportunity, and we believe most observers will agree that it can be rehabilitated only if it will grasp this opportunity.

Fortunately for the President, his most notable utterance on prohibition makes this course consistent. He called prohibition an experiment. An experiment it was, but it differed from laboratory experiments in that it was conducted under the eyes of millions of observers. It was intended to prove that the traffic in liquor could be suppressed by law and that the nation would be vastly benefited by the suppression. The overwhelming judgment of observers, particularly in the more enlightened areas of the country, is that the traffic in liquor has not been suppressed, that the evils associated with that traffic have continued, and that they have been augmented by others of a more serious character. Disrespect for law, gang murders, extraordinary corruption, and the degradation of the public services have been fostered by prohibition all over the country, and especially in the cities. The experiment has been conducted for ten years, and each year its results have departed farther from the expectations of those who planned it. There is no point in continuing an experiment indefinitely when its results are so evident.

SHOW-DOWN.

Mayor Thompson's activities in the political campaign just concluded were restricted to two objects: He sought the election of Maj. Carlos Ames as sheriff; and he sought to induce the colored voters in the south side wards to vote for Col. Lewis against Mrs. McCormick.

Maj. Ames appears to have been among the most soundly defeated candidates on the Republican ticket. The three wards in Chicago which Mrs. McCormick carried, and she won them by substantial majorities, were precisely the south side wards in which Mr. Thompson was supposed to have great strength.

The Republican defeat in Cook county must be attributed to a number of causes, but certainly not the least of them is the ill repute which the party has gained because of Mayor Thompson's conduct of his office. He is a load no party can carry. Even the colored voters, his most loyal followers of other years, refused to obey him. In politics he has no asset value; he is 100 per cent liability. The sooner the Republican organization recognizes the fact, the better.

Editorial of the Day

WE POOR SINNERS.

[Danville, Ill., Commercial News.]

A ministerial association in a nearby city passed a resolution just recently in which it was declared that "This association publicly condemns the conducting of all business on Sundays in our city, except those of charity and necessity."

Resolutions against men's evil tendencies is about like attempting to sweep back the tides of the ocean. Laws may be enacted that will hold them within certain bounds, but more than that cannot be done. Men are as unruly as the ocean and the most that can be done with them is to utilize the good that is in them. There is some good in every human being, and rather than condemn a man and make an outlaw of him it were better to discover the good that is in him and turn it to some good account.

Ministerial associations sometimes are rather too free with resolutions of condemnation. Not that wrong should be condoned nor that sinners should escape proper punishment for their sins, but there is too much good material wrapped up in the skins of transgressors to condemn them as a whole and throw the bunch away. When Christ was upon earth he made use of such material as was at hand, and some of it would find a poor market today.

Human nature cannot be made over in a day, nor in all the time between the two eternities. Ministerial associations must take men as they are and make the most of them. Men will continue to do business on Sunday; they will continue to gamble and bet on ball games and do a thousand other things that a well-behaved preacher would not approve of. But there is and will be good in all of them and it is the task of ministerial associations to discover the good and develop and encourage it.

WHY THEY DRINK.

FOR years a very important controversy has been waging. The question is, Are men nutty because they drink, or do they drink because they are nutty? The answer seems to be—both. There is no question as to mental disturbances which result from alcoholism. These are several. As the result of somewhat acute intoxication we have acute alcoholism, mania a potu, delirium tremens, and some cases of Korsakoff's psychosis. Among the chronic effects are chronic alcoholism, some cases of Korsakoff, and various forms of alcoholic insanity.

On the other hand, it is pretty well established that when a person becomes a drunkard some mental or moral perversion lies back of his habit. Among the social causes of drunkenness which register on personality, and which prepare the ground for alcohol addiction, Dr. Hart gives the following: Constitutional instability in the family stock, particularly if in the family there has been parental discord, alcoholism, want of discipline and lack of sensible direction in childhood; pampering, particularly if the person is an only child; being ill adjusted to life; cyclothymic makeup, or personality. He says: "Because of its emotional significance alcoholism cannot be regarded as a disease such as typhoid fever or pneumonia, which runs its course and from which the patient is glad to recover.

"On the other hand, the personality type among which alcoholic addiction is most apt to develop is one which craves to make use of the alcoholic solace because it is, for him, a desirable release from a feeling of inadequacy. It is not easy to find a satisfactory substitute for this means of release, and release he feels he must have. Curing a person of the alcohol habit is an emotional and moral problem."

Getting the drug out of the system is a fairly easy matter. Making the patient temporarily dislike his drink and causing him to vomit when he smells or tastes it is fairly easy. The difficult part of the job of breaking the whisky habit is in changing the personality, the emotional and mental makeup which underlies the habit.

WARTS IN COMMUNITY.

D. K. C. writes: What is the cause of warts on the face? Are they contagious or could they be communicated from one person to another who patronizes the same barber? Are they caused from close shaving? Can they be cured? Would you recommend burning them off with an acid or a medicine? I have been troubled with warts on my face recently. I had one removed by acid, but I think that it is coming back. I also have one on my hand.

I know quite a few men in this community who are troubled with warts, and that is the reason I asked if they could be carried from one to another.

REPLY.

It may be that all warts are due to microbes of one sort. Certainly many of them are. Those that are due to microbes are contagious. Doubtless they are spread at times by shaving. Warts are to be burned off. There is chance for choice of method. They will not return if well burned and if the cause is obviated.

HEAD NOISES.

Mrs. L. M. S. writes: Is there a cure for head noises? Mine came from taking medicine containing salicylic acid. I have no catarrh nor high blood pressure; my health is good; there is nothing wrong with the ear drums and my hearing is good.

REPLY.

Why not train yourself to disregard these noises? It can be done. It is the easiest, cheapest, and best cure. Dr. Osler wrote an essay on getting used to certain diseases and disorders. This is one that he had in mind.

IT WILL NOT MATTER.

B. B. writes: Does strenuous work or play, such as football, affect astigmatism?

REPLY.

No.

WRITTEN AGREEMENT CONTROLS.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — Bought a car with the understanding it could be returned within thirty days if not satisfactory. Before the thirty days expired the company received a roadster at another store and sent us to see it, which we liked a great deal better. The understanding was they would allow us on the second car the full amount paid on the first, namely, $72. The second car was $350 with $70 carrying charges. Have receipts for $420 paid, but the finance company is suing for $72 more, allowing us $1 for the first car. The bill does not show $1 taken off, it being added in the bill of sale as a matter of form only, they explained to us, but the $1 equity was written on the bill of sale after we were through signing. What chance have we in court?

R. H.

We see no reason why the written agreement should not control.

OLD THEATER BUILDING.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—In the 1300 block on East 75th street there is a building which, until early this summer, was used as a motion picture theater. Both front doors and all the windows were destroyed by vandals. Every girl who passes there is afraid of the place. Please see what you can do to have this barricaded.

T. M. Q.

The owner was notified about one month ago to board up all openings in the old theater building on East 75th street, but as he is a resident of California no results have as yet been obtained. However, the agents are arranging to have the work done.

BLOWING OFF STEAM.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there any way of compelling a landlord to fix the boiler so it will not blow off steam at all hours of the day or night? The steam comes out of a broken window in the basement under my infant's window and pours into his window. Besides, the noise is very loud.

V. M.

We understand that the commissioner of health has acted effectively on some such cases. We suggest that you take the matter up with him.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gaps fall where they may. R. M.

GOSH!

As the final returns seep in it now appears that Madagascar, New Zealand, Tasmania, Newfoundland, and Southern France have gone Democratic. . . . Three towns in Kansas that have been voting for Abraham Lincoln since the civil war have gone solidly Democratic. . . . It is reported that Heywood Broun, who ran on the Socialist ticket, will turn all three of the votes he got over to the Democrats so as to make it unanimous. . . . It is rumored that a Republican was elected town constable somewhere in Illinois and is being heavily guarded by the national guard and state troops until the excitement dies down and it will be safe for him to go home. . . . Late news says that the Democrats are planning to build extensions on the senate chamber and the house of representatives so that all the Democratic senators and congressmen can have seats. The Republicans will hold their sessions in one of the telephone booths. . . . It is understood that the Democratic national committee has asked the Republican national comittee if it still intends to run a ticket in 1932, or if it concedes defeat now so that there will be no necessity for a presidential campaign at that time. . . . The proposition to change the name of Pennsylvania avenue to Thomas Jefferson street is gaining ground. . . . It appears that everybody voted for Franklin Roosevelt down in New York, including the Republican candidates and the New York Herald Tribune. . . . Another bill that will be introduced soon after the Democrats move into Washington will be a proposal to drop the national hymn, "Oh say, can you see?" and replace it with "The Sidewalks of New York." . . . Late dispatches say that Canada, Mexico, and Patagonia are included in the Democratic landslide. . . . A man in Massachusetts claiming to have been elected keeper of the dog pound on the Republican ticket has been sent to a psychopathic hospital for observation. . . .

FALLEN AGAIN.

(FOR HARRY.)

I've searched the seven seas for you
And China and Japan,
The very years I've tiptoed down
To find a certain man.

And now that I have met you, dear,
I'm glad I've saved each kiss,
Lest when you start—a-counting them
Just one you'd chance to miss.

I'm glad that I've been true to you
And never tried to pen
The ardor in the fiery eyes
Of other handsome men.

I'm glad my lips are virgin lips—
So I can give to you
Unsullied loyalty and love
To last your lifetime through.

How well these words of mine ring out;
They amply have no fault
Except that words like these, big boy,
Need little grains of salt.

PROF. WALT PITKINS of Columbia says anybody of average intelligence can become a fast reader and read 130 books a year. But unless one wants to read what is contemptuously called old stuff (such as the classics and great books of yester-year), what to do when there aren't 130 books brought out each year that are worth reading.

THE GREAT OLD COMMONWEALTH of Illinoy, home of Lincoln and of Grant, by thy rivers gently flowing, Illinoy, Illinoy, having declared against the sacred 18th amendment, the Volstead act, and the state search and seizure law, please would it be all right if we let a gallon of real apple cider that we got as a present from somebody down state yesterday leaf around in our house until it gets hard enough to knock down a billy goat? Don't blame us, we're not doing it; it's nature. And one should not quarrel with good old Mother Nature. Ah, and indeed no, much better it will be when the cider gets hard to quaff it down with this quaint toast, "Hain't Nature grand!"

WE'RE BACK to normalcy! We tuned in on the radio yesterday morning to find out how many votes Heywood Broun had received in New York, if any, and heard a woman's mellow voice say, "The other half of the cucumber I save for next day and use it in a salad with onion, green pepper, and vinegar . . . stand by, ladies and gentlemen, we are now about to broadcast the correct time. . . . Honey, stay in your own back yard, don't mind wot the white folk say. . . ." Yes, dearies, the campaign is over.

THE COCK PHEASANT.

Gold in the stubble,
Blood-red the buck vine,
Proud struts the pheasant,
His world is like wine.

Flash in the sunlight,
Young brilliance in air,
Poised for a moment,
Then hurtling down there. . . .

Life, scintillating,
Meets skill, trained and cold,
Dark stains the stubble,
Where once it was gold.

THE ELECTION of Gifford Pinchot to the governor's job in Pennsylvania gave Wall street the chance to offer a new alibi for the new lows in the stock market yesterday. Well, well, doesn't Wall street want the Republicans to hate anything?

AND EVEN CAL COOLIDGE'S own home town, Northampton, Mass., went—well, one guess. But maybe they don't know in Northampton that Cal is a newspaper columnist and gets two bucks a word—they thought he was just an ex-President and didn't pay much attention to him. R. H. L.

THE WRECK OF 1930

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 6, 1914.

LONDON.—France followed the lead of Great Britain and last night declared war on Turkey.

PETROGRAD.—Everywhere except in South Poland the Germans have been beaten back to their own frontier and the Russian advance down the Vistula river has broken the resistance of the combined German and Austrian force, which must now retreat or be cut off.

LONDON.—The tide of war in Belgium has been flowing from the seashore toward the south for two days. The Germans have been directing fierce attacks against the allied lines, bringing up heavy reinforcements of first line troops from Ghent and Bruges and throwing them at once into the fighting.

CHICAGO.—Fourteen states now have laws prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages. These include four states added to the dry list as the result of Tuesday's election. They are Washington, Oregon, Colorado, and Arizona. The other states which now prohibit the sale of liquor are Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia.

CHICAGO.—While packers, commission men and state and government officials were considering quarantine orders, the epidemic of foot and mouth disease among cattle took on a more serious aspect. Cases were discovered in Wisconsin and Ohio, and those states were immediately quarantined.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 6, 1900.

NEW YORK.—Chief of Police Devery was indicted by the grand jury for felony because of an order he issued to his men to resist any interference by State Superintendent of Elections John McCullagh at the polls tomorrow and then by a lightning change the chief rescinded his order. The change was brought about by a letter from Gov. Roosevelt to Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck informing him that he would hold the mayor responsible for the chief's order.

CHICAGO.—The campaign of 1900 ended last night and today comes the voting. Vice Chairman Payne of the Republican national committee insisted McKinley and Roosevelt would get 294 electoral votes, while Chairman Jones of the Democratic national committee sticks to his claim of 266 votes for Bryan and Stevenson. The Chicago election commissioners, police, and deputy sheriffs are prepared to check any attempt at election frauds.

CHICAGO.—Clarence B. Beardsley, well known in the city's business circles, accidentally shot and killed his wife, Madge Bowker Beardsley, 22 years old, while showing her how to use a revolver he bought at her request as a protection against thieves.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 6, 1880.

NEW YORK.—At a meeting of the Tammany Hall general committee an address to the Democracy of the country was read claiming the defeat of Gen. Hancock by Gen. Garfield was due to fraud, intimidation, and the use of enormous sums of money by the Republicans.

WASHINGTON.—After March 4 the senate will be politically a tie if, as now seems probable, William Mahone, senator elect from Virginia, shall vote with the Republicans. If Tennessee, where the result is in doubt, should elect a Republican, there would be a majority without Mahone. In the house returns indicate the standing will be: Republicans, 152; Democrats, 135, and Greenbackers, 6.

NEW YORK.—The latest election returns here divide the electoral colleges as follows: Garfield and Arthur, 213; Hancock and English, 156. It is announced that the Democrats have carried California by a majority of 155 and Nevada by less than 500.

CHICAGO.—Archbishop Feehan will leave Nashville in time to take charge of the Chicago archdiocese by Oct. 20. The installation ceremonies will take place in the Cathedral of the Holy Name on Sunday, Nov. 21.

LONDON.—The score of the pedestrians in the Astley belt championship contest at midnight stood: Rowell, 492 miles; Littlewood, 428 miles, and Dobler of Chicago, 410 miles.

EXPLAINING THE RESULT.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—We have met the enemy and we are theirs. The inevitable has happened. Two causes are ascribed for Republican downfall: Depression with its affiliations, and prohibition. A depression can happen during regime of any party. This leaves prohibition the outstanding cause. Prohibition is the product of ill-advised, narrow-minded fanatics. We Republicans have aided, abetted, and fostered this prohibition. It has proved to be, in the minds of the masses, the curse of our country, a far from "noble" experiment. We have listened to and heeded the dictates of representatives of these fanatics. In many cases we have worn shackles forged by them, and we have been unable to shake them off. We have condoned the slaying of American citizens by freeing the killers through government intervention. We have complacently folded our hands and allowed inhuman laws to be written in the books, as the Jones law, if you please.

We have also heard, but not heeded, the mutterings of a discontented people [because of prohibition] throughout our nation. We just would not read the handwriting on the wall. I repeat, it was inevitable, this Republican defeat. It is to be hoped we have learned our lesson. The people, the masses, are the real rulers, and they will eventually come into their own. There is yet time to get back into the good graces of our people. It will not be, however, by the prohibition route, with fanatics as an advisory committee. We had better stop, look, and listen, and, above all, pay attention to the people's will.

STILL A REPUBLICAN.

FOR GUARANTEED JOBS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—I am a salesman selling direct to the consumer. I come in contact with several hundred people a day. The general reason for not buying is fear of losing job or position and holding on to every penny. Now if every employer would tell these people that as long as they were faithful and worked honestly, not trying to put something over, just so long their jobs would be safe, look at the money that would begin to circulate.

STEWART LEWIS.

COLLECTORS' ITEM.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—A few days ago I was looking through some old newspaper files at the public library and I noticed that THE TRIBUNE for Sunday, Oct. 4, 1896, on page 16 has the following headings at the top of the page:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE: Sunday, October 4, 1868—Fifty-two Pages."

Was the typesetter loony on that date?

J. B. S.

DRIVERS' LICENSES.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—I certainly am very much against the proposed license for drivers of motor cars, because it will be just another way of creating a lot of jobs for friends of politicians. True enough, it will not cost much to begin with, but wait until the jobholders want more graft; then it will be increased without the consent of the drivers.

A DRIVER.

SHORT SKIRTS IN CALIFORNIA.

Mill Valley, Cal., Nov. 1.—I noted in a recent issue of one of our papers here that you said that women were at present, as regards their long skirts, "play acting," but that there is a danger that the "play acting" feeling will pass insidiously into the normal or regular feeling for the long skirt.

My opinion is that this danger which confronts women is a very serious one. I dislike to say it, having a great sympathy with my sex as with humanity in general, but for the most part I think women are inevitably and incurably feeble-minded and weak and personal in their outlook on the world in general.

Such being the case it behooves men in high position [and who has more power in his own sphere than an editor?] to do what they can for women, just as we would all do what we could for children. You understand; protect the weak and so on.

Short skirts are one of the greatest boons that have ever come to the relief of the fairer portion of our race. If you lived in beautiful but hilly Marin county, Cal., you would realize the joy of freedom which women feel in their comparatively recently acquired clothes.

One instance alone I will give you. Climbing myself, I came suddenly on a woman just executing a lovely natural dance, like a Greek maiden of old, and my first thought was that she was a young woman. On coming closer I found that she was not far from 60. Would a woman of the Victorian era ever have dreamed of doing such a thing? No! She would be a drag on some poor man, whose only comfort for her general nuisance would be that it made him feel superior, clinging to him and pretending to be tired out, and so forth.

Please do what you can for us. Good heaven, the women seem not to be in enthusiastic about the wretched things out here, anyway.

JOAN WOODWARD.

SCHOOL EXPENSES.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The pupils of the Carl Schurz High school who are enrolled in dancing classes have been asked for a donation of $1 each to be used for the purpose of hiring a piano player. I don't know what good it does to teach dancing to high school pupils, but if the board of education finds it worth teaching dancing why do they fail to provide a pianist? Furthermore, it is a large amount of money for a pupil whose father is out of work, as I am. It seems as if there is no end to the expenses in sending children to high school. In the gymnasium a special suit is required in dancing a special costume, and in performing a special suit, etc. This is the high cost of education for poor people.

KARL KNOWLTON.

ELECTRIFICATION.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—At its last meeting this association went on record as favoring its moral support to any one that will enforce the electrification of all railroads entering the city of Chicago in the interest of good health and cleanliness, it is hoped that some such purpose will ultimately prove successful.

THE SMALL CAR

[Punch (Copyright).]

"You might bring me a couple of tire levers, please."
"Puncture, sir?"
"No. I can't get myself out of the car."

Cheer up! Our best times are still ahead of us!

The following, in its entirety, is here reprinted from Macaulay's Essay on Southey's Colloquies on Society, published in Edinburgh Review, January, 1830, and clearly shows, though written 100 years ago, that our best times are still ahead of us.

HISTORY is full of the signs of this natural progress of society. We see in almost every part of the annals of mankind how the industry of individuals, struggling up against wars, taxes, famines, conflagrations, mischievous prohibitions and more mischievous protections, creates faster than governments can squander, and repairs whatever invaders can destroy.

We see the capital of nations increasing and all the arts of life approaching nearer and nearer to perfection in spite of the grossest corruption and the wildest profusion on the part of rulers.

The present moment is one of great distress. But how small will that distress appear when we think over the history of the last forty years;—a war, compared with which, all other wars sink into insignificance;—taxation, such as the most heavily taxed people of former times could not have conceived;—a debt larger than all the public debts that ever existed in the world added together;—the food of the people studiously rendered dear;—the currency impudently debased, and improvidently restored.

Yet is the country poorer than in 1790? We fully believe that, in spite of all the misgovernment of her rulers she has been almost constantly becoming richer and richer. Now and then there has been a stoppage, now and then a short retrogression; but as to the general contingency there can be no doubt. A single breaker may recede; but the tide is evidently coming in.

If we were to prophesy that in the year 1930, a population of fifty millions, better fed, clad, and lodged than the English of our time, will cover these islands,—that Sussex or Huntingdonshire will be wealthier than the wealthiest parts of the West-Riding of Yorkshire now are,—that cultivation, rich as that of a flower-garden, will be carried up to the very tops of Ben Nevis and Helvellyn,—that machines, constructed on principles, yet undiscovered, will be in every house,—that there will be no highways but railroads, no travelling but by steam,—that our debt, vast as it seems to us, will appear to our great-grandchildren a trifling encumbrance, which might easily be paid off in a year or two,—many people would think us insane.

We prophesy nothing; but this we say — if any person had told the Parliament which met in perplexity and terror after the crash of 1720 that in 1830 the wealth of England would surpass all the wildest dreams, that the annual revenue would equal the principal of that debt which they considered an intolerable burden — that for one man of £10,000 then living, there would be five men of £50,000; that London would be twice as large and twice as populous and that nevertheless the mortality would have diminished to one-half what it then was,—that the post-office would bring more into the exchequer than the excise and customs had brought in together under Charles II,—that stage-coaches would run from London to York in twenty-four hours—that men would sail without wind, and would be beginning to ride without horses — our ancestors would have given as much credit to the prediction as they gave to Gulliver's Travels.

Yet the prediction would have been true; and they would have perceived that it was not altogether absurd, if they had considered that the country was then raising every year a sum which would have purchased the fee-simple of the revenue of the Plantagenets—ten times what supported the government of Elizabeth—three times what, in the time of Oliver Cromwell, had been thought intolerably oppressive. To almost all men the state of things in which they have been used to live seems to be the necessary state of things.

We have heard it said, that five percent is the natural interest of money, that twelve is the natural number of a jury, that forty shillings is the natural qualification of a county voter. Hence it is, that though, in every age, every body knows that up to his own time progressive improvement has been taking place, nobody seems to reckon on any improvement during the next generation.

We cannot absolutely prove that those are in error who tell us that society has reached the turning point—that we have seen our best days. But so said all who came before us, and with just as much apparent reason.

"A million a-year will beggar us," said the patriots of 1640.

"Two millions a-year will grind the country to powder," was the cry in 1660.

"Six millions a-year and a debt of fifty millions!" exclaimed Swift — "the high allies have been the ruin of us."

"A hundred and forty millions of debt!" said Junius — "well may we say that we owe Lord Chatham more than we shall ever pay, if we owe him such a load as this."

"Two hundred and forty millions of debt!" cried all the statesmen of 1783 in chorus—"what abilities, or what economy on the part of a minister, can save a country so burdened?" We know that if, since 1783, no fresh debt had been incurred, the increased resources of the country would have enabled us to defray that burden, at which Pitt, Fox and Burke stood aghast—to defray it over and over again, and that with much lighter taxation than what we have actually borne. On what principle is it, that when we see nothing but improvement behind us, we are to expect nothing but deterioration before us?

It is not by the intermeddling of Mr. Southey's idol—the omniscient and omnipotent State—but by the prudence and energy of the people, that England has hitherto been carried forward in civilization; and it is to the same prudence and the same energy that we now look with comfort and good hope.

Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the people by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties—by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment—by maintaining peace, by defending property, by diminishing the price of law, and by observing strict economy in every department of the state.

Let the Government do this—the People will assuredly do the rest."

This analysis of the business depression of 1830 with its prophecy for 1930 by the famous English essayist — Macaulay — was published recently by the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company of New York.

Macaulay's review and preview seems strikingly sound to us in Lord & Thomas and Logan as applied to the present business situation, so we reprint it hoping it may contribute to far-sighted thinking.

DEMOCRATS AND WETS REGISTER ASSEMBLY GAINS

Make Inroads on G. O. P. in Cook County.

New alignments are likely to be made in the next session of the state legislature with the Democrats and anti-prohibitionists wielding more power as a reward for their gains in Tuesday's election.

In the Cook county districts the Democrats won five senate seats from the Republicans and each of the new senators is pledged to seek repeal or modification of the state dry laws. The Democrats also gained several seats in the house of representatives and brought about the defeat of Calvin T. Weeks, dry representative in the Eleventh district who lost his seat to George A. Fitzgerald, a Democrat.

Loughran Defeats Starr.

The five new senate seats won by the Democrats in Cook county, giving them 11 of the 16 metropolitan seats instead of only 6, were gained in the 13th, 23d, 25th, 29th and 31st districts. In the 13th, Francis J. Loughran, a lawyer unseated Senator Harry W. Starr, Republican leader who prosecuted the investigation of the Chicago sanitary district.

One of the Republican upsets was the defeat of Senator Lowell B. Mason in the 23d district by William F. Gillmeister, an undertaker. Senator Mason lost by more than 5,000 votes, Gillmeister showing unusual strength in the city precincts while Mason ran well in the country towns. Mason had been involved in two liquor trials during his legislative career although he had been acquitted each time. He had a record as a dry voting legislator.

In the 25th district, the Democrats elected Frank J. Huckin Jr., defeating Oscar C. Johnson, Republican city hall man, by more than 20,000. Theodore R. Steinert, former senator for this district, was a Republican.

O'Grady Wins Joyce Seat.

The 29th district place left vacant by the sudden death of the late Senator John T. Joyce, Republican, was taken by Edward P. O'Grady, Democrat, known as the "Village Blacksmith," who rode the crest of the Democratic wave in a two to one victory over Charles E. Peace, lawyer and 42d ward Republican committeeman. O'Grady showed unexpected strength in defeating Peace, 7,799 to 3,428. Mrs. Joyce, widow of the late senator, who sought to take his place as an independent candidate, polled less than 1,000 votes. Edward (Piggy) Joyce, brother of Senator Joyce, who also entered the race, was given only a few score votes.

The contest in the Thirty-first district between Harold G. Ward, Democrat, and Senator Herman J. Haenisch, Republican, was closer, but Ward won by slightly more than 2,000 votes out of more than 50,000 cast. Ward is an attorney and world war veteran.

Roy Juul Is Defeated.

The Democrats also gained one of their seats in the house in the Thirty-first district where Representative Roy Juul, Republican, was unseated. Mason S. Sullivan and Pierce L. Shannon were the Democratic victors. Representative James J. McVicker, Republican, was reelected.

Another of the Democratic victories was in the Twenty-fifth district representative contest, in which Representative Rena Elrod, Republican woman legislator, lost her fight for reelection. Both Democratic candidates, Benjamin S. Adamowski and Raymond T. O'Keefe, won with large pluralities.

In the 7th district state representative race Representative William F. Propper, Republican nominee for reelection, was defeated by another Republican, Frank E. Foster, a Harvey attorney. Representative Emmett McGrath, the only Democratic candidate, led the field by more than two to one.

Representative Charles E. Marinier, Republican nominee for reelection in the 19th district, was defeated by Solomon P. Roderick, who formerly had served in the legislature. Both of the Democratic candidates, Representative John McSweeney and John O. Hruby, were elected by large margins.

There will be only two women members of the next legislature, Miss Josephine Perry from the 5th district and Anna Wilmarth Ickes in the 7th. They are Republicans.

DR. HUFF CHARGES EXTRAVAGANCE IN DIVORCE BATTLE

Dr. Logan B. Huff, president of the Aurora Serum company, yesterday filed an answer to his wife's divorce suit in Kane county Circuit court in which he denies her charges of cruelty and makes counter charges of extravagance.

Dr. Huff's answer says that shortly before she filed the suit last August she charged 30 pairs of silk stockings to him and he owes $3,500 to Aurora stores, "most of it for dresses and personal adornments" which Mrs. Huff purchased. He also contests her contention that their $17,500 home, which was held in Mrs. Huff's name, was a gift to her.

The couple were married in 1908.

Wife Sues to Divorce Printing Co. Official

William S. Tate, an official of a printing company, was sued for separate maintenance in the Circuit court yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Martha Tate, of 836 Mapleton avenue, Oak Park. Through her attorney, Robert Cantwell Jr., Mrs. Tate charged her husband with cruelty. She asks alimony, declaring that her husband has an income of $25,000 a year and owns property worth $100,000. The Tates were married on Aug. 1, 1909, and separated three days ago. They have three children.

G. O. P. Winner in Hawaii Dies in Bed After Landslide

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Nov. 5.—C. A Baggot, who led the winning Republican ticket in Kauai county, was found dead in bed this morning, after the election. Death came from heart failure. The Hawaii territory had a Republican landslide, in which Victor K. Houston was reelected to congress at Washington. Andy Yamashiro, a Democrat, was the first Japanese elected to the territorial house of representatives.

OBSTACLES MAY DELAY WOMEN BECOMING JURORS

Ponder on How Names Will Be Secured.

Although women will be eligible to serve on juries in Illinois as soon as the results of Tuesday's referendum vote, which resulted in an overwhelming victory for the proposition, are certified by the secretary of state, various obstacles were discovered yesterday which probably will delay the appearance of the first woman juror for some tim.

The first problem, it was pointed out, is to obtain the names of women for inclusion in the petit and grand jury lists.

State Representative Thomas P. Keane, a Chicago jury commissioner, explained that the names of men are obtained from the city directory, but that comparitively few names of women can be obtained that way or from the telephone directory.

Another difficulty was revealed by Joseph H. Barnett, also a jury commissioner, who pointed out that there is no provision for women bailiffs. It is believed that this problem can be overcome promptly, however, by appointments by the sheriffs of the various counties.

In Cook county, at least, there will be no problem of housing women members of juries, as the new criminal courts building was designed with separate sleeping quarters and other facilities in anticipation of the time when they would be granted to right to serve. The housing problem is expected to prove a serious one in some of the other counties.

There was much rejoicing over the victory at the Chicago headquarters of the Illinois League of Women Voters, which conducted an intensive campaign for seven months in behalf of the proposal.

Licensing of Auto Drivers Discussed by Traffic Men

State legislation requiring licenses for automobile drivers in Illinois and other midwestern states was discussed yesterday at the opening session of the north central regional traffic and aviation conference in the Palmer house. A resolution urging such legislation is expected to be included in the conclusions of the conference, which will be drafted today.

Nearly 200 traffic experts, airplane operators, and officials of commercial organizations are attending the conference, which is for the purpose of promoting uniform traffic laws for automobile and airplane transportation. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. States participating in the gathering are Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Favors Licensing Law.

The licensing of motorists was urged to facilitate better enforcement of traffic laws and regulations. W. R. Dawes, who presided at yesterday's meetings, expressed the belief that a licensing law would come before the next session of the Illinois legislature.

John R. Cautley, secretary of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, who spoke before the aviation section of the conference, urged the adoption of state programs for the development of airways similar to the state road building programs.

Advocates Airway Network.

"It is time for the state and county to take an active part in constructing a truly national network of airways reaching all centers of population," he said. "A state official or department should be placed in charge of airways and any airway planned within a state should tie in with the transcontinental federal system.

"The enabling acts to provide for the establishment of municipal and county airports and emergency landing fields should provide for maximum uniformity, governed by the provisions established by the federal government for landing, taking off and inspection of aircraft used in interstate commerce. Aviation cannot realize its full possibilities until such a program is completed."

Mr. Cautley called gasoline tax legislation in many states "confiscatory and unjust" to air transport operators who provide interstate mail, passenger and express service.

COUNTY G. O. P. TICKETS WIN NEAR CHICAGO

Most of the counties surrounding Cook elected Republican county tickets despite the Democratic landslide for senator.

But Lake county, Indiana, where the Illinois battle was not a direct factor, went Democratic.

An entire Democratic ticket went into the winning column, the results showing these candidates successful: County clerk, Dr. George W. Sweigert, East Chicago; county treasurer, Herman Conter, Gary; and sheriff, Dr. Ray C. Holley, Hammond.

Lake county, Ill., went just as strongly on the Republican side, electing these officials: County clerk, Lew A. Hendes; county treasurer, Jay B. Morse; sheriff, Lester T. Tiffany; superintendent of schools, W. C. Petty.

Kane county, domain of State's Attorney George D. Carbary, elected these Republicans: County judge, Olney C. Allen; county clerk, Charles Lowry; county treasurer, L. L. Urch; sheriff, Harry A. Crawford; superintendent of schools, E. Earl McCoy.

Kankakee county went strongly Republican for these officers: County judge, Henry F. Ruel; county clerk, Walter Richert; county treasurer, Edward Hoennecke; sheriff, Albert Goodknecht; superintendent of schools, Frank Saltzeiver.

Will county and Joliet, just as Republican, elected: County judge, Ralph C. Austin; county clerk, Albion F. Delander; county treasurer, Herbert R. Jones; sheriff, Oliver Flint; superintendent of schools, August Maue.

3 HENCHMEN OF CAPONE QUICKLY FREED ON BONDS

Lyle Issues Warrants After Raid.

A half hour after Municipal Judge John H. Lyle last night had issued vagrancy warrants for Murray Humphries and Ralph Pierce, Capone henchmen, arrested Tuesday evening in a raid at 901 South Halsted street, they had been released on bonds of $5,000 each approved by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli.

Frank Rio, public enemy and head of the Capone bodyguard, who served the year jail term with him in Philadelphia, was also seized in the raid. He obtained his freedom, after twenty-four hours in a cell at the detective bureau, before Municipal Judge Joseph Burke yesterday afternoon. In all three instances the bonds were cash, furnished by Attorney William Hackman of 1039 Hollywood avenue, and representing the Grand Central Surety company of New York City.

Company Under U. S. Eye.

The federal grand jury in October announced it would investigate the company for a connection with Ralph Capone. Assistant United States Attorney Daniel Anderson said later no connection had been established.

Seven men were arrested in the raid, which was made by three squads from the bureau on an anonymous tip that Al Capone and Ted Newberry would be found there. They weren't. Besides the gangsters, minor politicians present were Roland V. Libonati, elected Tuesday as state representative and well known criminal lawyer; Saul Tannebaum, 1257 West Roosevelt road, who said he was a city attorney; former Ald. Anthony Prignano, 722 Bunker street, inspector of paving in the department of public works; Anthony Pintozzi, 567 Forquer street, and Frank Novelle, 530 Forquer street, who said he was an investigator.

They were taken to the bureau and held for several hours, to be released when Chief of Detectives John Norton was appealed to by City Sealer Daniel A. Serritella, State Senator James B. Leonardo and Ald. William V. Pacelli of the 20th ward.

Ask Writ of McGoorty.

Soon after Rio had gained his freedom yesterday afternoon Attorney John Johntry, a former alderman, filed a motion for hearing on a writ of habeas corpus for Humphries and Pierce before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court. The writ was not issued because Detective Roy Van Herrick of the bureau said the prisoners would be booked at 7 o'clock last night.

Johntry was there on the hour, thinking they were to be charged with disorderly conduct. Van Herrick, in the meantime, had located Judge Lyle and the latter immediately held an impromptu session of court in his Hotel Sherman suite and issued the vagrancy warrants.

Armed with the two new warrants Van Herrick hurried to the bureau, arriving there a few minutes before 7 o'clock. He read them to Humphries and Pierce in their cells. This made it necessary for Johntry to obtain another set of bonds, which he did within 15 minutes.

ADMITS PAYING MAN $2.20 FOR MURDERING HIS FORMER WIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Two confessions to the shotgun murder of Mrs. Merle Ellis, 22 year old mother, were claimed by police today, one allegedly by the hired killer and the other by the woman's divorced husband.

The verdict of a coroner's jury also directly accused Emory Ellis of hiring Benjamin Franklin Brown, glass molder, to kill the mother of his own son.

The confession of Brown amazed police detectives by its unexpected solution of a murder which had puzzled them since Sunday. They quoted him as confessing Ellis offered him $2,000, but he had received only $2.20 in dimes.

Shown the signed confession of the assertedly hired killer, Ellis, the detectives said, fully corroborated Brown's story of the slaying.

Mrs. Ellis was killed Saturday night by a shotgun charge as she slept beside her 18 month old child.

U. S. JUDGE MAY RULE TODAY ON BOND OF NITTI

Federal Judge Evan A. Evans of the Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement a motion to reduce from $50,000 to $25,000 the bond of Frank Nitti, Capone gangster, now in jail awaiting trial on charges of violating the income tax laws. He promised a ruling today.

"The sum of $50,000 strikes me as being excessive in the case of a man presumed to be innocent, but I am also impressed by the action of Judge Woodward of the District court in refusing to reduce the amount," said Judge Evans.

Attorney Benjamin Epstein argued that the $50,000 bond was excessive and amounted to denying bail to his client, in violation of the constitution. The fact that Nitti is still in jail is proof of his inability to put up $50,000, he argued.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Jennie Talbert, 69 years old, colored, 3822 Indiana avenue, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries received on Sept. 23, when she fell down a flight of stairs.

GUNMEN AMBUSH AND KILL TWO IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Three gunmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns, today lay in wait in a basement apartment in the Bronx for their two victims. When the victims entered the courtyard and moved into close range they fired a volley. After that, they fled.

They left behind them Stephen Ferriano, 34, of the Bronx, who is an electrician, and Alfred Mineia, 34, whose address is unknown. The bodies of both men were riddled with slugs from the sawed-off guns. They both were dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

The excited occupants of the building, who rushed into the courtyard and found the victims when the volley was fired, had little to tell. Two unidentified men rented the apartment yesterday from which the shotguns scattered death.

Three men, however, occupied that apartment today. The gunmen had kept a long vigil before they shot down their victims. The floor was littered with the stubs of cigarettes. Empty and half-emptied wine bottles were upon the table which had been pulled to a window that commanded a view of the courtyard.

THE SAFE INHALANT FOR CHILDREN'S COLDS

Vapex breaks up a cold swiftly and surely—yet it is as pleasant to use as perfume

It is pitiable to see a child with a cold. His nose running, his breathing labored. And it's silly to allow a cold to grip a child.

For colds can be checked at the start. Just put a drop of Vapex on the handkerchief or blouse during the day, and a drop at each end of the pillow at night.

Vapex is safe, swift, and sure. It dries up sniffles, clears the head and promptly relieves colds.

Vapex is very inexpensive. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications—an average of only 2c apiece. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is approved by Good Housekeeping because it is safe for every one—even little children.

For safety's sake, always ask for V-A-P-E-X—the original inhalant—and do not accept an inferior product that claims to be "just as good."

HERE'S news! We've purchased a large quantity of the discontinued models of both Revere Telechron and Warren Telechron electric clocks for this spectacular selling event. No more will be available later on; don't miss these sensational values!

New . . . Guaranteed

These clocks—all Telechron motored—are brand new and fully guaranteed. The manufacturers discontinued these models for different case styles; but the all-important electric mechanism that assures dependable time, is genuine, guaranteed Telechron. And the cases are popular styles, authentic in design and faithfully executed in fine case woods.

Telechrons are lifetime clocks, requiring no winding or attention. Merely plug into your alternating current electric outlet. Telechron is the original springless electric clock, as quiet as the night before Christmas.

Accurate as the Stars

The great telescopes of the U.S. observatories take the time from the stars. It is signalled to our power station. Here, a master clock is kept accurate, according to these signals, being watched constantly by an expert who controls the impulses in the electric current. Telechron clocks, with their synchronous motors, are controlled by these impulses. Therefore, your Telechron is as accurate as our master clock, as accurate as the Government observatory calculations, as accurate as the stars!

See these new Telechrons on display at all Edison Electric Shops.

*Westminster Chimes—perhaps the most universally loved—have been reproduced in many celebrated towers, first in the tower clock at the University Church, St. Mary's the Great, Cambridge, and later in the Victoria Tower Clock of the House of Parliament.

The great Canterbury Cathedral inspired the composing of the Canterbury Chimes—supposed to express the Craftsman's admiration for that noble structure.

COMMISSIONERS PREPARE TO MAP DRY LAW REPORT

Board to Hear Witnesses on Swedish System.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Election returns, hailed by the wets as evidence of growing popular sentiment against prohibition, confronted the Wickersham commission today as it reassembled to prepare its recommendations to congress on the liquor question.

Members of the commission spent three hours this morning in the first of a series of daily meetings to continue probably for a month and expected to result in a full and possibly final prohibition report. All the commissioners were present except Judge W. S. Kenyon and Newton D. Baker, both of whom are expected later in the week.

Although it was denied at the commission offices that the members took any interest in the wet trend of the election THE TRIBUNE learned on unimpeachable authority that the so-called law enforcement group is giving serious consideration to the testimony of anti-prohibition witnesses and is carefully studying the liquor control systems of other countries.

Control Plans Studied.

Approximately two hundred persons have been called before the commission at its secret meetings, among them high labor authorities, who united in a plea for 2.75 per cent beer. The commission will hear tomorrow from American diplomatic representatives in Sweden, who will tell of the working of the Swedish liquor license system. The control plans of Canada, Great Britain, and other countries also are being studied.

It was further revealed that the commission in its forthcoming report will recommend no more prohibition enforcement legislation such as that sent to congress by President Hoover last winter. It has, in fact, decided to abandon in its present form the "juryless trial" bill passed by the house and now pending in the senate. The commission was sharply divided at the outset upon this bill, which provides for trial of minor liquor cases before United States commissioners, and the support it did have has waned since its alteration by house amendments.

Two other Wickersham bills still are pending in congress. These are the bill tightening up the District of Columbia dry law and that for making padlock procedure more effective.

Plan Definite Stand.

Feeling that the time has come when it must go to the crux of the prohibition question and cease dealing with side issues, the commission is now concentrating upon fundamentals of the wet and dry question with a view to taking a definite stand. The members still are at odds, however, over the question of their authority to say openly whether prohibition is good or bad, wise or unwise, one group insisting that they are concerned only with enforcement and another demanding a showdown on the principle.

It was learned definitely that recent reports that the commission is on the verge of recommending 4 per cent beer and that it is considering a proposed constitutional convention on prohibition are without foundation. Neither proposal has figured in the discussions.

FIVE SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR KENTUCKY MINE BOMBING AUG. 11

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Paul Montgomery, Murphysboro, Ill., aviator, and Edward Heckelbeck, Zeigler, Ill., miner, were each sentenced to a year in Atlanta federal penitentiary by Judge Charles I. Dawson in federal court here today.

Ewing Riley, Essel Grant, and Noble Harris, striking coal miners of Providence, Ky., were sentenced to two and a half years each in the penitentiary.

The cases grew out of an airplane bombing of mine properties in Webster county, Kentucky, last Aug. 11.

Building Code Drafts Placed Before Council

Three completed sections of the proposed new Chicago building code were submitted to the city council yesterday and referred to the buildings and zoning committee. The sections were those relating to engineering requirements in construction work and to certain fire prevention regulations.

MAYOR VETOES FRANCHISE FOR TELEPHONE CO.

Gives Three Reasons in Message to Council.

In a message to the city council Mayor Thompson yesterday vetoed the proposed franchise grant to the Illinois Bell Telephone company which the aldermen passed at their last regular session on July 29 by a vote of 37 to 9. Three reasons were given by Thompson for withholding approval of the ordinance.

The message said the proposed franchise does not contain a provision—which the old one did—whereby the telephone company agrees to pay the cost of removing its equipment in the event of subway construction. This omission, according to the message, might interfere with the building of the subway and cost the city millions of dollars.

Two Other Reasons Given.

The loss of compensation to the city under the terms of the proposed grant in the sum of "more than $500,000 a year" was given as the second reason for the veto. Under the new grant the city would pay for telephone service for which no charge was made by the terms of the expired grant of 1907. Third, the message said Thompson could see "little or no benefit to the telephone subscribers in this proposed ordinance."

Action on the veto message was deferred by the council until Nov. 24 at the request of Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the gas-oil committee, which was charged with preparation of the franchise. In requesting the council to recess yesterday's session until that date Ald. Arvey indicated his intention of attempting to override the mayor's veto.

An effort to repass the ordinance over the veto might have been made yesterday, according to supporters of the franchise, had not Thompson been absent from the meeting due to his illness. In his stead Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, handled the gavel. He was elected temporary presiding officer by the council.

Second Ordinance Vetoed.

In a second message the mayor vetoed an ordinance, also passed by the aldermen on July 29, the effect of which would have been to compel theater owners to install automatically rising seats or to rearrange seat rows to provide more room between them. Mention was made that the building committee had not held a public hearing or investigated the ordinance before recommending it for passage.

Immediate construction of Chicago's new postoffice was urged by aldermen at yesterday's session. The council postponed action, however, on a request of the treasury department that the city clear the title to the proposed site for the postoffice by giving up an easement over the site it obtained in 1914. Unless the title is cleared, the federal communication said, further congressional action will be necessary, causing more delay.

The easement was obtained by the city for an extension of Congress street over the proposed postoffice site, bounded by Harrison, Van Buren and Canal streets and the so-called Van Buren postal substation. According to Ald. Arthur F. Albert [42d], the easement is worth $1,000,000. Plans for the new postoffice provide for an arched passageway through which the city can extend the street.

POLICE CAPTURE HOLDUP MAN.

John Kelly, 30 years old, who said he was from San Francisco, yesterday walked into Cochran & McCluer's realty office at 1536 Morse avenue, covered three persons with a revolver, and took $3,000 from Philip S. Horton, 1644 Pratt boulevard, the office manager. Patrolmen George Helstern and Arthur Burke saw the holdup and captured Kelly.

DRY LAW HURTS AMERICAN YOUTH! BRITAIN IS TOLD

Balfour Sounds Warning Against Prohibition.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The complete demoralization of young people in America was laid at the door of prohibition by Sir Arthur Balfour in appearing before the liquor licensing commission today in order to oppose any development of sentiment in that direction among its members.

Describing his impressions obtained on his forty visits to the United States, where he received his business training, Sir Arthur gave a striking picture of America before and after Volstead.ism.

Recalls Days of 1896.

"In 1896 when I was in the United States for the first time, young men wouldn't go out with a girl who drank," he said. "Nowadays unless a young man can bring a drink a girl will not go out with him."

Explaining that he was appearing before the board because the commission appeared to recommend prohibition Sir Arthur addressed the commission, as follows:

"Many people in the United States are against prohibition. They think that if reasonable laws were passed it would be better. The conditions in the United States are getting worse. What really caused prohibition was the saloon catering to the working people. The saloons indulged in a great deal of bribery in order to obtain or suppress licenses, and in those days voting was dangerous.

"When the war was drawing to a close there was a tremendous cry, 'Shall our boys come back to saloons?' and then the prohibition law was passed. Conditions are now totally different. I find that great numbers of people, who did not drink before prohibition, now drink at every opportunity."

Dry Bill Submitted.

A prohibition bill was introduced in the house of commons today by the only prohibitionist member of parliament, E. Scrymgeour, an independent representing Dundee. It is conceded the bill will die a natural death later in the session.

The bill sounds much like the eighteenth amendment in its phraseology. Only it goes a step further, anticipating the effect of prohibition by providing for all medicinal liquors to be labeled "poison" as a warning to the ailing.

It contains the familiar prohibition of the manufacture, importation, and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes, with a fine of not lower than $125 and not exceeding $500 for first offenders, or in default, imprisonment for not less than one month and not exceeding six months. The optional fine is denied thereafter, with imprisonment of from three to twelve months for second offenders, and also penal servitude from one to five years for further offenders.

Blames Crime on Dry Law.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 5.—Violent crimes committed in the United States are generally caused by prohibition, and if the country could abolish the eighteenth amendment it could abolish the crimes, in the opinion of Sir Hugh Turnbull, London police commissioner, who arrived in Montreal last night, after completing a tour of cities in Canada and the United States. Sir Hugh declared the United States dealt with criminals too kindly. He has visited Boston, New York, Washington, Detroit, Chicago, Toronto, and Ottawa.

Woman Votes, Then Races to Beat Stork Home; Wins

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 5.—[Special]—Half an hour after she voted Mrs. Catherine Kerr gave birth to a 10 pound boy. Mrs. Raymond Doll had taken Mrs. Kerr to the polls and a race had to be made to beat the stork home. Mrs. Kerr's husband, James Kerr, was killed three weeks ago in an auto accident near Bridgeport.

NAVAL OFFICER GUIDES AIMEE TO PANAMA CABARET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CRISTOBAL, Panama, Nov. 5.—Traveling under the name of Betty Adams, aged 38, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson of Los Angeles, head of the Angelus Temple, headquarters for her Four Square Gospel, sailed this afternoon aboard the Tolca for Port Limon, Costa Rica. She was accompanied by "Mrs. William Smith" and her 11 year old son. Mrs. McPherson claims she is the boy's governess.

Fellow passengers said Mrs. McPherson traveled incognito during the voyage to Panama, although Sunday evening, when the evangelist played the piano and sang hymns in the ship's lounge song service, a woman passenger exclaimed, "Why, you look and sing just like Aimee McPherson!"

Last night, accompanied by two fashionably clad men, one said, to be a naval chief petty officer of Los Angeles, the evangelist enjoyed two hours in Colon's leading night club. Upon leaving she was asked whether she was Aimee McPherson, and she replied, "Of course not!"

MANY REPORTED JAILED BY ITALY IN REVOLT PLOT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Mass arrests, including the seizure of Bortolo Belotti, former cabinet member, have been made in Italy among former Liberal and Conservative leaders for an alleged conspiracy with military chiefs to overthrow the present Fascist regime, according to news reaching well informed Italian circles here tonight.

Prominent professors and a large number of army officers were said to have been arrested. Sig. Belotti was seized in Milan and is said to have been condemned to deportation without trial. He is one of the best known financiers in Italy.

Details of the alleged conspiracy have not been announced, but it was reported the prisoners include several prominent educators, military leaders, and war heroes. All those arrested deny knowledge of the alleged plot, which, according to the charges against them, would indicate the most serious reaction against the Fascist regime since its beginning.

ARMY REJECTS NAVY'S BID FOR CHARITY GAME

EQUIPOISE CAPTURES $59,000 PIMLICO FUTURITY

GETS UP FROM LAST PLACE IN STRETCH DRIVE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Equipoise, running in the silks of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of the late Harry Payne Whitney, won the right to share the 2 year old championship honors of the season with Jamestown at Pimlico here this afternoon when he raced to a sensational victory in the Pimlico Futurity.

Practically left at the post, Equipoise was far back for the first half of the mile and a sixteenth trip, then came with a terrific rush and going to the outside on the last turn got up in the last strides to beat Twenty Grand and Mate by half a length. He withstood severe punishment and was clearly the best, for Twenty Grand and Mate had no excuses to offer when Workman shot him to the lead within the shadow of the finish line.

Race Worth $59,100.

The Futurity with a gross value of $61,100 is one of the richest races of the year run in Maryland and attracted more than 20,000 spectators to the old Hilltop course. The victory of Equipoise was popular with the crowd as the Whitney colt had been made the favorite and paid $3.90 to win, $2.40 to place and $2.30 to show. Twenty Grand was at $5.30 to place and $3.60 to show while Mate paid $2.80 to show. Equipoise ran the mile and a sixteenth over a track that was muddy in 1:48 2-5.

After a delay of 15 minutes at the post the field of eight, with the exception of Equipoise, was away in good order. Equipoise was flatfooted and was far back of the others. Mate jumped into the lead and was soon two lengths in front of Aegis with Gusto and B'ar Hunter fighting it out for third place. Mate was running fast and Equipoise was twenty lengths back of the leaders in eighth place.

Workman did not move with Equipoise until the field neared the last turn. He went to the whip on the stout hearted son of Pennant-Swinging and the big bay galloped to the outside. He soon began picking up ground and was passing his rivals.

Wins in Final Strides.

In midstretch he had them all whipped but Mate and Twenty Grand. He tore after them and won in the final strides. Aegis finished fourth back of Mate, B'ar Hunter went wide entering the stretch or might have been closer up at the end.

In two previous starts, one in the Kentucky Jockey club stakes, Twenty Grand had scored victories over Equipoise by very narrow margins due to racing luck. Today's race as far as the leaders are concerned was truly run. It makes Equipoise a big-gar money winner than Jamestown, although most critics rate the two colts at about equal weights, and they will have to go into their 3 year old campaign before either will be able to demonstrate a decisive margin over the other.

Equipoise is a Whitney homebred and has been one of the busiest 2 year olds of the season. He won his first race early last April at the Bowie track here and has been in training since that time. The Futurity engagement today was the last he will fill this year.

O, PROFESSOR, CAN YOU ANSWER READER'S QUERY?

The following letter was received yesterday in the sports editor's mail:

"Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4, 1930.—Dear Sir: No doubt the members of the Big Ten faculty committee will refuse to say anything about it, but wouldn't their refusal to permit the transfer of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game from Dyche stadium to Soldiers' field in order that charity might share in the profits be a bit more understandable if they would explain why the rule which they say prevented the transfer is to be twice violated this year.

"According to a story I read in THE TRIBUNE last week the rule was first waived when Indiana was permitted to play Southern Methodist in a municipal stadium at Dallas, Tex. And according to the same story the rule will be broken again on Saturday when the University of Illinois team plays the Army in New York.

"Some of these days you fellows who plug for the Big Ten games from one year to the next ought to get up some spunk. If there are pussyfooters on the Big Ten faculty committee, why don't you let us know who they are?

Philadelphia Referee Dies at Amateur Bout

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Frank [Pop] O'Brien, veteran fight referee, died in the ring tonight while officiating at amateur boxing bouts at an American Legion post. He was 65 years old. O'Brien had completed refereeing one bout and had stepped nimbly between a pair of youthful boxers after a clinch, when he collapsed. A physician attributed his death to a heart attack.

General Tells About Strain on Cadets.

"Duty," Navy Says

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—"Navy considers it a privilege and a duty to aid the suffering citizens of this country," Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, commandant of the Naval academy, said today in offering to play the Army for charity. "If a game with Army can be arranged by President Hoover as commander-in-chief, Navy will be pleased to play its traditional rival.

"While we are waiting we can still be useful and give evidence of our good faith. We will turn over the entire receipts of the Navy-Washington game Nov. 29 to the Red Cross. An attendance of 23,000 will raise $75,000."

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Admiral S. S. Robinson's football challenge to the military academy, proposing an Army-Navy game for the relief of the unemployed, was relayed to Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, the superintendent of the military academy, this evening and he immediately punted out of danger.

It does not look as though the Navy will score this year in the long politico-football row that began several years ago, although the admiral's challenge had the surprise element of a quick kick and set the Army back deep into its own territory for a few minutes. Of course, Admiral Robison's stated motives were of the purest humanitarian kind, but the officers at the military academy, other than the general, were very suspicious and thought he had taken advantage of a distressing public situation to embarrass the military academy and compel a resumption of the game.

Officers Are Bitter.

The feeling of the West Point officers is quite bitter and inasmuch as the cadets receive their inspiration from the officers, it does seem that a football game between the academies this year would be an occasion for more blood letting than even so rugged a game as football ordinarily entails.

Gen. Smith, as spokesman for the military academy, of course did not impugn the admiral's motives in suggesting the game, but confined his objections to academic difficulties and the physical peril to the West Point players. He said he had sent a report to the war department six months ago, based on the Army's experience of post season football in last year's Christmas week game with Leland Stanford in California, recommending that the cadets never play another post season game.

Most of the cadets on the football squad who stayed in training and made the California trip lost considerably in their class standings, some few of them as many as sixty files. The average physical fitness of the squad also declined, as noted by the surgeon's report to the general, although none of the young men became actual invalids.

Gives to Charity.

The general received word of Admiral Robison's challenge at his quarters and discussed his attitude in the presence of Maj. Phil Fleming, the graduate manager of athletics, and Capt. Walter Wells, the post publicity officer. In general, his objections were a review of the reasons advanced for the Army's original reluctance to leave the eastern seaboard in 1926 to play the last of the Navy games in Chicago, such as interference with class work, injustice to the cadets, and the academy's responsibility to the government to turn out proficient officers. These objections were overcome at that time but they are still held dear at West Point.

But beyond that he announced that West Point for years has been allotting ten per cent of the football profits to military charities and pointed out that the academy was doing a very appreciable bit to relieve unemployment by pressing building operations on the post just now.

Maj. Ralph Sasse, the head coach of the football team, was quite upset, insisting that the players had gaited themselves for a hard schedule of games and must not now be called upon to go into any such tantrum of anticipation and fury as they would have to achieve to do themselves credit against the Navy, considering all that has passed between the officers of the two schools since the last game.

Officers—Not Showmen.

"You don't know what those navy games mean," he exclaimed in a pretty good imitation of a man in a towering temper.

"This wouldn't be just another football game. I know what it would be from my experience as a cadet, and I'm not going to have my kids used this way for this purpose. Why should they have to raise money for charity? We're producing officers for the Army, not showmen."

So, altogether the Navy's challenge lit like a very deceased cat on the general's front stoop and was kicked clear over the parade ground and down the Palisades and into the Hudson without delay.

Again there is great indignation.

GATE RECEIPTS MAKE INDIANA A RAMBLING TEAM

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 5.—Once each year Indiana university uses its $300,000 Memorial stadium. That time comes Saturday, for Northwestern university, leading contender for the Western conference football championship, has kindly consented to be present and engage the Hoosiers.

Obviously Saturday's contest must be homecoming for Indiana's alumni and friends. Pat Page and Director Z. G. Clevenger couldn't arrange homecoming for any other date unless, of course, they were willing to celebrate with a nonconference opponent.

Miami university or the Oklahoma Aggies might have been pressed into service this fall, but Indiana has a queer notion that, since it belongs to the Western conference, a conference team should help it celebrate homecoming.

"We are mighty glad that Northwestern is willing to meet us annually on a home and home agreement," Page said this afternoon as he waited for his traveling warriors to report for practice. "As long as they continue we can celebrate homecoming against a conference school, for Purdue alternates with them and next year comes to our gridiron."

As far as the schedule makers of the Big Ten are concerned, Indiana university, down in the rolling hills of Hoosierland, has a football team without a home. Of course, this really isn't so, for Memorial stadium is as neat a gridiron as you'll find anywhere and it seats 23,000. Indiana's alumni who donated $200,000 in honor of their war heroes, believed their gift would make possible some big games. For years they had read about Indiana playing Illinois, Chicago and Michigan, but few of them ever had taken the long train rides necessary to get first hand information. Apparently, these alumni were mistaken.

Gophers Came South Once.

Minnesota came south once. Dr. Clarence Spears led the Gophers on that invasion and went home with a tie which cost a championship. For three consecutive years Indiana has been forced to travel to Minneapolis that is, if it wants to play Minnesota. In 1928 Ohio State played in Bloomington, and this year it was Ohio's turn to repeat its trip. But the Hoosiers had to go to Columbus for a second consecutive season, that is, if they wanted to play Ohio State.

Hoosier Ramblers. They've succeeded to the title Notre Dame held before it built a new stadium and discharged most of its Pullman porters. On consecutive week-ends, after their trip to Columbus, the Hoosiers traveled to Minneapolis, to Dallas, Tex., and South Bend. Page says the reason for Indiana's ostracism is gate receipts.

Point for N. U. Game.

"Our stadium will seat more than yours." That's the expression he hears at schedule meetings. Chicago played Mississippi, an indifferent intersectional opponent, on the same afternoon the Hoosiers were sweltering under a Dallas sun. The week before they had played in Arctic Minneapolis.

Indiana may not win a conference game this year. It has lost to Ohio State and Minnesota and meets Purdue on Nov. 22, after the Northwestern game Saturday.

But Indiana is proud of its record in defeating Northwestern three successive years, and these Hoosiers, inexperienced, lacking weight, are pointing for Saturday's game. Northwestern's men will be the honored guests of the season, but Indiana would like to send them home defeated.

Shires Obtains License to Wed Chicago Girl

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—The great Art Shires appeared at the Los Angeles county marriage license bureau today, asked the chief license clerk if there were some way he could keep news of his wedding out of the papers, and took out a three day notice of intention to wed Miss Elizabeth Greenbaum, 18, of 6915 Crandon avenue, Chicago.

From $5 Office Boy to Ring Riches: Gene Tunney's Story

New York, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney took the stand today in his own defense in the trial of Timothy J. Mara's suit against him for approximately $500,000. The former heavyweight champion told how he began, as an office boy at $5 a week, the career which brought him the world's heavyweight boxing crown and an income of more than $1,000,000 a year.

He told of his first essays at boxing, "fooling around evenings" after his day's work as a clerk and of his winning the boxing championship of the American expeditionary force. He recalled his entry into professional boxing, gradually gaining in skill and confidence until he felt able to meet any man in the ring, and of the late Tex Rickard's promise to make him champion of the world.

How Fight Was Arranged.

That promise of Rickard was the high light of the retired champion's testimony. The promise was given in July, 1925, said Tunney. Rickard made the first overture, Tunney testified, by remarking that Dempsey would fight for no one but him.

"'Dempsey fought for another promoter once and he hasn't been paid yet,'" Tunney quoted Rickard as saying.

"'Now Gene,'" said Rickard, as Tunney quoted him on the stand, "'I can make you champion of the world if you will string along with me.'"

"I said, 'Do you mean I'll fight Dempsey?'" Tunney continued.

"Rickard said 'Yes.'

"I said, 'All right. You've got me.'

"We shook hands across the table and Rickard said to me, 'Do you think you can live on $70,000 a year after you become champion?' When I left I had a gentleman's agreement with Rickard to fight Dempsey."

Thus, Tunney testified, he was well on his way to the summit of the pugilistic business before Mara, who contends that Tunney afterward promised him a quarter of all his earnings as champion in return for Mara's "assisting and coöperating with him in a general way," came into any close relation to Tunney's affairs.

Emory R. Buckner, Tunney's counsel, drew from him the fact that he was 32 years old; born in New York; christened John J. Tunney, but called Gene all his life, and attended parochial school until he was 16, when his formal education ended and he went to work.

Starts as Office Boy.

His first job was as an office boy for the Ocean Steamship company and when he quit there to enlist in the marine corps he was a rate clerk earning $16.50 a week. It was not until after the war that he became seriously interested in boxing. After the armistice he fought ten matches with other soldier boxers, became champion of his sector and was ordered to Paris for the finals for the A. E. F. light heavyweight championship which he won.

It was a friend he had made in the army who steered him into professional boxing after he had returned from overseas, he said.

"I fought 65 bouts after the war."

Kansas Is Defiant; Fights for an Athletic Principle

BY ARCH WARD.

Is the United States ready to adopt the British system of athletics?

In Lawrence, Kas., they don't believe we are.

That's why the University of Kansas is going to fight its battle with the Big Six conference to a finish.

In England an athlete must come from a family of means to be able to indulge in sport. Only the wealthy can be amateurs.

Kansas contends that a poor boy who is willing to work should be entitled to the same consideration on the athletic field as the lad whose parents can afford to foot the bills.

Until they are proven wrong the Jayhawkers are willing to remain outside the Big Six.

Two weeks ago a group of college professors comprising the Big Six faculty committee ruled that Kansas no longer was fit to associate with the other five schools. The charge was that Jim Bausch, an all around athlete, was receiving $75 a month from a Topeka insurance firm.

"We don't doubt that Bausch is receiving money from the insurance company," said Dr. Forest C. Allen, Kansas athletic director, in a recent fanning bee. "But he has earned every cent of it."

Kansas' support of Bausch is a striking contrast to Iowa's stand when the Big Ten demanded that all athletes who were beneficiaries of the Iowa City slush fund be disqualified. Iowa lost no time in kowtowing, thereby depriving several young men of a year or two of collegiate competition to which, in public estimation, they were entitled. The athletes merely had availed themselves of inducements condoned by the university.

Kansas plans no campaign of reprisal. But its athletic leaders claim they have plenty of ammunition, if they cared to use it.

Kansas has been a member of the league since it was organized in 1907 as the Missouri Valley conference. This is the first time it ever has been in trouble because of alleged athletic irregularities.

"I don't think we ever shall apply for reinstatement," Dr. Allen said. "We were ousted without justification and will return only if we are invited. I think the Big Six will miss us more than we will them. We were a big drawing card everywhere.

"Under no consideration will Bausch be ruled ineligible. We used him at Pennsylvania and will play him again in the homecoming game with Nebraska Saturday. Furthermore, he will be a member of our basketball team, if he is good enough to earn a place."

The faculty ruling ostracizing Kansas was to become effective next fall after present contracts had been fulfilled. But there is a strong possibility that Kansas will decline to play its Big Six basketball, baseball and track schedules.

Kansas plans to go ahead with its annual spring relay carnival and is confident of enough support outside the Big Six to make it a success. It is not worried about finding competition in other sports.

"We have only three major opponents to replace, Nebraska, Missouri, and Oklahoma," Dr. Allen said. "We already have been promised a football game with a big eastern school and we undoubtedly can obtain the other two games from Big Ten and Southern conference teams."

The Kansas leader has a hunch, however, that the Big Six will realize its mistake and invite his school back to the fold. Kansas Aggies already have petitioned the conference for permission to play their state rivals.

16,000 TO SEE SLATTERY BOX KING LEVINSKY

Von Porat, Renault Also at Stadium Tonight.

The Card

King Levinsky, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 rounds.

Otto Von Porat, Chicago, vs. Jack Renault, Canada, 10 rounds.

Barney Ross, Chicago, vs. Petey Mack, Jersey City, N. J., 8 rounds.

Nisse Ramm, Sweden, vs. Mickey McFarland, Pueblo, Colo., 6 rounds.

Phil Ross, South Chicago, vs. Pep Justo, Madison, Wis., 6 rounds.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The boys in the counting room at the Chicago Stadium announced last night that no fewer than 16,000 patrons will be in the seats when the boxing show headed by King Levinsky and Jimmy Slattery gets under way this evening.

This rather soothing volume of business, it is said, is accounted for, to a large extent, by the local interest in the ambitious rise of Mr. Levinsky who is seeking to demonstrate that finished artistry is needless if one possesses a wallop like unto the kick of an angry mule.

Abandons Thumb Tactics.

Not that the once humble fish trainer has been neglecting his studies in the matter of ring subtlety. He ever has been a willing pupil in all phases of fisticuffs, a studiousness that has brought him much since, say, a year ago when he was disqualified in a match for inserting a thumb of one mit in his adversary's eye while using the other thumb as a factor in a derisive gesture.

After this incident, fight fans recall, Mr. Levinsky and his manager decided that the heights were not to be reached through grimaces and eye gouging. Since that decision was reached Mr. Levinsky's rise has been rapid, as witness his defeat of Leo Lomski and other talented gentlemen, leading to his big moment tonight—his meeting with the more or less famed Jimmy Slattery.

Von Porat Faces Renault.

Those who are not especially steamed up on the Levinsky-Slattery prospect still have much to attract their interest, it is said, in the matter of Otto Von Porat vs. Jack Renault, who will appear, as the fight folks slyly put it, for "ten rounds or less."

We are advised by Stadium attaches, though no one has confronted us with an urge to wager, that the betting on the Levinsky-Slattery bout is very spirited and that, while Slattery has been a 6 to 5 favorite, the price last night switched to even money. We absolutely are in the dark as to the betting on the Von Porat-Renault performance.

Levinsky to Weigh 180.

It was reported that there is some parlay betting on knockouts, but, with winter coming on, the commissioners are a bit skittish about offering proper odds in this style of wagering.

Levinsky expects to enter the ring tonight weighing 180 pounds, and Slattery forecasts his poundage as 176. Von Porat will scale 205 pounds and Renault 206. The Levinsky-Slattery bout will be put on last and the Von Porat-Renault affair fourth.

Montreal Hockey Club Buys N. Y. Defense Star

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Lionel Conacher, former manager and defense star of the New York Americans, today was purchased by the Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey league. The cash involved in the deal was not announced. The purchase of Conacher gives the Maroons five defense men—Archie Wilcox, Johnny Gallagher, Jack McVicar, Bill Phillips and Conacher.

Maroons Not at All Gloomy About Purdue

Despite popular belief that Purdue will run wild against Chicago on Stagg field Saturday, Coach A. A. Stagg maintained his cheerful, optimistic attitude yesterday, confident that his boys won't be swamped by the Boilermakers.

And there is some basis for his complacency. Two hard weeks of work on blocking and tackling showed a much improved Maroon forward wall in the Princeton game, one that stood up and held the Tigers on four chances the Easterners had to score. This week the program has been almost entirely defensive work, the Old Man showing his line how to smear Purdue's powerful off tackle drives, while the backs have been tutored on pass defense.

They have been getting some good passing to practice against, for Ben Wattenberg, the uncannily accurate thrower from last year's varsity, has been tossing to freshman receivers.

The squad is in the best physical condition of the current season. Capt. Van Nice is the only man who will not be able to step into the game with Purdue. His absence has left Chicago floundering on offense, but the Old Man believes that his flanker formation will produce touchdowns, once the Maroons start connecting on the passes.

The Princeton game showed Stagg he had one fast runner on the squad in Bob Wallace, a sophomore. Time has been spent this week devising ways to get the speedy towhead past the line of scrimmage.

PURDUE PASSES SCORE

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Purdue's ends and backs were snagging passes with precision this afternoon as Coach Noble Kizer handed out a stiff offensive scrimmage session in preparation for the game with Chicago at Stagg field Saturday. Moss and Calvert, ends, and Kissell, Purvis, and White, backs, who were on the receiving end of passes tossed by Risk and Pope, scored repeatedly on the freshmen.

While most of the afternoon was devoted to an offensive drill, the session was capped off with defensive work against the wide open type of game that Stagg is expected to use in an effort to stop the Boilermakers.

38 NOTRE DAME PLAYERS LEAVE FOR PENN TODAY

First and Second Elevens Scrimmage Frosh.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—A short but intensive scrimmage this afternoon for both the first and second Notre Dame teams wound up practice for Saturday's game with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The squad of thirty-eight players will leave here tomorrow afternoon.

Both teams looked powerful on offense against freshman teams. The changes Coach Rockne made in his second string backfield yesterday stood, with one exception. Bucky O'Connor was moved back to the shock troops at right half and Clarence Kaplan reverted to the third string.

Leahy, Cronin Keep Places.

Bernie Leahy and Carl Cronin, however, stayed with the shock troops at left half and quarter back, and Koken and Jaskwhich were still with the third team. Mullins and Savoldi again alternated at full back with the first and second teams.

Murphy alternated with Cronin at quarterback with the second team, and both were named to make the trip to Philadelphia. Christman worked with the first team and Frank Carideo was given a rest.

Seek Fifteenth Win in Row

Notre Dame will be after its fifteenth straight victory and its sixth of the season at Franklin field Saturday. Although Penn lost to Wisconsin by a decisive score early in the season its victory Saturday over Kansas stamps the Red and Blue as a formidable foe.

The following players will make the trip:

CENTERS—Yarr, Rogers, Cavanagh, Butler.
RIGHT GUARDS—Metzger, Pierce, Kerjes, Twinak.
RIGHT TACKLES—Kurth, Donoghue, McMammon.
LEFT HALF BACKS—Schwartz, Leahy, Koken.
RIGHT HALF BACKS—Brill, O'Connor, Kaplan, Sheketski.
FULL BACKS—Savoldi, Mullins, Howard, Staab.

A reserve team also was picked this evening to meet Michigan State Normal Saturday at Ypsilanti, Mich.

PENN TROUNCES SCRUBS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Ten minutes' offense and the same time on defense wound up the University of Pennsylvania football team's work today for the game with Notre Dame on Saturday.

Head Coach Lud Wray and his assistants took the varsity squad down to River field, as a big rubber tarpaulin covered Franklin field and a heavy rain beat down on the stadium.

With the exception of Bill Graupner, quarter back, and Warren Gette, half back, who were injured in the Kansas game last Saturday, all the regular backs took part in the scrimmage against the scrubs. Capt. Dick Gentle played quarter back and Walt Masters took his left half back position, with Carl Perina at right half back and Charley Greene full back. Graupner was on the field in uniform and took a light warming up.

The varsity marched 80 yards through the mud and water, with Capt. Gentle finally taking the ball over.

OHIO DRILLS ON TACKLING.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—The poor tackling of the Ohio State football team against Wisconsin was called to the players' attention by Coach Sam Willaman at practice today. He pointed out that time after time the Ohioans missed Rebholz, who averaged 39 yards on returning punts during the time he was in the game.

"That is just a sample of what the Navy will give you Saturday," Willaman said, and ordered a long tackling drill.

Bert Nesman, who has been on the bench for the last two weeks, returned to his regular place at center.

Another light workout for the Buckeyes will precede their trip to Washington Thursday night.

"We Must Win" Is Michigan Slogan for Harvard Clash

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—"We must win." This terse sentence, heavily underscored, greeted the Michigan football squad as it studied the bulletin board in the locker room before practice today. The squad will go out for a short practice tomorrow and at 4:45 o'clock will climb aboard a special train en route to Cambridge and the Harvard game.

Practicing both in the Yost field house and on windswept Ferry field, backs were kept busy handling punts, backs and ends were chasing passes which whirled off the right hand of Harry Newman, and the forwards kept warm by lunging against each other in a line drill.

Hold Dummy Scrimmage.

Coach Kipke topped off the work on fundamentals and forward passing by lining up his regulars against the freshmen and sending the frosh through Harvard plays in slow motion. No attempts to block or tackle were made.

Coach Kipke's plan of attack will be the same as it has been through the year, to get a seven or 10 point lead and then protect it, rather than to try for a big score and tip off the Wolverine plays to Minnesota and Chicago scouts.

Kipke is still uncertain of his lineup, but it was intimated today Cox and Hozer are a toss-up in the race for left end, and that Auer may be used at one tackle instead of Draveling. If Auer should go into the game, he will take left tackle and Tom Samuels will be switched to right tackle.

Newman Works on Kicking.

Harry Newman will do Michigan's place kicking Saturday. This became certain today when Newman was given a private lesson in booting the ball between the uprights and over the crossbar. The little quarter back's kicking is causing the coaches some worry, as he missed his last three tries for an extra point. The first of these was against Ohio State and the last two against Illinois. He made two to win the Purdue game, and counted on his first attempt against Ohio State.

HARVARD GUARD INJURED

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—For the third straight practice day Harvard's linemen were put through a drill on the fundamentals of football at Soldiers' field this afternoon.

George Talbot, varsity guard for two years, who has been nursing a bad leg most of the season, pulled up lame during the signal drill. The extent of the injury will not be known until tomorrow. If Talbot is lost to the squad it will be in bad shape for replacements against Michigan on Saturday.

The Harvard medical staff tonight announced that George Keuhn, varsity tackle, will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season due to a back injury. Kuehn is the second Crimson linesman to be lost for the season, as a few weeks ago Charles Cunningham suffered a broken leg.

Huguley, who has been used chiefly as Wood's understudy at quarter back, is due to break into the starting lineup against the Wolverines.

BEARS' CRIPPLES BACK IN LINEUP AGAINST PACKERS

The Bears will present their strongest lineup of the season Sunday when they meet the Green Bay Packers, undefeated leaders of the National Professional Football league, at Wrigley field. Almost all of the Bears' cripples are in good condition and will be able to give their best for the first time in weeks.

It will be the 19th time the Packers have played the Bears. Green Bay has won eight, the Bears six, and four have resulted in ties. The last time the Bears beat the Packers was in 1927, the score being 14 to 6.

The first game in 1928 was a 12-12 tie. Since then six games have been played, the Packers winning all.

In their first meeting this year the Bears lost to the Packers at Green Bay, 7 to 0. The Chicagoans did not have their full strength in this game, a factor which leads followers of the Bears to believe that the Packers will suffer their first defeat here Sunday.

SEEK INJUNCTION TO PUT BRYDSON OFF SHAMROCKS

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—The hockey war between organized and so-called outlaw leagues has been declared. Manager Roy Brothers of the London club of the International Professional Hockey league announced today that he will seek injunctions in Illinois and New York state courts restraining Gordon Brydson, former London right winger, from playing with the Chicago Shamrocks of the American Hockey league, regarded by the National Hockey and affiliated leagues as an outlaw organization.

The London team purchased Brydson from the Toronto Maple Leafs for the sume of $3,500 last year. This year he was tendered a contract but refused to sign and yesterday the announcement was made that he had signed with the Chicago Shamrocks.

Confers with Calder.

Brothers has already held a conference with Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, about Brydson's case. The London manager announced a few days ago that Brydson could purchase his outright release if he desired, but the release was not purchased and he made the jump without first being declared a free agent.

A few years ago an injunction was issued restraining Herbie Lewis from playing with Duluth and such an order will be sought to prohibit Brydson from playing with the Shamrocks until a settlement is made.

Duke Dutkowski has been elected captain of the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey league, according to an announcement made by Manager Bill Tobin. Dutkowski is considered as the best utility player in the national league, as he is capable of playing defense, left wing, or center position. He was a member of the Rockets three years ago and was sold to Kansas City, but last year was returned back.

Hawks Hold Drill.

The Blackhawks held another workout behind locked doors at the London arena today. The four forward lines were in action and the practice were held in relays, ending with strenuous scrimmage.

Shamrocks Release 2

FRED GORDON, defense, and Tommy Westrick, forward, were released yesterday by the Chicago Shamrocks to the New York Stars of the American Hockey league. The releases were in accordance with the league's policy of lending strength to new members, Shamrock officials explained.

THERE SHE BLOWS!

THE fabulous white whale—Moby Dick—couldn't give a better exhibition of high-pressure spouting than many a car you see on a cold winter's day. When a car spouts steam in freezing weather, the chances are it has a frozen radiator. Either that or a nearly empty one.

Avoid that costly hazard this winter, with a single filling of Eveready Prestone, the ONE-SHOT anti-freeze. It gives you lasting peace-of-mind!

Passes rigid scientific tests

A motor authority, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, reports, "Our tests show conclusively that Eveready Prestone gives complete protection against low temperatures, does not corrode, will not boil off when used in an automobile, is odorless, non-inflammable and will serve as an anti-freeze with unimpaired efficiency throughout the coldest winter season."

Constant research by the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation laboratories has further increased the efficiency of Eveready Prestone. This year it is actually superior to the Eveready Prestone which more than a million motorists used to their complete satisfaction last year. So that you may easily identify Eveready Prestone, it is now green in color.

Economy Plus Protection

The economy of using Eveready Prestone lies in these two facts: 1. A single filling will last all winter, irrespective of temperature-fluctuations. 2. Eveready Prestone is an undiluted anti-freeze. Compared with other anti-freezes, a considerably smaller quantity is required to give your car complete all-winter protection. For example, if the radiator capacity of your car is three gallons, you can get complete protection from early fall to late spring for a cost of $2.50 to $7.50, depending on whether you live in a moderate or extreme climate.

Go to your dealer or garage-man, before he gets swamped with work during the first cold snap. Have him prepare your car for winter, taking the simple precautions necessary to make the cooling-system water-tight.

You can put Eveready Prestone in today. It's always in tune with the temperature.

Tune in the Eveready Hour, every Tuesday evening at nine (Eastern standard time) over the N. B. C. network.

9 POINTS OF SUPERIORITY

1. Gives complete protection.
2. Does not boil off.
3. Positively will not damage cooling-system.
4. Will not heat-up a motor.
5. Circulates freely at the lowest operating temperatures.
6. Will not affect paint, varnish, or lacquer finishes.
7. Non-inflammable.
8. Odorless.
9. Economical — one filling lasts all winter.

ILLINI GRID SQUAD OF 33 TO START TRIP EAST TODAY

Finish Drill for Game with Army Saturday.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 5.—[Special.] The University of Illinois football squad of 33 players will leave here tomorrow afternoon for New York, where they will face the Army in the Yankee stadium Saturday. Men selected for the trip are:

ENDS—Calon Bennett, John Clements, Ralph Foss, Mark Swanson, Thomas Wilson, Lloyd Wimmer.

TACKLES—John Bauer, Bob Green, Henry Schneider.

GUARDS—Alfred Bodman, Bob Conover, Ralph Fisher, Clarion Hexton, Stanley Jeziorski, John Ormsbee.

CENTERS—Stan Bodman, Otto Hills, Robert Kohlstein Earl Jackson, John Kendall, Reynold Nusspickel.

HALF BACKS—Gilbert Berry, John Evans, Russell Hill, Hunter Russell, Pete Yatskukus.

FULL BACKS—Ernest Chattin, Don Hall, Clark Root, Ernest Useman.

QUARTER BACKS—Olaf Robinson, Arthur Lee, John Snook.

The other members of the athletic department making the trip are Craig Huff, director; Coaches Zuppke, Bezdek, Lindgren, and Rokusek; L. J. Tabin, publicity director; Paul Jones, student manager; C. E. Thomas, business manager; D. M. Bullock, trainer, and Ike Hall, equipment manager.

Coach Zuppke said today that he probably will start Wilson and Swanson, ends; Hills and Stan Bodman, guards; Jensen and Ovelmen, guards; Robertson, center; Munch, quarter back; Berry and Russell, half backs, and Capt. Robinson, full back. Capt. Robinson is in better condition now than he has been at any time since the Michigan game a fortnight ago, but Berry and Russell just are recovering from injuries. If they are able to play, Evans, Yanuskus, or Hall may be tried. Coach Zuppke said there would be a final workout tomorrow morning.

BROWNELL JOINS VARSITY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—A possible change in the Minnesota back field for the South Dakota game Saturday and the Michigan game the following week was seen today when Bill Brownell, a two year veteran, was sent to right half back in place of Clinton Riebeth. It was Brownell's first start on the varsity this year.

Wee MacDougal ran wild against the freshmen again tonight during his short stay in the back field. He made one 60 yard dash for a touchdown and on another occasion broke back a kickoff 60 yards.

Marvin Dillner's injured shoulder is in such poor shape today that it is doubtful whether he will play again this year. Reihsen ventured into scrimmage tonight and his ankle was injured so that he had to be taken from the field.

BADGERS POLISH OFFENSE.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Defense was stressed in the drill of the Wisconsin football squad today. Coach Thistlethwaite used a back field consisting of Wimmer, quarter back; Behr and Unabah, half backs, and Gantenbein, full back, behind the varsity line. Goldberg, blocking back, was kept out of the scrimmage due to a slight leg infection, but he will be back Thursday or Friday. Capt. Gantenbein left the field as the result of a hard jolt in making a tackle, but was not seriously hurt.

PLAINT OF A VAGABOND MINSTREL

What are the schedules of a slave-bound time . . .
Better the tune of a silver chime
High in a tower, where faith is bred . . .
Like as the stars far overhead.

What is an hour, or more or less,
When the preachers wink and the prophets guess?
Over the counter you toss your gold . . .
And they dump you out where the junk is sold.

How shall a millionaire make a song,
'Tho' his walls are high and his face is long?
Fling him a challenge, O Whistles and Bells . . .
Some of them sacred, some of them Hell's!

What is an eon? I go that way
In quest of a lovelier Place and Day!
Here are the Brigands of Toil and Trade . . .
And the Fools they march in a dull Parade!

What is an hour? Who names its price
While Kings and Harlots are throwing dice?
I'll go fluting a Gypsy lay,
In quest of a happier Place and Day!

Dear Wake: The other day when my Trib arrived I saw among the Way Back Whens a notation about the old Hyde Park team. It mentioned Marion Wolf, who played one of the half backs—so I trots across the office and shows it to no less a guy than Marion himself. He shed a few tears and then repaired to the nearest cantina, about 50 feet distant, and wept in the beer and cognac for the rest of the afternoon and went way back and talked about "Eckie" and how "Bubbles" Hill broke into football and a lot of other stuff of the same nature. —Bill Hathaway.

Small Birds Amuse Sleepy Duck Hunters

BY BOB BECKER.

That small bird life in the marshes is more varied and abundant 250 or 300 miles south of Chicago than it is up here at this time of the year was demonstrated a few days ago when we sat in a duck blind near Meredosia bay on the lower Illinois river. With the ducks doing but little on a warm Indian summer day we had plenty of time to give to bird life other than waterfowl.

For a while in the afternoon our pond proved a better decoy to the blackbirds than the mallards. Hundreds swooped down to see if they couldn't pick up some grain scattered around the pond for the ducks. Just to the right of the blind in the tall dead weeds two cardinals scurried around for a meal. But above the wheezy squeaks of the grackles and the noise made by the redwings gathering in the marshes sounded the notes of two of our most beautiful songsters—the bluebird and the white throated sparrow.

There were quite a number of these birds near our blind at various times during the day. Another widely known songster seen looping through the air from our dugout was the goldfinch, or wild canary as he is popularly called. Then there were marshhawks, woodpeckers and migrating sparrows within view, and the warm sun also brought honey bees and two grasshoppers around our blind. A pretty good roll call for early November.

We fell asleep while making this check on the wild life in the marsh and woke up to hear Ben Overman, our shooting partner, speaking quietly but firmly, "Wake up, there's a mallard coming in. Can't you reach your gun?"

We reached, but missed the bird cleanly, to see Ben drop him at forty-five yards. To have one duck come in when you are asleep at the switch is interesting enough, but about one-half mile away from our blind Glenn Griswold, former president of the Chicago Izaak Walton league, walked out of his dugout after lunch, lay down on the grass and went sound asleep about two o'clock to let six mallards come in.

Senator Clarence F. Buck of Monmouth, Ill., in the blind about eight feet from Glenn sounded the alarm, but what to do? One man in the blind and another in plain view with no gun. There was much crawling around and much sign talk before the situation was straightened out, and two ducks were bagged. Such is life in a duck blind when the sun is so hot that you want to sleep instead of watching the sky every minute.

Former English Woman Net Star Dies in Assam

BISNATH, Assam, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Hamish Munro, the former Evelyn Colyer, English tennis player who was widely known in the United States, died today. Mrs. Munro was married in 1929 to Hamish Munro, a tea planter. As Miss Colyer she represented England against the United States at Wimbledon in 1924 and with P. D. B. Spence won the hard court and covered courts mixed championships. She visited the United States in 1925 and 1929 and went to California on her last trip.

STETSON WALKS THE FIRST TEN MILES!

The first ten miles in a new pair of shoes—whether done in one day or three—are usually a marathon of misery. But wipe that off the slate now!

By a marvelous system of progressive assembly STETSON ends the torture of "breaking in" new shoes. Magic machines soften and limber stubborn, stiff soles and counters . . . your comfort mileage commences with the first step. Suave, silken ease instead of pangs and pain. Of course your next pair will be swanky STETSONS . . . for they've always been miles ahead in correctness of design and superfine quality. Your size, sir?

"SOME years ago I took Harry Forbes, the great bantam-weight, to Brooklyn to fight ten rounds with Joe Coster. Harry was staging a great come-back. And only Coster stood between him and the champ, Johnny Coulon.

"In the second round my man went down for seven counts. For the next five rounds he was completely goofy. I worked like a Trojan on him, but he looked like a pushover.

"What could I do? Cuss him out? Get all hot...blindly mad? No—I must keep cool... so just before the eighth round, I leaned over and calmly bit him in the ear! The bell clanged. Forbes stepped up and knocked Coster cold with one sock! Boy, that WAS one moment when it paid to keep cool!"

EXPECT MINORS TO MODIFY THEIR STAND ON DRAFT

Association Chiefs Meet to Discuss Plans.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The big shots among the five anti-draft minor leagues are reported to be preparing themselves to admit defeat in their attempt to defy the powers of the major magnates. They are making motions as if intent on getting under cover before Dec. 1, at which time, unless they bow to the draft, they will be subjected to a form of boycott by the big fellows. The majors have threatened to neither buy from nor sell players to the five holdouts.

Thus, the minors by the moves now under way, indicate that it is reasonably safe to believe that the player selection squabble which has been going on for more than ten years is going to be concluded with amazing speed. Of course, it is reasonable to suppose that pressure other than the threatened boycott has stirred the minors into belated action. The majors own clubs in those same recalcitrant minors and the former naturally don't want to get in the position of not being able to buy from or turn players over to their own farms for development.

Association Chiefs Meet.

The first of the five nondraft circuits to move for avoidance of an open break was the American association. It went into session here rather quietly last week and the draft problem was the purpose of the conference, but no announcement followed. However, it was reported that the sentiment was for taking what the majors had offered in the way of concessions. The Pacific Coast league is holding a special meeting tomorrow on the matter. The International, the third big shot in the anti-draft class, is expected to act inside a few days. The Western and Three Eye, the two other holdouts, probably will be guided by their class AA buddies.

If the five holdouts, or any part of them, admit before Dec. 1 that they will accept an unrestricted draft, which means one player on each club is subject to selection, the details of how the scheme is to work can be determined later. One proposal is to pay class AA teams $17,500 for each drafted man. Another is to pay $15,000 with a stipulation that no player could be picked unless he had served one full season in class AA leagues. Another is to draft from class AA only men who have had four years of minor league ball to their credit.

Cub Deal Rumored.

With President William Veeck and Manager Hornsby in secret conference almost daily, it is reasonable to suspect they are making headway on deals that will reupholster the Cub layout. One trade is said to have an excellent chance of going through, but its nature has so far been successfully concealed.

Badgers Reject Charity Grid Game with Marquette

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—After a conference with members of the athletic council today, President Glenn Frank issued a statement rejecting a proposal for a post-season charity game between football teams of the University of Wisconsin and Marquette university.

The statement follows:

"In view of the express policy of the Western Intercollegiate conference regarding post-season games, and in view of the fact that, as a state supported institution, the University of Wisconsin would not be free to restrict the proceeds of a benefit contest to any one city, the athletic council does not consider feasible the proposed post-season game for the Milwaukee charity fund."

$5 OFFICE BOY TO RING RICHES: TUNNEY'S STORY

Gene Traces Career on Witness Stand.

he said in reply to direct questions, "and was defeated once." That one defeat was by Harry Greb, he explained, but he defeated Greb four times afterwards. He interrupted his boxing career to work as a lumberjack in the Canadian forests and came back as a preliminary fighter at the Dempsey-Carpentier match.

Meanwhile he had met Mara, but he seldom saw him, Tunney went on. Mara had not been responsible for getting him a New York showing, he said, for he had scored three knockouts in New York before Mara came actively on the scene. Mara had helped him obtain a restoration of his lapsed boxing license, Tunney said, and he had appreciated that.

Tunney followed Mrs. Rose L. Salsberg, former secretary to Attorney Allen Caruthers, who was the first defense witness and who gave testimony tending to uphold Tunney's contention that Mara's services were engaged for the purpose of inducing the New York boxing commission to reverse its stand and permit the Dempsey-Tunney match to be held here, a purpose which was not accomplished. She said the reference to New York was omitted from the contract, but it was never signed by Tunney.

Previously Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Hatting, before whom the suit is being tried in the New York county courthouse, had denied motions by defense counsel to dismiss the action against Tunney.

BELDEN, BAKER, BOYD TO HELP NEVERS SUNDAY

Bun Belden, Bill Boyd, and Bullet Baker, the Cardinals' back field trio who kick, pass, run, and block as well as any three players in professional football, will support Ernie Nevers Sunday in the game with Benny Friedman and the New York Giants at Comiskey park.

Belden, from California, and Boyd, from Missouri are newcomers to pro football. Belden kicks when Nevers is not in the game. Both are good open field runners, and Baker, besides being a capable man with the ball, is the most reliable blocker for Nevers.

Style-mate of Man Style

In the glass of fashion—when men of social aplomb come together—is always reflected the long, shapely outline of the cigar that sets the pattern of MAN-STYLE in smoking—the Robt. Burns Panatela.

And take its tip: Satisfaction in looking right is second only to satisfaction in smoking. The jaunty gracefulness of the style cigar is just right for young men and faces of men who baffle time. Its flavor—the mildness of clear Havana filler—give taste and aroma without the wallop of heavy tobacco.

What a man smokes, is as intimate a part of his appearance as what he wears. Take the taste of men of fashion, and smoke the cigar that says smart manliness.

LEAVELL IS NEW HEAD OF CITY'S BIGGEST BANK

Succeeds Stevens at Cont'l Illinois.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicago's billion dollar bank, the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, which also is the largest bank west of New York, has a new president today. He is James R. Leavell, who has been assistant to Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors, and also has held other important offices in the Continental Illinois organization.

JAMES R. LEAVELL [U. & U. Photo.]

Mr. Leavell was promoted to the presidency by the directors yesterday. He succeeds Eugene M. Stevens, who recently resigned the bank position to accept appointment as chairman of the board of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. Mr. Stevens will assume his new position at the end of this year, when William A. Heath will retire from the Reserve bank's staff.

Has Risen Rapidly.

Mr. Leavell's rise in the Chicago financial field has been rapid in the last decade and now, at 46 years of age, he is one of the youngest presidents of the city's big banking groups. He came to Chicago in 1920 as a vice president of the Continental National bank. In 1928, when the Continental National and Illinois Merchants Trust were consolidated into the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, Mr. Leavell was made executive vice president of a newly formed subsidiary, the Continental Illinois company. He became chairman of this company last year when he also was made assistant to the chairman of the bank.

Mr. Leavell was born in Montgomery City, Mo., on Oct. 12, 1884, and worked in his father's bank at Fulton, Mo., while attending school and college. Then he got a job as a clerk in the Mechanics American National bank, St. Louis, and was promoted to assistant cashier. His next step was to become vice president of the First National bank, St. Louis, and this position he resigned to come to Chicago. For a number of years he has been active in the affairs of the American Bankers' association.

Recession in Steel.

News of trade and industry again surged on the pessimistic yesterday. Further recession in steel production was reported by the mid-week reviews, with the Iron Age estimating average output for the country at 48 per cent of capacity this week, which is the lowest level since the midyear inventory shutdowns and compares with 50 per cent a week ago.

"While November is still too young to give any clear indications as to the trend of pig iron production," the review continues, "current reports on steel plant operations are not reassuring. The steel trade still clings to the opinion that production is close to the bottom, counting on increased railroad buying and a possible gain in structural steel awards to offset losses in tin plate and pipe line tonnage.

Sharp Curtailment.

'October proved another month of sharp curtailment of pig iron production. The daily rate at 69,831 tons fell 8 per cent below September and reached the lowest level for any October since 1921. Scrap markets continue to weaken but neither pig iron nor finished steel prices have shown further changes of importance."

Considerable railroad buying, both of rails and equipment, has appeared this week and new structural projects are the largest for any week since June. But buying by farm equipment makers and automobile manufacturers is at low ebb.

Coincident with general reductions in crude oil prices, petroleum production again turned downward last week. The daily average gross crude oil output totaled 2,363,050 barrels, a decline of 15,150 barrels a day from the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Refineries reduced their operations to 64 per cent of capacity, compared with 65.7 per cent in the previous week. Stocks of gasoline increased 560,000 barrels to a total of 27,215,000 barrels.

Wheat Prices Crash to Low Level as Speculators Sell

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Eastern speculators who were heavy buyers of wheat futures several weeks ago started releasing their holdings on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as reports of a sweeping Democratic election victory poured in.

Prices were sent crashing downward to a new low for the season, with the December touching 72½c on the break. This was within 1½c of the lowest figure reached during the 1906 depression and 2½c above the inside level of 1908.

Stop loss orders were caught on the way down, and the close was well toward the bottom with net losses of 2¼@2⅝c. Buying against bids and by shorts checked the decline, with old December finishing at 72⅞@73c; March, 76⅛@76⅝c; May, 79@79⅛c, and July, 79⅜@79⅝c.

While May and July corn sold at a new low for the season, the market showed considerable resistance to pressure due to buying of corn against sales of wheat. All deliveries of oats and rye sold at a new season's low during the day with December oats touching 30c, the lowest since 1910 when a price of 29½c was recorded.

Discard Old Standards.

All ideas of relative values seem to have been discarded by the trade. Supply and demand statistics appear to have little bearing on the situation. No attention is paid to bullish news on wheat, oats or rye, and prices have long since dropped far below production costs with buyers reluctant to take hold at any figure. Rejected oats at Winnipeg were quoted at 15⅛c per bu at the last, while December barley there was down to 23c and December flax seed finished 6c lower than Monday at $1.10⅜, against $2.71 per bu a year ago.

As compared with a year ago December wheat in the leading markets shows a decline of 46⅝@55⅝c while the May is off 49½@65½c, the latter at Winnipeg. Winnipeg May rye finished 67⅞c lower than in 1929, closing at 37⅞c.

With conditions prevailing which normally have great influence as price making factors, wheat traders are inclined to go slow in expressing a positive opinion as to the trend of the market. To a large extent fluctuations are the result of speculative operations. Russian offerings abroad were reported as decreasing and an Italian authority estimated only 36,000,000 bu wheat remained to be exported this season.

Weather conditions in Argentina were favorable for the rapid development of rust, with rain and high temperatures being reported. Buenos Aires wheat closed 1⅝@2⅛c lower as compared with Monday, with the February delivery finishing at 68c. Liverpool was off 1@1⅛d from Monday and Winnipeg was 2⅛@2¼c lower.

Australian wheat crop is now estimated as high as 210,000,000 bu, the largest on record, comparing with 123,000,000 bu harvested last year. Export demand at the seaboard was reported as slow.

Corn Resists Pressure.

Corn was slightly easier at the start on scattered selling, but the market showed stubborn resistance to pressure later, with spreaders buying corn and selling wheat. The close was ⅝c lower to ¼c higher with old December finishing at 71⅝@71⅞c; March, 74⅝c; May, 77⅛c, and July, 78⅛@78⅜c.

A belief that the movement of cash corn would fall off materially had much to do with stimulating the buying of futures, as weather conditions for several weeks have been favorable for husking. The country shows little disposition to sell, and according to reports from Illinois points the producer does not care to part with his grain at prevailing prices, although in 1931 corn sold down to 44⅝c. Buenos Aires finished 2⅝c lower than on Monday, with December closing at 36½c or 35⅜c under Chicago.

Liquidation and stop loss selling carried oats prices off 2¼@2⅜c from Monday's finish to a new low since 1910 on the nearby future with a limited trade on the way down. The close was 1⅝@2c lower with December 30⅜c and May, 34½@34¼c. Shipping sales aggregated 105,000 bu.

Stop loss orders and the break in wheat carried rye off to a new low since 1898 with the close 1¼@1⅜c lower, December being 42½@42¼c, and May, 48½c. There was considerable spreading between rye and other grains during the day, and between here and the northwest.

SCHACHT 'AVERS TRADE BOOM IS WORLD PROBLEM

Political distrust among nations must be eliminated if the world is to regain prosperity. Restoration of world trade to normalcy is a problem for business leaders of all countries and politicians must not interfere. These warnings were issued by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the German reichsbank, in an address before the Bond Men's club of Chicago at the Union League club yesterday.

"We have legal peace among nations, but not the former peaceful trade relations," he said. "There still is political distrust throughout the world. We must ask the politicians to step out of business. The world need not fear Germany, which will not resort to violence but seeks only peaceful adjustment of the unjust parts of the peace treaties.

"Germany will repay loans made in recent years and will also make the reparations payments if she can earn them. But these payments are not feasible unless world economic prosperity is restored, and the problem must be freed from politics. Germany can compete with other countries if there are free world markets, but she cannot pay reparations if world markets are shut off by high tariff walls.'

STANDARD OF CAL. TO PAY 62½C QUARTERLY, 2% STOCK DIVIDEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 5.—The Standard Oil company of California declared a stock dividend of 2 per cent today, besides the regular quarterly of 62½ cents, and at the same time issued for the first time a quarterly financial statement. This departure from the usual year-end report is made in recognition of what the board believes to be a desire on the part of the company's stockholders for current information regarding the company, it was announced.

Net earnings for the September quarter amounted to $10,717,039 after all charges and estimated federal taxes, compared with $14,267,149 in the corresponding three months of 1929. Operations for the first nine months resulted in a net of $30,435,563, against $34,375,480 in the same period last year.

On the 12,845,980 shares outstanding earnings for the September quarter were equal to 80 cents a share, compared with $1.13 a share on 12,594,098 shares in the third quarter last year. For the first nine months net equaled $2.37 a share, against $2.73.

Referring to the stock dividend, the company informed stockholders that no certificates or scrip will be issued for fractions of shares. Fractional stock interests will be adjusted in cash as in 1929.

Directors of the General Motors corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock.

The extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the stock of Standard Oil company of Nebraska paid in previous quarters was omitted, the board declaring only the regular 62½ cents. The Parker Rustproof company has declared an extra of $1 and the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on common stock.

Directors of the General Asphalt company voted to reduce the quarterly dividend to 75 cents a share, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis.

Would Pick Substitute for Mileage Scale in Rate Fixing

BY SCRUTATOR.

Transportation charges on the products they consume or produce are the most important factors in the economic welfare of most American communities today. This was not true in the same degree in pioneer days, when communities were more nearly self-sufficient and the land or the proximity of mineral wealth were dominant.

There are large business enterprises hundreds of miles from Chicago enjoying a market here which could be ruined by high transportation costs. Similarly, there are enterprises here which could be at least seriously hampered by any substantial increases in their cost of moving products to distant markets.

Certain apparent tendencies in the theory of making transportation charges, particularly in railroad freights, are arousing a great deal of comment among the traffic-wise. Principal among these is the mileage scale system on which numerous decisions of the interstate commerce commission are being based.

Makes Attitude Plain.

This subject was discussed yesterday at a luncheon of the Traffic Club of Chicago by Charles E. Cotterill, attorney for the Southern Industrial Traffic league. In his talk Mr. Catterill made it plain that he is no friend of the mileage scale and added that shippers and carriers had it within their own power to stop the application of them by the commerce commission. That body, he said, was not anxious to assume anything like a traffic management for the entire country nor desirous of applying mileage scales when other legal ways of fixing rates were suggested to them —an opinion that would be disputed by attorneys and traffic men who have tried to escape mileage scales and have failed.

The theory of the mileage scale is (1) that the entire traffic of the country can be placed under a certain number of classifications and (2) that the rate on class 42 or 16 should be so much for ten miles, for 100 miles and further multiples of distance without regard to anything but the classification, the weight, and the distance. Such factors as the actual costs of operation and of the value of the service to the shipper and the value of the shipper to the carrier are ignored.

An instance occurred not many months ago. Railroads desired to make a reduction of a few cents a hundred on steel shipped from the southern end of metropolitan Chicago to Milwaukee, on the ground that under present rates the traffic went to water transport. The application to reduce was refused for the reason that there was already an established rate for such traffic and such distance and the rate making rules would be broken, which outweighed the fact that the railroad was better off getting the traffic at the reduced rate than losing it completely.

Cites Early History.

Early railroad history has many examples of the establishment of industries far from markets solely because they were able to get freight rates that enabled them to compete with establishments closer in. Any conceivable mileage scale would have prevented them from starting business. Long distance transportation was encouraged and the corners of the country were built up; the public benefited by low costs; articles like newsprint paper were made far from the consuming centers because their cost saving was more than sufficient to overcome the shorter shipping distance of nearer high cost mills.

Something more flexible than a mileage scale is needed in rate making. It tends, as Mr. Cotterill remarked, to localization of industry, and a diminution of ton miles of freight, it renders the rails more vulnerable to truck and other competition, and lessens the prometive efficiency of rail management.

PULLMAN CO. NET FOR SEPT. TOTALS $534,943

September gross of Pullman company, the carrier subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., was $6,476,432, contrasted with $7,482,566 for September, 1929. Net after taxes was $534,943, against $1,259,588. Nine months' gross totaled $59,495,410, compared with $63,354,677 for the first nine months of last year, while net after taxes was $4,892,104, against $7,996,168.

Mack Truck had September quarter net profit of $484,242, equal to 62 cents a share, against $2,021,230, or $2.67 a share, in the third quarter last year.

CURB MARKET PRICES CRACK 1 TO 6 POINTS

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Heavy selling of the utility shares depressed active curb market issues 1 to 6 points today. The day's transactions aggregated 625,400 shares, the largest in a fortnight.

Electric Bond and Share was sold in large volume, declining nearly 5 points to 46⅝, a new low. It penetrated for the first time the level of 50, where it met support in the decline of a year ago. American Superpower was carried down about 3 points to a new bottom at 12⅝.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 5.—The stock market got quite upset over the election today. Early weakness in the utilities group, attributed to the results of the gubernatorial contests in Pennsylvania and New York, was followed by a general selling movement as belated ballot returns pointed to the possibility of a Democratic congress. The whole list went down from 1 to 9 points or more. A score of well known issues, including United States Steel, were sunk to new low levels for the year.

High priced rail shares lost 1 to 3 points, oil stocks slid off in a group, and various specialties dipped quite sharply. Allied Chemical and Dye was again driven below the 200 point mark and finished showing a net loss of 7 points. Eastman Kodak was under renewed attack and dropped 9 points. Declines of 3 to 5 points were numerous and included besides U. S. Steel such well known stocks as Westinghouse Manufacturing, Western Union, Case Threshing Machine, Johns-Manville, Foster-Wheeler, Du Pont, and American Can.

Hits Utilities Hard.

Virtually every active utility on the list had to take its medicine. American Water Works and American Power and Light each dropped 4 points. Public Service of New Jersey hit the toboggan for 4⅞. Pacific Lighting dipped 3, Foreign Power 2⅞, and Electric Power and Light 3¼ points. Neither Gov. Roosevelt nor Mr. Pinchot are reckoned as particular friends of the utility companies in Wall street circles and selling developed in the group of these shares as soon as the market opened.

In his campaign Pinchot has been promising certain legislation to curb the utility interests of Pennsylvania if elected governor, while in New York

The Modern Method of Common Stock Investment

How you can buy a cross-section of American business —25 standard common stocks—in a single investment

STANDARD American Trust Shares —a fixed common stock trust—is the answer to the modern investor's demand for a convenient, practical, and safeguarded method of making a diversified investment in the highest grade of common stocks.

Recognizing such a demand, the sponsors of the distribution of Standard American Trust Shares, after months of study and consultation with research and statistical experts, have selected twenty-five leading common stocks, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and made this diversified group of shares the basis of a single investment.

The selection of stocks includes American Telephone, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, du Pont, United States Steel, and seventeen others. It is believed that no other twenty-five common stocks as well represent a complete cross-section of successful American industry.

These stocks are made available in one single investment through the plan of placing the stocks in trust with a conservative trust company—and selling to investors certificates of interest in this trust deposit. These certificates are available in denominations of 10, 25, 50, and 100 shares, or more, representing an investment of about $80 and upward.

Authorities agree that intelligent diversification is of primary importance to successful investment. However, adequate diversification among the high priced common stocks has been difficult or impossible for the average investor. Today, through Standard American Trust Shares, every investor may gain the advantages of comprehensive diversification among stocks selected with the utmost care by competent experts.

The distribution of these shares is sponsored by Lawrence Stern and Company and The National Republic Company, investment affiliate of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago.

CHICAGO STOCKS OFF IN REACTION TO THE ELECTION

Chief Sufferers Found in Utility List.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Chicago stocks were swept along in the general reaction which hit the commodity and security markets throughout the country in the post election trading yesterday. Utility shares were the chief sufferers with losses from one to three points prevailing in the group.

The weakness in the utility issues here reflected a similar movement in New York following on the heels of the election by two eastern states of governors noted as foes of the "utility interests."

The market's principal feature was the lack of any significant buying power rather than any substantial amount of liquidation. The trading showed some increase over Monday's slow pace but transactions reached a total of only 111,000 shares.

Insull Issues Decline.

Stock of Middle West Utilities company, large Insull holding firm, moved down 1¼ on a turnover of nearly 17,000 shares, the largest volume for any single issue. Commonwealth Edison on comparatively heavy trade dipped to 242 then rallied a couple of points to finish with a net loss of 4½. Insull Utility was down nearly two points during the day but retrieved all but a fraction of its loss. Losses of a point or so were sustained by Cities Service, Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line, and Utilities Power and Light "A."

Among the specialties, motors and investment issues reverses were limited to a narrow margin. In some instances, notably Continental Chicago and Pines Winterfront, the losses resulted in new low quotations for the year. There was one conspicuous exception to the trend among the motors. Noblitt Sparks was quoted between 34 and 40, the final sale being made at the latter price as compared with its previous quotation of 32.

Exchange governors at their weekly meeting yesterday approved the listing of $5,000,000 depository certificates of participation in the fifteen year 5 per cent mortgages of S. S. Kresge company. Listing of 284,058 additional shares of Middle West Utilities campany created by the 2 per cent stock dividend was also approved.

List Additional Shares.

Additional first preferred and class A stock of the Associated Telephone Utilities company which was sold to acquire a larger interest in the Cable Telephone and General Trust, Ltd., was also listed. The amount of the listing consisted of 15,000 first preferred shares and 7,916 of the class A shares.

The small volume of business continues to be reflected in the prices of exchange seats. The last was made at $14,000, a drop of $1,000 from the previous price. Transfer of memberships to Albert P. Hunt, Chicago, and Todd W. Lewis of Minneapolis has been approved by the governing committee.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Liquidation throughout the list pushed Chicago curb prices downward yesterday. Commonwealth Edison, Public Service, and Peoples Gas rights were fractionally lower, while declines of a point or more in American Superpower, General Petroleum, and Diamond Match common found these stocks at new low quotations for the year. Photocolor and Corporate Trust shares advanced fractionally.

WESTERN MEAT STOCKS LESS

Stocks of meats at western packing points Nov. 1 were 129,672,000 lbs. the smallest in many years. They decreased 13,299,000 lbs during October, compared with a loss of 21,564,000 lbs last year and 14,952,000 lbs two years ago. Stocks last year were 199,779,000 lbs. Lard stocks are unusually small, 19,517,000 lbs against 73,650,000 lbs last year, a decrease for the month of 19,599,000 lbs, compared with a loss of 38,000,000 lbs last year.

The small stocks had a strengthening influence on market values for a time yesterday, but the break in grains and stocks brought increased offerings toward the last and lard futures finished 7½@12½c lower, the main strength being in May. Hog prices were fairly strong, with receipts less than a week and a year ago. Cash trade was fair. Prices follow:

Who's Right... Right Now?

The woods are full of prophets. Their long range forecasts won't help you . . . their near term opinions are usually glittering generalities. What you should do depends on who you are, what you have, what return you need. We can't assist traders. But we are helping hundreds of investors to increase yields and avoid needless losses. May we tell you how? No cost or obligation.

Position of Industries—Our quarterly analysis of the position and future trend of 40 basic industries; covers the leading companies therein and our outlook for their securities. Ask for Bulletin 21.

CANADIAN WHEAT POOL SUFFERS IN GRAIN SLUMP

Marketing of Surpluses Proves Problem.

Lack of large speculative interest in the United States and Canada, with indifference on the part of foreign buyers, combined with Russia's attitude in unloading commodities, and particularly grains, at the lowest prices in recent years, has brought about a most unfavorable situation in all agricultural countries of the world.

Pools and government created corporations have all suffered. Farmers have suffered relatively more than others by the continued decline in grain prices in the last few months. Wheat is down to the lowest since 1906, oats the lowest since 1910, and rye the lowest since 1898. Efforts on the part of the pools to maintain prices and government interference in general have cost many millions of dollars, it is estimated.

Has Large Carry-Over.

The Canadian wheat pool, which last year handled 60 per cent of the western Canadian wheat crop, was unable to market its surplus last year and carried over around 75,000,000 bu or more wheat, which it has been disposing of for the last few months through export sales in competition with Argentina and Australia. Competition from Russia has made it bad for all exporting countries.

The Canadian pool, it is generally understood, has been assisted by the banks and the government, and they are said to have hedged more of their cash wheat holdings by sales of futures in leading speculative markets. Every effort is said to have been made to dispose of the surplus Canadian wheat, and with a larger crop than last year the position of holders of all grains has been unprofitable.

So far about 50 per cent of the Canadian wheat crop has been moved, of which the pool has handled its proportionate share. It has sold wheat as fast as possible, but does not give out its figures on exports. Canadian wheat has moved faster than last year, the harvest being earlier.

Hit by Depression.

Grain markets have suffered from unnatural depression in general business and from lack of speculation attributed to various influences, the general impression in the trade being that there has been too much government for the benefit of the trade in general.

With larger crops in North America than last year and with a lighter volume of speculative support, prices have declined irregularly and are down to levels that show Winnipeg wheat prices 65c less than a year ago. In handling the 1929 wheat crop the pool guaranteed $1 a bushel for No. 1 northern spring wheat delivered at Port Arthur and Fort William.

Reports from Winnipeg for some time past claimed that the pool had not made complete settlement to the farmers on last year's crop. Premier Bracken of Manitoba has recently been quoted as saying that the provincial governments are facing a loss of $10,000,000 on the recent crop in assisting the pool and the provincial legislatures are to be asked to pass bills providing for payment. At the beginning of the movement this season farmers were guaranteed 60c a bushel, or a drop of 40c from last year, and a few weeks ago the pool lowered its price to 55c.

Initial Payments.

The pool's initial payment price on oats is 25c; rye, 30c; barley, 20c, and flax, $1 a bushel, delivered at Fort William. On this basis cash wheat prices are only about 7c above the pool's figures, with cash oats 3c above, barley 4c, rye 2c, and flax about 11c above.

Oat futures in Winnipeg at the close on Nov. 5 were off about 33c, rye 32c to about 38c, and barley 44@45c from the close a year ago.

Wheat prices in Chicago yesterday were 47@51c under those of a year ago, while oats are off around 15c and rye $1@62c. Prices are so low that farmers, both in Canada and in the United States, are not marketing freely.

COTTON OFF $1.50 A BALE; SMALL RECOVERY AT CLOSE

Cotton was under pressure from liquidators and hedge sales and at the extreme low showed a loss of over $1.50 a bale. A moderate rally came toward the last, with net losses of around $1.00. Futures in Chicago finished with net losses of 28@33 points, with other markets off 17@31 points. Spots declined 25 points, with New York 10.95c; New Orleans, 10.65c; Galveston, 10.75c, and Houston, 10.80c. Liverpool was weak and closed 10@12 points lower, with spot sales of 5,000 bales.

The Miller-Bennett ginning report to Nov. 1 showed 16,723,114 bales, against 16,891,940 bales last year. The Garside service says the ratio of consumption compared with last year is expected to improve. Prices follow:

Receipts at Chicago for today estimated at 7,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep.

Cattle featured the live stock market in a rise to the highest level since early last June on yesterday's active session. Receipts at 10,000 were smallest for Wednesday since Oct. 1, while only 7,000 are estimated for today, against 10,571 last Thursday. The week's total is expected to be the smallest since middle of last August.

During the first half of the week receipts at 20 leading markets decreased 93,000 head, the total at 181,000 being 70,000 smaller than a year ago. In the scramble for well finished steers, Armour paid the new top to $13.70 for 94 yearlings averaging 991 lbs. More than 500 averaging 790@1,153 lbs sold at $13.25@13.65. Butcher stock sold strong to 25c higher, baby beef heifers selling at $12.90. Calves sold steady. Stockers and feeders were scarce and demand narrow. Less than 1,000 western cattle were offered and prices shared in the general gain.

Hogs sold on an erratic market yesterday, but averaged 5c higher at $9.15. The extreme top was unchanged at $9.45 while packing grades advanced fully 10@15c, due to the scarcity of the latter kinds.

Hogs to be delivered to the buyer during the first half of next March sold at $9.25 on the hog futures market yesterday. Trading was fairly active at generally steady prices. Open contracts for light weights for next January were sold at $8.75@8.80, closing at the low point, while mediums for the same month sold at $8.90.

On the "to arrive" market 210@260 lb mediums were offered at $9.50 and bid $9.40, while 260@310 lb heavy hogs carried bids of $9.30 and 170@210 lb averages, $9.25.

Lambs slid to the lowest level in more than a week's time in spite of dwindling supplies at all leading markets. Bearish reports from semi-demoralized dressed lamb markets at some points in the east offset the strengthening influence of small receipts and buyers were well in control at the finish.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs and 9,000 sheep, against 10,571 cattle, 38,056 hogs and 20,042 sheep on the previous Thursday and 8,791 cattle, 35,124 hogs and 10,870 sheep a year ago.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Standard butter was ½c higher and other kinds unchanged, while fresh eggs gained 1c. Live heavy white ducks sold 1c higher with other kinds unchanged. Receipts by freight, 7 cars. Potatoes steady to a shade lower with a slow demand. Receipts, 133 cars with 504 cars on team track.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Was fairly active today and with a steady to firm tone, reflecting strength in crude markets which offset the easiness elsewhere. Trading was quite mixed with commission houses generally on the buying side and refiners' brokers both buying and selling. Old contracts closed unchanged to 15 points higher and new unchanged to 12 higher; sales were 300 brls in old contract and 19,950 in new; prime crude, 6.37½@6.50c; prime summer yellow, old; Spot and November, 7.70c; December, 7.90c; new; December, 7.60c; January, 7.70c; March, 7.78c; May, 7.88c.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures advanced on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, bullish storage news encouraging buying. Short covering furnished the most important support during the day, although new buying aided in the underlying strength in December butter. Egg futures gained at the opening, but lost some of the ground toward the close. Short covering in eggs likewise was a main factor. Selling on the advances was largely of a realizing nature on the part of recent buyers.

Weekly storage reports showed 636,000 lbs more butter received in the 26 cities and 20,000 cases more eggs, than during the same period a year ago. In addition, the four markets reported 135,000 lbs more butter and 11,000 cases more eggs taken out during the last two days. The production report in butter recorded the make nearly 10 per cent under a year ago, but 2.6 per cent over a week ago. Sales: Butter, 83 cars; eggs, 155 cars. Receipts for two days: Butter, 17,425 tubs; eggs, 5,981 cases. Deliveries: Butter, 16 cars; no eggs. Prices follow:

Edward H. Harriman

. . . Railroad empire builder, banker, heroic figure of finance and industry.

He made management pay Dividends

Master of finance and a dominant figure in Wall Street during his lifetime, Edward H. Harriman occupied a position unique in the annals of big business. An almost uncanny faculty of management enabled him to rebuild bankrupt railroads and turn them into immensely profitable, dividend-paying properties.

Back of his manifold interests in leading banks, railroads, insurance companies and other large enterprises loomed his strongest fortress—the UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD which became, under his able guidance, one of the nation's richest corporations.

The management policies which he inaugurated are today largely responsible for the successful operation of the UNION PACIFIC and ILLINOIS CENTRAL Railroad Companies which, together with 48 other corporations, are represented in the portfolio of common stocks which comprise—

RECOMMENDED AND SOLD BY LEADING BANKS AND INVESTMENT DEALERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Now more than 10 MILLION Corporate Trust Shares

ON November 1, 1930 there were outstanding with investors 152,231 certificates representing more than 10 million Corporate Trust Shares.

*Seven months before, on April 1, 1930, there were 2,152,000 Corporate Trust Shares outstanding.

Sales by investment houses and banks of more than 8 million Corporate Trust Shares in seven months evidence their wide appeal to investors.

The strong companies included in the portfolio (listed at the right) together with the convenience and advantages of the trust form of holding and the exceptional return afforded by the Corporate Trust Share plan, have contributed to this widespread favor. In our opinion, however, two outstanding Corporate Trust Share features are largely responsible, because of their inherent fairness to the investor:

(1) Unclaimed coupon monies or unclaimed principal are not paid over to the sponsors by the Trustee at the end of six years. These always remain with the independent Trustee where holders of certificates or coupons may always claim such funds.

(2) The portfolio is 100% efficient because both the underlying stocks and the cash in the Reserve Fund work for the investor. The cash now deposited in the Reserve Fund to stabilize future distributions is earning interest for Corporate Trust Shareholders. Using the average interest rate applicable for the 10 years ended January 1, 1930, and based upon present cash in Reserve Fund only, this earning compounded semi-annually amounts to during the life of the trust. The creation of additional Corporate Trust Shares will increase this amount; all of it, however, will represent earnings for the holders of Corporate Trust Shares.

*Active selling in eastern territory was not begun until March 1930.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila Fay married King George despite the opposition of her uncle and guardian, Jim Donahue, and her former suitor, Jim Molloy, and disapproving friends.

King, known as "The Wild Boy of Harvard," must wait several years before receiving the principal of the fortune left by his father, Joshua George, of chewing gum fame.

After the wedding they elope to avoid the reception. Instead of going to Monterey, where their baggage had been shipped, they slip off to Lake Tahoe. King is strangely sullen and irritable, and a phone call which Sheila overhears King make reveals to her the reason—he is a drug addict and, because of their changed honeymoon plans, is without a supply. Sheila determines to fight for King's regeneration and consults a federal narcotic agent, who suggests a program, which if rigidly adhered to would effect a cure. King had entered his favorite horse, Wind, in the Tia Juana races, with the intention of telling him himself, so they go to San Diego. The day before his race Sheila overhears her husband and his trainer planning to dope Wind to insure his winning. The day of the race King asks Sheila to place his bets for him on Wind. Instead she places them on his opponent, who wins. After the race Sheila tells King what she had done and why.

King had promised Sheila to go with her to Alaska after the races. Jim Molloy is also in Nome and he meets them there at Sheila's request. He helps her to carry out her plan to take King to a remote spot, there to help him fight off his baneful habit. Sheila and Jim had booked passage on the boat returning to California. Jim invites them for an early farewell breakfast at his cabin. King's coffee is drugged and Sheila and Jim carry him off unconscious to a cabin, not far from Nome, although seemingly in the heart of the frozen wilderness. Two servants, an Eskimo couple hired by Jim, are at the cabin.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

TRAPPED.

It will be better when King wakes for him to think he's been here some time." And that whoever brought him here is far away."

Of course, Jim would think of that. . . .

The Eskimo was following already given orders. He was putting her bags behind the other curtains, where she observed now the other couch . . . The hangings were gay . . . King's suitcases and his Gladstone bag were already out of sight. And then her survey discovered a bunch of fading forget-me-nots on the table, the books on the shelves, magazines lying about as though they had already been read, the radio, the phonograph . . .

Jim was soon at her side again. Was it already time to say good-by? He was scowling at her; over what he saw in her eyes. She smiled up at him. "Okeh, major!"

"It's not too late even now, mavourneen, for you to let me stay. The Eskimo can take you back to Nome tomorrow. You can put up with one night in their shack."

Not quite sure of her voice, she shook her head vigorously. It wasn't that she had weakened; she hated to see him go. With him would go the life of yesterday; the life not made up of dreams. But she couldn't tell him that; it wouldn't be sporting; he would misunderstand. Nor could she tell him why he was the last person who should meet the struggle with King; that King hated him.

Not—handcuffs? The poor overanxious Jim!

"Don't fret about me, Jim."

"You'll have a letter waiting for me at the other shack next month, Sheila?"

She nodded.

He dragged a package from the side pocket of his cloth coat, underneath his parka.

"This box—keep it where he won't find it."

His smile ridiculed her. "It's not a gun."

Waveringly, she got to her feet. "I want to kiss you goodby, Jim, dear."

"I've never refused any woman that privilege, begorra!" But his mockery involved himself, for the cheek her lips touched was wet.

"Good-by. Thank you, Jim."

"Good-by, Sheila."

["Sheila. Darling!"]

Because of the silent shape on the couch, they were whispering, as though they were guilty lovers. Jim took his last look at her face. He tore himself away from her, at the door beckoning to the Eskimo. She heard the door open, heard it close. She was alone. Jim was gone. . . .

She went to the window. Through its frosted pane she could barely see Jim and the Eskimo trotting down the slight grade, and passing out to the snow covered tundra. The Eskimo was carrying the stretcher on his back; in his hand were snowshoes. He would wear them coming back? She willed that Jim would turn to wave at her. Perhaps he had. Perhaps she could not see because of the mist—the mist outside the cottage, the mist in her eyes . . .

The darkness was closing in upon her. And upon—the stranger on the bed. She did not know the King who was going to waken in that accusing cabin. She did not know what he would say. . . . Jim might come back again; he had said he would if Happy Jack could not manage alone the rest of the luggage. But he would not come to that cabin. No, Jim had gone . . .

A sharp sound behind her made her turn. King had not stirred. He was lying as Jim had left him, blanketed to the chin. His eyes were still closed.

It was the log on the hearth which had fallen. Charred through, it was lying on the bricked space; like two eyes of hate it was glaring at her.

What was King like, in anger? What would he say when he awoke? Those carefully locked bags of his—she'd seen him lock them at the hotel—O, surely they contained fuel for his rage. She'd been warned of violence; it wasn't that she feared. But words. She was a coward about words, about speech which would sear memory, which can murder love.

Every one, she defended herself, has a core of cowardice. Hers had been kept concealed. For she had always been able to run away from the threat of scenes; no one had ever guessed that she was white livered—Sheila Fay, the indomitable, they'd called her. Large spirited and forgiving. They had all said; when she was actually a craven. And here she could not get away . . .

Her hand was still gripping the box given her by Jim. What did it hold that the stranger on the bed must not see? She crept toward the corner where her own bed stood, with the crude dresser and washstand, and softly drew close the curtains. Silencing the crackling of the stiff paper wrappings she extricated a cardboard box.

Not—handcuffs? The poor, overanxious Jim! Why, she could smile again. King hadn't reached that stage; he would never reach it. She would never have to use the hateful things which made her fingers feel disgraced, besmirched. Jim was forgetting that this was not an ordinary—case: that King was a gentleman, that he was young, and that he still loved her. But what was it the government agent had told her? Addicts hate whatever, whoever stand in their way; and that they blindly strike. Not that, kind God, not that!

"King loves me. Tomorrow I'll hide this—no, now——"

It was not a noise, but a difference in the quality of the silence, which made her peer through the curtains.

King's eyes were open. They were making a tour of the cabin. In a minute they would reach her—his jailer. . . .

How long had he been awake and watching her? Minutes or hours had she been standing by the window, gazing out upon that strange, menacing world? His survey was still demanding answer of the alien interior; it had not yet challenged her. When at last it reached her, expressionless though it was, she trembled, for the look put a barrier between them. She dreaded, yet craved, his first words. . . . If only he would give one of those mocking chuckles of his—or say, "What's the great idea? Trying to salvage me?" The silence was unbearable. The stare became accusative. She left the window, pausing to straighten out one of the caribou rugs, which had been trampled askew. By aid of the dying embers on the hearth she lit several of the candles, their light revealing boldly the old mining cabin; for the fur rugs, the bright chintz hangings, the booklined shelves, even the phonograph and radio, the bouquet of wilting forget-me-nots gathered by the Eskimos before the mercury fell had softened but could not disguise the crude shack. Particularly definite was the stove, whose tin pipe mounted to a hole in the ceiling. Not for more than an instant could a dulled, awakening eye think itself in a ship's berth, about to be carried out to open sea . . .

Furiously conscious of bravado, she essayed the gestures of housekeeping routine; she refed the fires and replaced in the stone jug a few stalks of the blue flowers which had fallen on the table. King's eyes she knew, though she would not again meet them, were following her about the room. . . . During those unnatural minutes it came to the wife that this was not the first time he had been so trapped. Which explained why he would not speak to her; he understood without being told.

Because she had trained animals, she knew she must not betray any uncertainty of authority. As she moved behind the curtains which sheltered her own bed she sent a falsely secure smile towards the occupied couch—a swift greeting which was not returned might not have been recognized. King, she was determined, must be the first to speak.

Hidden by the hangings, she began a noiseless organization of the shelves and drawers which had been provided for her use.

Why Should Yankees Fret? Briton Inquires

Brig. Gen. Spears Here as Bordens' Guest.

The "absolute insanity" of the United States in the latest tariff bill has astounded Great Britain, Brig. Gen. E. L. Spears of London remarked yesterday on his arrival in Chicago. Gen. Spears will be in this country for a month visiting, principally, with his brother-in-law, John Borden. Mrs. Spears, the former Mary Borden of Chicago, now a successful novelist, will join him here Wednesday.

Two missions, aside from the social one, bring Gen. Spears to America. In his post as a director of Gibson, Johnson and Borden, Inc., he wished to inspect the company's oil properties in upper Michigan and will leave today for Muskegon to witness the bringing in of a new well on Friday. In Muskegon, the general and Mr. Borden will be joined by Sir Henry Thornton of the Canadian railways, one of the investors.

The other mission is to determine the nature of the contemporary American "nervousness," the word the general used in describing the nation's pulse as he has taken it. He is amazed at the turbulent state of mind this country has got itself into, he said, and wishes to inquire into it before he returns home a month hence.

"For," he said yesterday in Mr. Borden's office, "if you people here had the unemployment problem that we have had in England for the last ten years you would be worrying. We are going to pull through our troubles and the number of men out of work in Great Britain is far greater, in proportion, to the number here. Assuming that with your population of 120,000,000 you have 6,000,000 out of work, consider our situation with a population of 45,000,000 and 2,000,000 unemployed!"

A member of the Conservative party which he once represented in parliament from his home district of Carlisle near the Scotch border, Gen. Spears predicted that the Conservatives would soon return to power. One of their first moves when that occurs, he said, will be to put the "dole" system of payment to the jobless on an economic basis.

Council Votes for Legion War Memorial for Wacker Drive

The erection of a war memorial by the Cook County council of the American Legion in the Wacker drive plaza at Wabash avenue was authorized by the city council yesterday. The authorization was requested by nine service men in the city council, headed by Ald. William D. Meyering [8th], and is subject to the approval of Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe.

In the plaza at present is an island, about 36 feet in diameter, surrounded by a curb. The design of the memorial calls for a mound of rough stones inside this circle with small evergreens growing here and there. These stones will be brought from each of the battlefields of France and the naval bases of Europe where any Illinois company or unit was stationed. In a niche in the rock on one side is to be hung a bell which will be chimed each morning at 11 o'clock.

On top of the mound is to be portrayed a doughboy standing with bowed head before the newly made grave of a comrade whose gun is rammed bayonet first into the earth with his helmet and identification tag hanging from the gun butt. The memorial was designed by Leonard H. Grosse and is to be executed by Frederick Hibbard, Chicago sculptor.

Garfield Park "Mum" Show Will Open on Saturday

Garfield park's 18th annual chrysanthemum show, which starts next Saturday and lasts until Nov. 30, will enable visitors to view 675 varieties of that flower with the accompanying privileges of free lectures and free guide service. That was announced yesterday by August Koch, chief florist. More than 20,000 square feet of space in the conservatory and horticultural hall will be given over to the show.

Mr. Koch called attention to one variety, the chrysanthemum indicum, which is known to have existed in China in 2000 B. C. This plant is on display with many other rare and attractive species. Admission to the show is free.

'Babbitt,' Real Go-Getter, Wins Nobel Prize

Sinclair Lewis Is the First American So Rewarded.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5.—(AP)—George F. Babbitt, created by Sinclair Lewis in 1922, has taken the Nobel prize in literature to the United States for the first time in the twenty-nine years since that award was established.

Lewis, who declined the Pulitzer prize of 1926 for his novel "Arrowsmith," was selected today as the Nobel prize winner on the basis of "Babbitt" which Sweden regards as his masterpiece. The money value of the award is $46,360, a greater amount than in any previous year.

The red haired temperamental American writer now joins the notable company of authors which includes George Bernard Shaw, Thomas Mann, Anatole France, Romain Rolland, and others who have received the award since the first of the series was presented to the Frenchman, Sully-Proudhomme, in 1901.

The Swedish academy made it clear the choice of Mr. Lewis was based on "Babbitt," but it was understood that appreciation also was expressed for "Elmer Gantry" and "Dodsworth," others of his novels. Many of Lewis' novels have been translated into Swedish.

The Nobel prize for literature, founded with other awards by the Swedish scientist, Alfred B. Nobel, inventor of explosives, was instituted in 1901 and has been awarded yearly with two exceptions from the interest of a $9,000,000 fund. Lewis is the first American to win it. Other winners and the year of their awards have been: 1901, R. F. A. Sully-Prudhomme, French; 1902, Th. Mommsen, German; 1903, B. Bjornson, Norwegian; 1904, F. Mistral, French, and J. Echegaray, Spanish; 1905, H. Sienkiewicz, Polish; 1906, G. Caduci, Italian; 1907, Kipling, English; 1908, R. Eucken, German; 1909, Selma Lagerlof, Swedish; 1910, P. Heyse, German.

1911, Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian; 1912, G. Hauptmann, German; 1913, Rabindranath Tagore, Bengal; 1914, not awarded; 1915, Rolland, French; 1916, Verner Heidenstam, Swedish; 1917, K. Gjellerup and H. Pontopiddan, both Danish; 1918, not awarded; 1919, Carl Spitteler, Swiss; 1920, Knut Hamsun, Norwegian.

1921, Anatole France, French; 1922, J. Benevente, Spanish; 1922, W. B. Yeats, Irish; 1924, Wladislau Reymontnm, Polish; 1925, Shaw, English; 1926, Signora G. Deledda, Italian; 1927, Henri Bergson, French; 1928, Mrs. S. Undset, Norwegian; 1929, Mann, German; 1930, Lewis, American.

Lewis Gladly Accepts.

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—"Red" Lewis, the one time Sauk Center, Minn., boy, left his Connecticut farm today and came to town to hear and talk about his winning the Nobel prize in literature for 1930.

"I feel," he said, when he had caught his breath, "the highest honor and gratification at being the first American to be awarded the Nobel prize in literature, and I am accepting it with pleasure."

"I shall use it to support a well known young American author and his family, and to enable him to continue writing."

The young American author is Sinclair Lewis himself.

"The general theory," he added, "is that if a writer is not 180 per cent American he is 180 per cent un-American. If you don't sit on the bandwagon you're called a muckraker.

"My novels are about people. Elmer Gantry just happened to be a preacher. I said some nice things about preachers in the book. You might as well say I glorified preachers as to say I exposed them.

"Doctors have told me 'Arrowsmith' is an exposé of doctors. You might as well say that 'The Bridge of San Luis Rey' is an exposé of Peruvian bridge makers."

Lewis was born at Sauk Center, Minn., Feb. 7, 1885, of Yankee descent. He will go to Stockholm to receive the Nobel prize formally Dec. 10.

Lewis, who rejected the $1,000 Pulitzer award for his book "Arrowsmith" a few years ago, said this afternoon he had accepted the Nobel prize, because it "is an international prize with no strings tied to it," but that he rejected the Pulitzer prize because it "is cramped with the provision that it shall be given for an American novel . . . presenting the best picture of wholesome American life and the highest standard of American manners and manhood."

Lewis, who is 45 years old, has been married twice. His first wife was Grace Livingston Hegger of New York. Wells Sinclair, a son, was born in 1914 of the first marriage. The boy recently was described as a "typical American" who is being educated in New England. The first wife obtained a divorce in Reno, Nev., in 1928.

Lewis' second marriage took place in London in 1928, the year he was divorced. The present Mrs. Lewis was Dorothy Thompson, daughter of a Methodist minister who held a pastorate at North Tonawanda, N. Y. The bride had been married several years before in Vienna to Dr. Joseph Bard, a Hungarian philosopher. That union was dissolved in 1925. She has acted as a newspaper correspondent in Europe.

Lewis' publishers said today the total of his five most recent best sellers was 1,360,000 copies. Of those, "Main Street" reached 525,000 and "Elmer Gantry" 300,000. "Arrowsmith" went to 150,000, and "Dodsworth" only 190,000.

SALLY APPEALS BY RADIO, ASKING JOBS FOR UNEMPLOYED

Until eight months ago life held much for a young husband, 26 years old, the father of a 2 year old child. He had a good job as a paymaster. Then one day that firm went bankrupt.

He began the weary search for work, but found none. His wife was more successful, but she, expecting another child, had to give up her job.

"I am living about, catch as catch can, while my wife and baby are staying with a young married couple who can scarcely afford to take care of themselves," the father wrote to Sally Joy Brown at THE TRIBUNE'S bureau for the unemployed, yesterday. I don't want financial aid. I want to work for what I get so that I can feed and shelter my family.

"I had one year of university training and up to the time of my idleness had been going to school nights. My wife and I are both despondent.

Over WGN, THE TRIBUNE radio station on the Drake hotel, Sally told similar stories yesterday in her second appeal for jobs for the unemployed.

"We've had some fine offers for men today," said Sally. "A good many people are taking a real interest. The owner of several apartment buildings who regularly employs only one janitor called to tell us he was engaging two others.

"We received a call today for four men to load trucks for several days. The pay was fifty cents an hour. The S. & Co. put in a order for odd jobs at $5 apiece for ten men who were to call at their office.

If you can think of a job tell it to Sally at Superior 0100.

THE STAGE

"SONS O' GUNS."

A musical comedy, given at the Grand Opera house Nov. 5, 1930, with Harry Richman as star, under the management of Connolly and Swanstrom. Libretto by Fred Thompson and Jack Donahue; music and lyrics by Arthur Swanstrom, Benny Davis, and J. Fred Coots. Stage direction by Bobby Connolly.

And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

FROM a technical point of view, the story to be told about "Sons o' Guns," which is new at the Grand Opera house, centers in the question: How is Harry Richman in the rôle of the late Jack Donahue? And yet I feel that for the average playgoer this is not a matter of any special importance.

Mr. Donahue, unhappily, has gone to join the great clowns of the past in the Valhalla of the theater; Mr. Richman has replaced him with a star's ranking; and "Sons o' Guns" is still a musical comedy of unusual value as entertainment. Donahue's name survives on the program as part-author and the show goes on, as all good shows should—a success from the first to the fifteenth and last scene of its generous program.

Mr. Richman is primarily a singer—and there are songs in the score of "Sons o' Guns" that call for lyric prowess such as Donahue, the harlequin and dancer, never had. Such numbers as "Singing a Vagabond Song," "There's Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie," and "The Sunny Side of the Street"—Mr. Richman trolls them out richly, vivaciously, gleefully. He sings with much of the Jolson unction and sweeps his audience into bursts of applause that formerly, no doubt, were evoked by Donahue's nimble feet. Some of these numbers are recent additions to the piece, but they do not seem like interpolations.

As a comedian, in the depiction of a scatter-brained doughboy who eases his way through the world war with eccentric humor, Mr. Richman adjusts himself neatly to the rôle without striving to imitate his predecessor. He is not as quaintly amusing, of course, but he is funny enough to satisfy any one who is free from the vice of making comparisons. So I should say that the new star of "Sons o' Guns" is altogether satisfactory.

As a musical comedy of the war, this frolic is memorable. Its military atmosphere is persuasive; its sense of humor is virile and refreshing; its pageantry is handsome, and its dancing girls are delightful. In short, "Sons o' Guns" is swell. That is the easiest and best way of reporting upon it.

Gina Malo is everything that little French girls of wartime romance should be. She is pretty, piquant and appealing; and she too is an accomplished singer of the good tunes in which this piece abounds. This is Gina's first time here, and she deserves warm welcome. If she is really as French as her name and accent suggest, she is the best soubrette that Paris has sent over here since Irene Bordoni.

William Frawley puts much virile humor into the rôle of the top sergant, and David Hutcheson contributes some new touches of British humor to the character of the monocled major. The ballet girls trained by the inevitable Albertina Rasch are decidedly worth inspection.

Women Plan Charity Dance to Aid Jobless

Set Dec. 18 as Public's Chance to Help.

The Illinois Women's Athletic club announced last night that it will give a charity ball on Dec. 18 with proceeds going to the Good Fellow fund.

"Through the Good Fellows," said Mrs. Bessie Bragg Pierson, president of the club, "we want to help destitute families normally supported by working women and girls.

MRS. BESSIE PIERSON.

"The city has many widowed mothers who in better times are able to provide for themselves and their children but who, during this temporary business lull, find themselves without employment. There are also many grown girls who in better times supported younger brothers and sisters as well as a widowed mother but who are now without a job."

Mrs. Thomas J. Houston, chairman of the club's philanthropy committee, told of some of the plans for the ball.

"We hope to rival the grand old charity balls that are part of Chicago's history of a quarter of a century ago," she said.

"In addition to the dancing, there will be a buffet supper and some entertainment. A few folks from the opera and the current plays will be invited. We'll use the thirteenth and the fourteenth floors of the club building, which is at 111 East Pearson street."

Tickets are being sold at $5 each. The club has 3,800 members. The affair is also open to the public.

There was more good news yesterday for the city's 75,000 destitute families, who needed good news last night as a sharp north wind send the thermometer down in homes without adequate fuel, food, or clothes. Donations and pledges, large and small, continued to pour into the Good Fellow headquarters at THE TRIBUNE as the weather made the need for charity more acute.

Employes of May & Malone, loop merchants, boosted their contribution raised at a party last week to $1,105. The management, waitresses, cooks, bus boys, and dishwashers of the Japanese lunchroom, Hotel Stevens, mailed $141.80.

Ruth Goldman, 6429 South Green street, turned in a little over $5 raised at a small bridge party. Emma Van Allen Ford of the Passavant Memorial Hospital School of Nursing mailed a day's pay and said she will repeat this through the winter.

Employes of the Dwight Bros. Paper company sent in the first weekly donation of $29. The Chicago Tobacco Jobbers' association mailed a check of $200 "to relieve the suffering caused by unemployment." Employes of D. S. Komiss & Co. sent $25.

Mrs. Carpenter Gives Ideas on New Interiors

BY THALIA

Considerable interest in interior decoration in general and in Mrs. John Alden Carpenter's ideas on the subject in particular resulted in the Casino ballroom being filled to its capacity doors yesterday morning with audience eager to hear her speak. The talk was one of a series of three being given under the auspices of the Chicago Council of Women Voters.

Mrs. Carpenter spoke with an engaging informality that delighted her audience, and interspersed her theoretical statements with replies to queries made by members of the audience. Some of the remarks that the listeners particularly relished were:

"I think that a woman who hires a decorator to take over the job of doing her house is crazy—the decorator has preconceived ideas and can't possibly know the appropriate kind of background to create."

"Modern indirect lighting is most effective, but it is terribly unbecoming to people."

"A room should be arranged with a purpose in mind — a reception room, for example, doesn't have to be comfortable, but a room for reading should be designed for comfort and without distracting and confusing elements."

"I think that one has to be born with a sense of form and of color, but a sense of composition can be developed by study."

"A great many people have prejudices instead of ideas."

Asked by Mrs. William G. Hibbard whether she had had a decorative scheme in mind when the first Casino was built Mrs. Carpenter replied: "Well, there was very little money, and so we tried to have it as amusing as we could—and as inexpensive. The original idea, conceived by Mrs. Howard Linn about eighteen years ago, was to have a small skating rink, similar to the Palais de Glace in Paris, with a place around the center where people could watch. Then dancing came in, and it was changed into a ballroom." She explained that the crystal chandeliers now hanging in the new ballroom were bought in a shop in Montreal where fixtures of churches were sold, and that to make them look larger in the new building they were hung lower and covered in transparent hoops.

Mrs. Carpenter believes that periods and styles in themselves are not so important an individual feeling and expression. Mrs. Howard Linn asked about the use of colored light bulbs, and Mrs. Edward L. Hasler whether a room must be done in the modern manner to be smart. The answers were that the effect of lighting is better achieved by the use of shades, and that smartness is a debatable question.

Attending the lecture were Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Huntington Henry, Mrs. Winterbotham Buchanan, Mrs. Byron Harvey, Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., Mrs. Walter R. Dyer, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Francis J. Johnston, Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Louis T. Ryerson, Robert H. Allerton, Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. E. Harold Hiner, and some of the younger set including Mrs. Dexter Cummings, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. John Tomlins, Mrs. Lawrence Williams, and Mrs. John Paul Welling.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift announced their daughter, Miss Geraldine Swift, to society at a reception from 4 to 7 yesterday at their residence at 1551 Astor street. Miss Swift wore a frock of ivory Botticelli brocade and held a bouquet of red roses and her mother wore an Italian brocade gown of old blue.

The debutante had as her assistants her cousin, Miss Hortense Henry, Miss Marguerite Watson, Miss Ruth Crossett, Miss Fayette, Miss Caroline and Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Leila Withers, Miss Beatrice Kirk, Miss Ann Armour, Miss Corinne Brewer, Miss Helen Stanley, Miss Elinor Whitney, Miss Betty Offield, Miss Sarah Wood, Miss Virginia Waller, Miss Winifred Wheeler, Miss Marion Wright, Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh, Miss Josephine Dennehy, and Miss Constance Hasler. After the tea the debutante attended the dinner dance Miss Eleanor Dennehy gave for her sister, Josephine, at the Casino.

Miss Josephine wore a long, trailing frock of white crêpe, and the hostess wore pale green. Mr. and Mrs. Swift and the Huntington Henrys are to give a debut ball for Miss Geraldine and Miss Hortense at the Blackstone on Dec. 27, and Miss Dennehy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy, are to give a ball for her on Dec. 13.

The Woman's Athletic club is to have a musical by the Chicago String quartet at 11 o'clock this morning. Most of the members will remain after the program for luncheon at the club.

The Evanston Junior league is to hold its annual benefit ball on Wednesday, Nov. 26, Thanksgiving eve, at the Shawnee Country club. The proceeds will go to the league's various philanthropic interests, and all for a contribution to unemployment relief. Mrs. William Muller Parkes, general chairman, Mrs. John Louis, co-chairman, Mrs. William Stahl, chairman of music committee, Miss Alicia Barber, decorations chairman, and Miss Betty Slaughter, ticket chairman, are making the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Howard have returned to their apartment at 25 East Walton place after having spent the summer in Winnetka.

Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, who returned from Europe on Sunday on the S. S. Statendam, is staying in New York to attend all the performances at the Metropolitan Opera this week. She will go to Washington, D. C., on Saturday night, and will be at the Mayflower hotel until Nov. 20. Thereafter, she will come to Chicago and be at the Drake hotel for two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Adams have returned from a summer of travel in Europe and are at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

Society at Opera

Several travelers, returned from long absences, made their first appearance in the opera boxes last night for the performance of "Fidelio." Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, who has been in Europe since the first of the year, was present, with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden as her guests. Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, arrived in Chicago on Tuesday from a six weeks' trip to Germany, had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley and Dr. and Mrs. Hugo F. Simon. Mrs. Baum was wearing a handsome gown of vari-colored brocade, trimmed with wine red velvet, and a metal cloth wrap.

With Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field, the latter wearing pale rose chiffon and an ermine jacket, were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Field, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Simms. Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson were occupants of the Richard T. Crane box with Mrs. Ryerson's cousin, Mrs. Waldo Marvin of Hartford, Conn., who is their house guest, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, and Augustus S. Peabody.

With Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Brown were Barrett Wendell and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor. Mrs. Brown was wearing black velvet, with a cluster of white roses at the girdle, and Mrs. Traylor's gown was of brown mirror velvet.

Dr. and Mrs. George F. Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Pauling, Mrs. William K. Kenly, and Dr. Hugh T. Patrick were in the Harry M. McIntosh box. Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Mills had with them in the Herbert S. Mills box Dr. and Mrs. Russell Gobel, Mrs. D. H. Trowbridge, and Miss Virginia Trowbridge.

Others present included the Arthur Meekers, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Lawrence M. Viles, the Chauncey Blairs, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Wyman.

Former Bostonian Gives His Art Objects to France

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Art objects valued at more than $1,000,000, gathered by Edward M. Tuck, wealthy former Bostonian, during 40 years, were presented to the French government today and placed in a new museum set aside in the Petit Palais

Smart Costumes Add Point to Talk on Art

There were many smart daytime costumes visible in the audience at Mrs. John Alden Carpenter's talk on modern decoration at the Casino yesterday morning. Mrs. Carpenter wore a black velvet jacket over a dark green crêpe dress, and her hat was of the modish tricorne shape with a tiny burnt orange feather at one side.

Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. wore a belted brown tweed coat and a double brimmed felt hat, and Mrs. Howard Linn wore brown wool crêpe with a scarf collar, and a small hat of brown felt with flat brown and white feathers across the forehead. Mrs. A. A. Carpenter also was in dark brown. Her felt hat turned up on one side with a quill jauntily upright, and her dress was of crêpe. Mrs. Edward L. Hasler was all in horizon blue, wearing a tailored coat with a beige fox collar and a felt beret, banded in grosgrain ribbon. Miss Laura Thompson wore a dress of hunter's green with a short lapin jacket with a plain scarf and a small green felt hat. Mrs. John Paul Welling's hat of black felt with a full turned back brim was an interesting and becoming model, and Mrs. C. Morse Ely wore a becoming red crêpe frock with a short galyak jacket and a small velvet hat with a bow of black knit material on one side.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover spent yesterday at the President's Rapidan camp superintending its closing for the winter. She returned to the White House for dinner and to hear the election returns with the President and their guests.

President and Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President; the secretary of war and Mrs. Hurley; Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, former vice chairman of the Republican national committee, and Col Henry May are among those whose names are added to the patrons of the armistice ball on Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, at the Willard.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Marion Williams of Palo Alto, Cal., were guests at the White House over the weekend. They will leave in the morning for Norfolk, en route to their home in California.

REMARQUE'S STORY WINS PRIZE FOR TALKIE PRODUCERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 5—The annual prize of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences, the film trade's own idea of the greatest picture produced in this year, was awarded tonight to the makers of "All Quiet on the Western Front." A gold statuette was given to Carl Laemmle Jr., acting executive of the Universal Film company. The picture was talkie version of Erich Maria Remarque's famous war novel.

The academy's first prize for direction of a film went to Louis Milestone, who directed that talkie.

Other first prizes given were:

Best performance by actress, Norma Shearer in "The Divorcée."

Best performance by actor, George Arliss in "Disraeli."

Best camera achievement, "With Byrd at the South Pole," by Cameramen Joe Rucker and Willard Vanderveer.

Will Hays was chief speaker at the academy dinner. Conrad Nagel presided. A feature was an address by talking picture by Thomas A. Edison, a member of the academy.

Beethoven Opera of "Fidelio" Well Sung by Well Filled Cast

"FIDELIO."

Opera in two acts and four scenes by Beethoven. Sung by the Chicago Civic Opera company Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1930.

THE CAST.

Pizarro, prison governor.....Hans Hermann Nissen
Rocco, jailer.....Alexander Kipnis
Florestan, political prisoner...Rene Maison
Leonore, his wife, disguised as "Fidelio".....Frida Leider
Marcellina, Rocco's daughter.....Kathleen Kersting
Fernando, a Spanish minister.....Edouard Cotreuil
Jacquino, assistant jailer.....Giuseppe Cavadore
Conductor, Egon Pollak.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here is a performance to be reckoned decidedly among the major artistic successes of the Civic Opera company.

Under the circumstances of the season it is an unfruitful pursuit to try to calculate the box office value of this or any other opera, but of its value as art there can be little question. This is, first, because in the single work that Beethoven wrote for the operatic stage he wrote a great score, almost entirely undramatic, but noble music; second, because the cast given it last night was an example of what wise casting can do for a score.

It is a piece that needs entirely honest, sustained singing; in effect, the style of singing that makes a good Mozart performance. To hear Mme. Leider, Mr. Nissen, and Mr. Kipnis come straight from the sonorities of Wagner—Mr. Maison, too, is to appear in Wagner in a couple of days—into the straightforward melodies of Beethoven is to form a new opinion of their brilliant, versatile abilities.

There has been occasion to congratulate the Civic Opera company on its German wing before this. Congratulations are renewed on the present occasion.

Mr. Pollak made his selection from the various overtures that Beethoven wrote for the opera just as he did last year, playing the "Fidelio" overture as a prelude to the first act and the "Leonore No. 3" as an entr'acte between the two scenes of the second act. In both cases the orchestra gave an excellent account of itself, not as full-toned or as brilliant as a full sized symphony orchestra would do, but a safe, workmanlike, expressive performance that gave point to the performance on the stage.

Of this the high spots were the elaborate arias by Mme. Leider and Mr. Maison. But one also retains pleasant memories of the excellent singing by the others as well.

Neutralize Over-Acidity

Lessened efficiency—draggy days, lowered vitality—these are the price we pay each day for careless living.

Excess acids should be suspected whenever these symptoms appear. Acids attack delicate stomach and intestinal linings, and often result in chronic indigestion, constipation, ulcers and other serious disorders.

You can correct stomach distress almost at once. The surest and quickest way is Milnesia Wafers—which are pure milk of magnesia in a pleasantly flavored wafer. Excess acids are immediately neutralized.

Thousands of physicians and dentists are daily recommending Milnesia Wafers in preference to the old-fashioned liquid form of milk of magnesia because they are more efficient, more convenient, less expensive, and much nicer to take.

Ask your druggist today for a home package of Milnesia Wafers at 60c or the convenient "carry" package for the vest pocket or purse at 20c.

MILNESIA
WAFERS
MILK OF MAGNESIA WAFERS

To users of liquid magnesia: Try these Milnesia Wafers just once and you will never go back to the old-fashioned liquid with its chalky taste. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if you are not entirely satisfied.

No matter what your AGE

No need Now to Have
Gray Hair

THIS is the age of youth! People want to look young. The country wants youth. Employers want youth. Society wants youth. So now you see fewer and fewer people with Gray Hair. Do you know the secret? Hundreds of thousands of other people have found it—in a queer discovery of science—a liquid that is as colorless as water—yet which imparts color to gray hair! Its name is Kolor-Bak! Not a sticky, messy, hard-to-use preparation that might endanger your hair. But a clean, safe liquid that you simply comb into your hair to make the gray go. It acts so gradually that even your friends won't realize that you are using anything. And it leaves the beautiful sheen of the hair unchanged. No experimenting with Kolor-Bak—the one bottle does for Blonde, Black, Brown, or Auburn. Be young looking again! Get a bottle today and if Kolor-Bak doesn't make you look 10 years younger, your money will be refunded any time you ask.

QUICK RELIEF

Fretful DAYS
Restless NIGHTS
...give child Castoria

FUSSY, fretful, can't sleep, won't eat.... It isn't always easy to find just where the trouble is with a young child. It may be a stomach upset; it may be sluggish bowels.

But when little tongues are coated and there is even a slight suspicion of bad breath—it's time for Castoria!

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation especially made for babies and children. When Baby cries with colic or is fretful because of constipation, Castoria brings quick comfort, and, with relief from pain, soothes him to restful sleep. For older children—up through all the school years, Castoria is equally effective in helping to right irregularities. Just give it in larger doses. What a comfort Castoria is to mothers!

Get the genuine, with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper and the name Castoria that always appears like this:

CASTORIA

Remove This Fear Children Have of Dental Treatment

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is always interesting when one's own theory and personal experience as a layman are backed up by the specialist. I'm sure many mothers and some dentists will be interested in the following:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Apropos of your article on painless dentistry for children I would like to tell you some of the reasons why our little patients are a joy rather than a terror in the chair.

"As you say, the first thing to do is to bring the child to the dentist before there is any danger of cavities. We usually clean the teeth on the first or second visit, according to the inclination of the child. Before using any instruments on the patient we show the individual pieces to him, explain their uses (no matter how young the child, for they always understand enough of it to gain confidence), and in many cases when there seems to be a great deal of fear we have them handle the instruments first. The air syringe usually frightens them—there is a shock when the air hits the teeth, so we always blow the air on the child's hand or knee, and then they are delighted with it.

"In the case of drilling we tell cases of how children giggle so because it tickles, and the doctor always starts on a part of the tooth that is not sensitive, so they really do get a sensation that resembles tickling, and then when the doctor does come to a sensitive part the child's fear has been conquered, and in most cases thinks that it merely tickles too much.

"Cleaning is always just fun; we use a rubber cup and their favorite tooth paste.

"Never do we make any move without explaining it, and we never use an instrument without explaining its use. Of course we make a lot of fuss about how good they are, and how still their tongues are, and we always argue about their ages being between two and four years older than we know them to be—all this while we are working in the mouth.

"The average dentist might say that this system is all very well if you have all day to execute it, but we have the youngsters in and out of the chair, with a filling and cleaning in 20 minutes. It is considerably quicker than arguing and crying and mothers' threats. And so much easier on the nerves. And it is such a good feeling to have them come and tell you how good they were all week so that they could come to the dentist on Saturday.

"After we have gained their confidence we always tell them when it will really hurt, and when you want coöperation in such instances seek it from children rather than adults. You would be amazed at their stoicism when they feel a responsibility. But of course one must always, always use sense and discretion.

"A DENTIST'S ASSISTANT."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Menu Complete.

One Friday I invited a young man from work to come home to dine with me. I told our operator to call my mother and tell her I was bringing a friend home to dinner and to ask her what we were going to have to eat. I stood near the switchboard while she was talking to my mother and when told we would have the usual Friday selection, I said, "Tell her not to buy any fish. I'm bringing him home with me." And who should step from behind a pillar, but my friend, Embarrassed? No, not much!

Are YOU the one in YOUR Family?

In most every family there's one person who is looked to in emergencies. For colds, for cuts and bruises, for burns—you know exactly what to do. But suppose acute indigestion should strike . . . this very night? Would you have to stand around helplessly? Or could you go right to the shelf, take the Bell-ans and in a few moments save the situation . . . and justify the family's confidence in you? Six Bell-ans. Hot water. Sure Relief! 25c and 75c everywhere. Harmless, prompt Relief since 1897.

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

A printed crêpe silk in yellow and brown is used for this smart frock. The curved seaming of the molded bodice gives an unusually slender line through the hips while the skirt shows a gradual widening toward the hem. The collars and cuffs show smart contrast in a plain brown crêpe. It is just the thing for immediate wear and is not difficult to make.

The pattern, 2636, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Divorces Increase, but So Do Weddings, Statistics Show

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Things look a bit brighter for marriage, according to the latest statistical report from government headquarters. There were some 50,000 more marriages last year than during the previous year. The increase numerically is made in spite of an increase in the number of divorces, last year. Which proves, if anything, that you can't keep a good institution from being patronized.

There were in round numbers 1,232,559 couples wed in the United States last year. And while the million class marched in twos to the Lohengrin tune there were 201,475 pairs who were either telling it to a judge or were already waving their freedom diplomas.

The divorce total for last year showed an increase of two per cent over 1928. The ratio of divorce to marriage shows that for each 6.1 marriages performed one was dissolved. In 1928 the ratio was six to one. An appalling divorce record it is. However, cheer may be extracted from the fact that in spite of the popularity of marriage release, there remains a substantial citizenry who will not be downcast by figures of marital discord.

Another triumph for marriage, we suspect, might be gained were the number of remarriages of the divorced given in the marriage figures. No doubt many of those released from one union stepped right up to the altar to give marriage another trial. If Reno, the great divorce center, is any criterion, we might conclude that half the 200,000 divorced throughout the country hardly waited till the ink dried on their divorce diplomas before signing up on a new life contract.

What proportion of the divorced in 1929 had the new mate picked before the divorce was granted is something, too, that might throw more cheer marriage way. Each year when the divorce statistics are unfolded by statisticians a mournful dirge is heard from one end of the country to the other.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Keeps His Pin.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who threw me down. She has my school pin, which she will not return. Please advise. ED."

As she no longer wishes to be friendly you tell her you can see no reason why she should wish to keep anything belonging to you.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Hose, Single or Pairs.

"This offer may sound strange but I am sure it will be of use to some one. I mend runs in silk hose for a living and often have single ones left that are never called for. Some are extremely good quality and could be used. Others could be matched into pairs. I wonder if there is some person who has had one leg amputated and could wear these single hose.

"S. K."

If you can wear the hosiery this reader so thoughtfully writes about, I shall be glad to hear from you. Please do not telephone but communicate by mail.

Mademoiselle Selects Decorative Accessories

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special correspondence.]—We are going to "dress up" more this winter than we have for many moons if we follow the advice of the Paris couturiers. This means that eternal vigilance will be the "What Price [crowning] Glory." It means curly hair and well shod toes, company clothes and company manners all round the clock; only girls are so adaptable nowadays that these things become second nature to them in about a week's wearing.

Paris couturiers are creating dressy accessories to help us complete our pretty picture. Four of the latest are sketched above.

At the top you see Patou's black velvet hat trimmed with a low blue willow plume that twines round the shallow round crown and passes through a slit in the rolling brim at the left side to trail over the shoulder. You just naturally must do your hair in ostrich curls to match!

Next comes Worth's new afternoon bag which is one of the grandest purses I've ever laid eyes on. Note its unusual shape. It's in white velvet, and the sun ray effect is caused by black stitching. The triangular handle closing is of heavy smoked prystal and a smoked prystal cabochon button, passing through a buttonhole in the middle of the sunburst, holds all firm.

Worth is also responsible for the name handkerchief, specially recommended to the absent minded. It's in white mousseline printed all over in large colored spots, where your name appears in white on each and every one. The border is the same shade as the spots.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you haven't been creaming your hands o' nights, begin right now. It is not pleasant to be all dressed up with some place to go and have to take along with you a pair of hands that nobody wants to hold for fear of getting "slivers" off'n them. Nor do you want to take about a beefy looking pair of hands with you what with everything about a girl being so ver', ver' particular and nothing less than the best expected of her.

This is the time from now on until the crocuses come up again that the hands are going to redden and get rough and, if breakable, nails are going in for that sort of thing. So, get busy now with the massage cream or your own favorite hand lotion.

Use something morning and night on the hands, for it is written in the book of beauty proverbs that they needn't look useless but they must look beautiful regardless of the kind of work they do. Beside those costume rings and bracelets do call for nothing so much as a lovely hand to decorate.

The best way to take care of the hands now is to keep your hand lotion nearby for every housekeeping duty—rather, following every such duty. In addition, give your hands a massage with a rich cream at night. If you can stand the discomfort of gloves, you profit a lot by keeping them on overnight until such time as the hands are soft and pretty again. If not, massage a bit longer and wipe the cream off.

The above principle of hand care is the same as using a cleansing cream when you need it during the day and giving your face its few minutes' massage for extra measure. Some people may need only the hand lotion as some need only the cleansing cream on the face. Some need the extra precautionary measures against age or abuse signs on the skin.

A bottle of olive oil on the kitchen shelf is an excellent thing to have to use after dishwashing.

To whiten the hands, there are bleaching creams on the market that are good, but you can make a preparation with equal parts of glycerin and spirits of camphor which is an old tried and true recipe for whitening and softening hands.

Food Talk.

In our quest for foods with that little bit of difference that means so much to the attractiveness of the meal, we come upon that interesting relative of the celery and cabbage families—the petsai.

The dictionary says it is a salad vegetable which recently has spread from China to the American garden market. Unfortunately the name is little used. Ask a vegetable man for petsai and he glares at you as though you had suddenly taken leave of your senses. But ask him for celery cabbage and he will smilingly present you with a pale green to white erect elongated head of leaves closely resembling romaine or cos lettuce. The stalk is 10 to 16 inches long. It is enclosed in outer leaves à la cabbage style.

Stripped of the outer cabbage like wrapper the length and general appearance of the inner head suggests a cross between celery and lettuce. The inner leaves are crisp and delicate and fully equal to the best vegetable for salad. Usually the central part of the stalk is used for salad—that portion which may be cut into thick slices that will hold their shape.

The tip of the leaves may be shredded and used for hodgepodge salad. The lower part is slightly tougher and is better when boiled. It should be cooked in a medium amount of boiling water until tender to preserve the best color, texture, and flavor. Be sure not to over cook. Just two minutes makes the difference between a delightful or a poor, uninteresting vegetable.

The outer leaves go to the stock pot, where, with the rest of the greens, they may be used for soup.

The flavor of petsai is delightful. It is somewhat similar to lettuce, celery and cabbage, but is juicer and sweeter. It may be used interchangeably with any of these vegetables and will supply practically the same factors to the diet. Its caloric value is low, but it is valuable for its mineral and vitamin content and its bulk.

FISH CHOWDER.
[Boston style.]

2 pounds fish.
2 ounces salt pork.
1 small onion.
1 pint sliced potatoes.
1½ teaspoons salt.
1½ cups milk.
2 tablespoons butter.
Pepper.
6 hard crackers.

Select fresh fish [cod, haddock or lake fish]. Skin and remove flesh in two long strips from sides. Cut these in two inch pieces and set aside. Cover the head, body, bones and trimmings with cold water. Let come slowly to boiling point, then simmer half an hour. Cut pork into bits and cook out the fat slowly to avoid discoloring. In this fat cook the sliced onion without browning. Add fat and onion to the sauce pan in which the fish bones are simmering. Cook 5 minutes, then strain the whole over the fish. Add the potatoes, salt and pepper and simmer until the potatoes are tender. Add the milk, butter and then the crackers. Serve immediately.

Yield: Five servings. One serving: Total, 443 calories; protein, 142 calories; fat, 160 calories; carbohydrates, 141 calories.

FARM and GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Christmas cheer is to be plentiful next month if it is to be judged by the indicated supply of evergreen trees which will be available for the holidays. The United States department of agriculture reports that cutting already has been started in states along the northern border of the country.

This type of tree cutting need not deplete the forests, if the cutting is carefully done and only surplus young growth taken, where it is not needed for maintaining full stands of timber. This is the department's answer to a question as to whether wholesale Christmas tree supplies can be obtained without practical destruction of all other growth.

Warning farmers against hasty cutting of trees with the expectation of unusual markets, the forest service points to various factors which the individual farmers should watch. Christmas trees from farm woodlots are frequently a source of income to the farmer, but he is likely to regret it if he ignores the law of supply and demand, the government men report.

"Find a market with a responsible buyer before doing any extensive cutting of trees for sale," the forest service advises. This statement is based upon the experiences of farmers in various localities in past years when uncounted thousands of fine trees had to be consigned to the dump because of glutted markets. The farmer must compete with large commercial shipments from northern forests.

Two or three points are in favor of home grown trees, however. They generally are fresher and retain their leaves better than earlier harvested evergreens shipped from a distance. Local contacts can be made ahead of time and orders taken. If the trees are cut from crowded stands as a thinning operation and if the farmer can get sufficient return for his labor, Christmas tree cutting may easily bring the farmer some extra cash.

Discriminate cutting should leave the most sturdy and vigorous trees to grow into valuable timber, thinning where trees are crowded and taking inferior, stunted or crooked trees, the crowns of which often are well suited for use as Christmas decorations. Firs, spruce, pines and cedars, in the order named, lead in popularity.

ALL WALGREEN AND ECONOMICAL STORES

Catarrh is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts Catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming thru the nostrils—and it will come thru no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucus.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

To make it easy for catarrh sufferers in this vicinity to secure a bottle of Opex and a specially constructed Opex atomizer, Walgreen and Economical Stores have agreed to keep a supply on hand at all times and will gladly show anyone how easy it is to get rid of disgusting catarrh at trifling cost.

Opex is for sale at Walgreen and Economical Stores with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR REGISTERING CITY'S JOBLESS

Enroll Saturday at Public Schools.

Louis E. Myers, president of the board of education and member of the governor's unemployment commission, announced yesterday that arrangements were complete for registration of the unemployed at the public schools on Saturday between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. and at the loop offices of the board of education. Those unable to register at that time are requested to write the commission for a registration card, to be filled out and returned by mail.

Faculty members of the University of Chicago voted unanimously to make substantial voluntary contributions to provide relief of the needy through the winter. The meeting followed an informal discussion at the Triangle club, where thirteen faculty members decided to issue an invitation to the entire faculty to join the movement.

Dr. Squires Tells Plan.

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, member of the faculty and executive secretary of the commission, outlined the plans of the commission to the group.

Employes of the Inland Steel company have developed a plan for aiding their fellow workers now unemployed, E. D. Block, president of the company, announced. The company has agreed to match every dollar contributed by employes, the contribution varying from 2 to 5 per cent of earnings. Those drawing less than $125 monthly have not been asked to contribute, accepting single men with no dependents.

Workers to Administer Fund.

The relief fund will be administered through trained social workers, acting as visitors to homes and advisers to a central committee of employés. Executives of the Inland Steel will bear the expense of administering the fund.

The Litsinger Motor company is distributing coffee and doughnuts daily to 200 or 300 men at its plant, 925 West Jackson boulevard. Edward R. Litsinger, president of the concern, announced. This philanthropy is in addition to the Forty-third ward relief organization, set up in his home ward by Mr. Litsinger and Ald. Arthur F. Albert.

ROWAN FIGHTS STREET GRANTS TO RAILROADS

In a resolution submitted to the city council yesterday Ald. William A. Rowan (10th), requested that the city withhold additional authority for railroads to occupy city streets until the courts or the Illinois commerce commission pass on the rights of the city to make such grants.

Ald. Rowan also asked for a ruling from Corporation Counsel Ettelson on the city's rights in contract ordinances with the railroads. The resolution grew out of the refusal of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad to move its tracks from Plymouth court and Taylor street at the expiration of the ordinance by which it was granted permission to occupy the streets.

The council was urged by Rowan to proceed against the bond companies indemnifying the agreement because of the forfeiture of the contract by the railroad.

FRANCE, ITALY TO RESUME NAVAL TALK IN GENEVA

U.S. Seen as Aid in Reopening Negotiations.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 5.—Clamish silence marked the eve of the opening of the league of nations' preparatory disarmament commission conference tonight.

American Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who has just arrived from Rome, declined to discuss the progress of his conversations with Premier Tardieu of France and Premier Mussolini of Italy.

"I must refer you to the French and Italian delegations," he said. "It is obviously from them that any statement should be forthcoming."

Augusto Rosso, head of the Italian delegation, was equally reticent.

"Ask Mr. Gibson," he said.

René Massigli, French delegate, will arrive here late tonight.

Will Resume Conversations.

Mr. Gibson did say that pourparlers on the Franco-Italian naval problem will go on here, thus making it plain that there had been concrete advancement over the situation before his trip, as they had been broken off early in September without there being any apparent hope that they would ever be resumed.

The American ambassador refused to comment on the report that Italy is prepared to extend the naval holiday with France for five years to cover the interim until 1936, when the powers will meet again to discuss their respective naval strengths.

"I assure you that I am not going to throw bombshells tomorrow," the ambassador replied when asked regarding the accuracy of the report that he has an important statement to make on the opening day of the conference. "The less oratory the better, and the United States' viewpoint on the questions at issue which interest her is unchanged."

When asked about the rumors that the Italians had some important statement up their sleeves, Mr. Gibson said:

"If they had any bombshells prepared, they concealed them from me."

Will Plan Draft Covenant.

Thirty-two nations are represented at the conference, which hopes to reconcile the French and British proposals for disarmament in a single covenant. All figures will be left blank, to be filled out when the full dress disarmament conference meets next year.

Litvinov, the soviet commissar of foreign affairs, is here, but the Russians have no proposals.

"Since our two plans were rejected," declared a spokesman for the soviets, "we cannot make any new proposals at present."

Count von Bernstorff, the German delegate, will try to secure an application of the league covenant making disarmament general instead of being confined to the defeated powers.

MISS SKINNER OF PIONEER FAMILY IS DEAD AT 81

Miss Frederika Skinner, a daughter of the late Judge Mark Skinner, died on Saturday at Asheville, N. C. The funeral was held at Manchester, Vt., yesterday.

Miss Skinner was born in Chicago 81 years ago. Her father came to Chicago from Vermont in 1834 and her mother, Elizabeth Williams Skinner, came here in 1832 and lived with the John Kinzies, Chicago's first permanent white settlers. Miss Skinner for the last eight years has lived at Asheville. Two nephews, Ambrose C. Cramer and Mark S. Willing reside here.

Miss Skinner lived with her sister here for many years after her parents' death in the old family mansion at Ontario and Rush streets, just north of the Virginia hotel and across the street from the residence of her brother-in-law, Henry Willing.

BRAZIL JAILS U. S. FLYER; CLAIMS HE FOUGHT REBELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Nov. 5.—Horton Hoover, an American aviator, has been arrested and charged with fighting on the side of the government during the revolution. It is claimed that he flew over the rebel lines dropping bombs. Mr. Hoover denies the charge, saying he was only a civil instructor of aviation in the employ of the fallen Washington Luis régime and that he held no commission.

The police also arrested Raphael Luis Pereria de Sousa, son of the deposed President Washington Luis.

AUTOS KILL FIVE MORE; TOLL FOR COUNTY IS 907

Six deaths yesterday raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 907. Two of the victims were run down by hit-and-run drivers. The victims:

Frank Antkowiak, 73 years old, 4848 Newport avenue. Fatally injured when struck at Cicero avenue and Roscoe street by an automobile driven by Edward Lawrence, 4231 Bernard street. Lawrence was held by Albany Park police.

Samuel Schneider, 45 years old, 1455 South Springfield avenue. Fatally injured when struck at Long avenue and Washington boulevard by an auto which sped away.

John Scarley, 20 years old, 15703 Carey avenue, Phoenix, Ill. Fatally injured when his bicycle was struck by a hit-and-run motorist at 154th and Halsted streets.

George Kupciak, 10 years old, 1448 South Laflin street. Died in the Mount Sinai hospital of injuries received on Tuesday when struck by a truck at Ogden and Talman avenues. Otto Brouk, 2519 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, the driver, was held.

Vindo Donati, 18 years old, 2336 West 22d street. Fatally injured when his truck collided with another truck at Grove avenue and 57th street. Ferdinand Brentenback, 2422 South Peoria street, a driver for the board of education, was held.

FORFEITS BOND ON WISCONSIN HOLDUP CHARGE

Francis Farley, wanted by the authorities for the robbery of the Black Earth, Wis., state bank, forfeited his bond yesterday when he failed to appear before Judge Matthew Hartigan in the felony court. He is also charged with confidence game and his bond was $27,500.

Stanley Ford, Farley's alleged partner in the bank robbery, is in jail because he could not supply the bond demanded. His case was continued until next week to give the police time to hunt Farley. Judge Hartigan increased Farley's bond to $155,000 so that if he is rearrested he will not have an opportunity to go free again until his case is disposed of.

Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast said that in addition to the Wisconsin bank robbery, which occurred on Nov. 5, 1929, with a loss of $20,000, the men are wanted for the robbery of Mrs. J. L. Peacock, 4438 Drexel boulevard. She lost jewelry valued at $3,000 on Oct. 14.

GEN. TASKER H. BLISS, WORLD WAR LEADER, IS CRITICALLY ILL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff of the United States army during the world war, and one of two surviving members, is critically ill with an intestinal disorder at Walter Reed hospital here.

Gen. Bliss has been ill for six months. After his condition took a turn for the worse Saturday, physicians expressed the belief that there was little hope for his recovery.

His wife, his son, Edward, and a daughter, Mrs. Adolph Knopf, who was called from her home in New Haven, Conn., are at his bedside.

W. F. HOPKINS, BANKER, DIES IN WINNETKA HOME

Willard Freeman Hopkins, 57 years old, banker and for the last six years vice president of the Chicago Trust company, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday at his home, 1141 Tower road, Winnetka. Mr. Hopkins had been ill several days of a throat infection which had been considered of a minor nature.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maude Conable Hopkins and one son, Willard C. Hopkins. Funeral services will be held at the home at 3:30 p. m. today and the body will be taken to Warsaw, N. Y., for burial.

Mr. Hopkins was a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Union League club, the Chicago Athletic association, and the Lotus club of New York. He was a Mason.

Prof. Neil of Boston University Is Dead

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Prof. C. Edmund Neil, member of the Boston university faculty, died today. He was at various times a member of the faculties of Ohio Wesleyan, Dennison university, West Virginia university, and the Newton Theological school.

WELL-KNOWN MAN PRAISES DIAPEPSIN FOR STOMACH ILLS

"My work as a commercial photographer keeps me on a strain," says J. Walter Ingraham, 1004 21st St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"So my digestion suffered. I got so I would have severe headaches and a heavy feeling in my stomach after meals. I had gas on the stomach; would belch often, leaving a sour, hot taste in my mouth. Few things agreed with me.

"A friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had immediate relief from the first few tablets, so I kept on with it. Now I feel fine; eat anything I want without bad aftereffects. I intend to keep on with Pape's Diapepsin until I am sure my trouble won't come back. The tablets are pleasant to chew and sure get results quickly."

Pape's Diapepsin is the best thing yet discovered to end digestive worries, give tone to a disordered stomach, increase appetite, make digestion vigorous and complete. Its success in so many cases where everything else has failed, proves that.

All drugstores sell these harmless, pleasant tablets. If you prefer to try them before buying, a letter to Pape's Diapepsin, Wheeling, W. Va., will bring a sample box, FREE.

Lewis Delayed in W-G-N Talk; Calls Pour In

Thousands of telephone calls were answered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE switchboard last night when Senator Elect James Hamilton Lewis was delayed for more than 50 minutes from making his appearance on W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, in his first radio speech since his election Tuesday. He had been scheduled to speak at 9:45 o'clock.

The cause of the delay was due to the crystal control unit being temporarily out of order.

Try This Tonight

What do you do when a sluggish system shows the bowels need help? The best thing yet discovered for this is still a little candy Cascaret. Take one tonight if liver and bowels aren't functioning as they ought. See how quickly bad breath, coated tongue or a bilious, headachy condition is cleared up. No griping or discomfort from Cascarets. The quick, pleasant relief they always bring constipation sufferers is lasting. For Cascarets are made from cascara which doctors say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So you can take Cascarets as often as needed. 20 million boxes used yearly proves their merit.

Business in Great Britain Is About Same, Cable Says

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Business conditions in Great Britain have recovered but little in the last month, according to a cable from the commercial attaché at London to the department of commerce. The cable stated that, although financial circles have been less pessimistic during the last few days, indications of an "exceedingly difficult" winter were present. Registered unemployment there numbered 2,193,000 on Oct. 20, representing an increase of nearly a million over the previous year and of 10,000 over the preceding week.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Indiana—Fair and continued cold Thursday; Friday mostly fair, slightly warmer.

Upper Michigan—Mostly fair Thursday, continued cold; Friday increasing cloudiness, rising temperature.

Wisconsin—Fair Thursday, slightly warmer in extreme west portion; Friday increasing cloudiness, rising temperature.

Ohio—Fair and cold Thursday; Friday fair but slowly rising temperature.

Missouri—Generally fair Thursday, somewhat warmer in northwest portion; Friday partly cloudy, rising temperature.

Iowa—Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday; rising temperature Friday and in west and north-central portions Thursday.

Northwest storm warnings are displayed on Lakes Erie and Ontario and on Huron from Alpena south.
